GERMANY DESTROYING ARMS AND AMMUNITION.

The Allied Commission of Control in Germany reports that the German government is carrying out in a satisfactory manner the provision in the Treaty of Versailles respecting the destruction of arms and ammunition. Artillery pieces are being destroyed at the rate of 1,000 each week, the total number destroyed up to this time amounting to 27,000. Six thousand still remain to be broken up, says a press report from London, which adds that the government is carrying out the Spa agreement respecting concealed rifles, for the discovery of which a reward is offered. The report adds that the commission has no reason to suppose that war material is being manufactured without its knowledge.

BRITISH NAVY MEDICAL OFFICERS.

Medical officers of the British navy who entered the service on or after Aug. 4, 1914, hereafter will not have to pass a qualifying examination for the rank of surgeon lieutenant commander. They will, however, have to qualify by examination for a higher grade and will be eligible for accelerated promotion according to class of certificate obtained in the qualifying examination. For a special certificate the advantage may be eighteen months, and for a first-class certificate twelve months. To obtain accelerated promotion the officer must also have been recommended for advancement. Two attempts to pass examination will be allowed, but those who fail at a second trial will be compulsorily retired with a gratuity not to exceed £100 for each complete year's full pay service nor be above a maximum of £1,000. Officers who entered service before Aug. 4, 1914, may voluntarily take examination, and should they receive the requisite marks the advantages described will also be open to them.

CAVALRY SCHOOL ANNUAL REPORT.

The first annual report of the commandant of the Cavalry School, Fort Riley, Kas., is made by Col. George H. Cameron, Cav., U.S.A., under date of Aug. 20, 1920, this school being the successor to the Mounted Service School, the title having been changed on Sept. 19, 1919. Colonel Cameron tells of the discontinuance of the Mounted Service School in 1917 in its former role and how, during the continuance of our participation in the war in Europe, the activities of the school were confined to the training of enlisted specialists. To Capt. Ben Lear, jr., U.S.A., in January, 1919, was entrusted the task of re-establishing the school as acting commandant and in the spring of that year he obtained the detail of a class of non-commissioned officers for a four-months' course. "No shrewder plan," Colonel Cameron writes, "could have been pursued to prepare the school machinery for the classes of officers entering on Oct. 1." He continues: "The undersigned, detailed as commandant, May 28, 1919, found conditions so satisfactory as a result of Captain Lear's executive and administrative ability that it was possible to take up the consideration of new policies without any anxiety about readiness in the fall."

Colonel Cameron then reviews the War Department's plan to create practically identical service schools for all arms as promulgated in G.O. No. 112, War Dept., Sept. 25, 1919, and the changes made necessary at Fort Riley by the application of the scheme. The principal change, brought about by providing accommodations for the fifteen organizations of a Cavalry regiment, an enlarged school detachment and the additional instructors and classes, was the reduction of the Field Artillery contingent to one battalion of horse artillery. Due to the prevailing shortage of men this battalion has not reported up to the date Colonel Cameron closed his report, "but its absence has been no drawback inasmuch as the Cavalry regiment was so depleted that satisfactory combined action would have been impossible." Another development of the new plan for the school, the added courses in tactics, weapons and general subjects, was hampered by difficulty in obtaining experienced instructors in tactics. A well digested course in tactics could not be made ready for the opening of the school and this was arranged to begin after Jan. 1, 1920. A barracks rendered vacant by the decrease in garrison troops was fitted up and made into a very satisfactory academic building but, the report states, "with the very large increase of students expected for the next year, the building will be inadequate. . . . It is understood that under reorganization the number of units in a Cavalry regiment will be reduced, in which case, an adjoining barracks will be utilized." Colonel Cameron gives a special word of gratitude to the Remount Service for its assistance to the school stating, "there is no doubt whatever that the school has better animals at this time than at any period in its existence."

Colonel Cameron takes up in turn the school troops, which are "energetically supervised by Colonel Winn"; the school detachment, that should have expert non-commissioned officers for the work of the added courses; the condition of the buildings at Fort Riley, which is excellent; and vocational training under Col. H. O. Willard, Cav., U.S.A. He also notes, with gratification, "the detail of an Infantry officer from Camp Benning to the Troop Officers' Course for the next year," since "when he graduates and returns to be an instructor he will be capable of recommending what parts of the Cavalry School course should be embraced in the Benning course in horsemanship and he will have a much greater appeal to his class than would a Cavalry instructor." Colonel Cameron mentions as among the needs of the school an increase of quarters, an enlarged veterinary hospital, a shop for a class of saddlers, and that all school stables should be provided with concrete floors.

There are seven appendices to the report, that on "Finance and Library" being signed by Major Robert M. Cheney, Cav., U.S.A.; the five reports on "Instruction" by Col. H. S. Hawkins, Lieut. Col. Ben Lear, jr., and L. A. I. Chapman, U.S.A.; and "Operations" by Lieut. Col. Rudolph E. Smyser, Q.M.C. The personnel of the executive and instructor staffs of the school is included together with lists of officers in the Troop Officers' Class and in the Basic Course.

NOTES FROM ABROAD.

Spain Developing Army Aeronautic Branch.

The War Ministry of Spain, as a result of the approval of an appropriation of $375,000 for the development of military aeronautics by the Minister of Finance, has acquired a large number of airplanes for use in Morocco, where the Spanish government is engaged in military operations against the native tribesmen, says a press dispatch from Madrid.

Mines at Dogger Bank.

A German trawler while recently fishing off Dogger Bank was blown up by a mine, two of the crew being killed. Ten survivors were picked up by the British trawler Emerald and were placed aboard another German trawler.

Strength of the Russian Red Army.

The total strength of the Red army of Russia, actual and potential, is 4,750,000, according to advices received by the State Department at Washington, D.C., which are based on figures issued by the Soviet government at Moscow. The department, in a statement, declares that the figures given seem to include not only the actual fighting forces in the 1919 program, but the total male population of Soviet Russia registered for military service who are trained or undergoing training. Military training has been made obligatory on all qualified men and extreme penalties are imposed on deserters. Recruiting is meeting opposition in some districts, especially in the Ukraine.

DEFINITION OF "IN THE SERVICE."

Actual Service in the Army Required.

An officer on duty in the South Pacific Coast Artillery
District, who states that he has made an exhaustive search of legal opinions without avail, requests information as to whether the term "in the Service" has been defined, quoting the concluding sentence in Section 1234, Revised Statutes, which reads: "When an officer has been thirty years in the Service he may, upon his own application, in the discretion of the President, be so retired, and placed on the retired list." It is this officer's opinion that legislation indicates that Congress, in order to reward meritorious service, has authorized the counting toward retirement as a commissioned officer of service previously rendered in a civilian capacity.

In opinions covering a long term of years the Judge Advocate General's Office has persistently held that "in the Service" meant actual service in the Army. The point of doubt is further cleared away in an opinion of the Judge Advocate General rendered March 29, 1920.
In the case under consideration the question was,
"Whether a veterinarian may be retired at his own request under R.S. 1234 after he had completed thirty years of governmental service." The officer in question was appointed veterinary surgeon June 9, 1888; appointed major, veterinarian, to rank from June 12, 1888.
His entire service had been in the Cavalry, Artillery and Veterinary Corps. As to whether his thirty years had been in the Service within the meaning of Section 1234, R.S., the Judge Advocate General said:

"Before the act of March 3, 1911, it was essential to the operation of all the statutes regulating retirement that the military person in whose behalf retirement is claimed must be the possessor of actual military rank." In this case the man 'was held by the Secretary of War on Nov. 23, 1899, to be a civil employee.' (Circular 55,
A.G.O., 1899). This circular of Nov. 23, 1899, second paragraph, states: 'Status and allowances of veterinarians.—A veterinarian appointed under the act of Congress approved March 2, 1899, is not a commissioned officer or an enlisted man, but a civil employee. A veterinary of the second class is entitled to all the allowances or emoluments of a sergeant major, other than his pay proper, which is fixed by law, the same as if he were an enlisted man' (Decision Secretary of War, Nov. 7, 1899).

The opinion of the Judge Advocate General continued: "Veterinary surgeons and veterinarians are a part of the Army of the United States, made so by various acts providing for their appointment. Their service is, therefore, actual service in the Army, and if they were entitled to longevity pay such service may be counted in computing it. (U.S. v. Morton, 112 U.S. 1, 7.) Upon the principle of the decision in the case of U.S. v. Morton, he is entitled to count service as a veterinary surgeon and as a veterinarian also." (VIII Comp. 52, 54, July 27, 1901.)

Citing other cases in support of this opinion: U.S. v.
Hendee (124 U.S. 309, a naval paymaster's clerk), based on the act of June 3, 1882 (22 Stat. 118) and U.S. v.
Watson (130 U.S. 80), the Judge Advocate General, in an opinion of Sept. 4, 1895, stated: "In these cases it was held that in computing longevity pay the cadet service is to be regarded as 'actual time of service in the Army' within the meaning of the acts of Congress relating to that subject. And certainly, if the cadet's time of service is 'actual time of service in the Army' he must be 'in service.' Therefore the cadet service should be included in computing the thirty years' service on which an officer may be retired under Section 1243, R.
S." This opinion is confirmed by the opinion of March 29, 1920, holding that "veterinarians who have been an integral part of the regiments of Cavalry, of the Artillery Corps, have been 'in service' within the terms of and are eligible for retirement under Section 1243 R.S.
after thirty years of such service, with the actual rank held by them at the date of retirement."

In a further opinion of June 25, 1920, relative to counting toward retirement, relative rank and longevity, a period of service as a contract surgeon, rendered by Lieut. Col. S. H. Wadhams, the Judge Advocate General held that Section 1274, act of June 4, 1920, provides that previous service under appointment from the Government may be counted, but "this office has held that a contract surgeon has no military status, being a civilian employee."

It would appear, therefore, that the view of the Coast Artillery officer that legislation indicated Congress had authorized the counting toward retirement of a commissioned officer the service previously rendered in a civilian capacity is untenable in the light of the approved opinions quoted above and the emphasis given in these opinions to "actual service in the Army" alone counting in computation of service for retirement and longevity pay.

COMPTROLLER'S DECISIONS.

U.S.N.R.F. Supply Corps Officers.

Members of the Naval Reserve Force who have been assigned rank in the Naval Reserve Force as officers of the Supply Corps, but have not been required to execute a bond as required of supply officers in the Navy may receive the pay and allowances of their rank during the period they may be assigned to duty for training with their consent. In giving this decision the Comptroller says: "Duty for instruction and training is not the same kind of active service as that required of the member of the Naval Reserve Force in time of war or national emergency, but is service which he is permitted to perform to enable him to qualify for the duty which under his contract he may be required to perform. Since a Reserve officer's active service for purposes of instruction and training does not necessarily require the assumption of the responsibilities ordinarily assumed by a supply officer of the Navy, and since, the law, nevertheless, authorizes for such service the same pay as officers of the naval service on active duty of corresponding rank, I am of the opinion that the fact that they did not execute a bond does not affect their right to active service pay of their rank for such training service."

Pay of a General's Aid.

The claim of Major J. G. Quekemyer, Cav., U.S.A., for the pay and allowances of a colonel less the pay and allowances actually received during the period he served as aide-de-camp on the personal staff of Gen. John J.
Pershing, commander-in-chief, A.E.F., from May 1, 1918, to May 3, 1919, was allowed by the Comptroller in a decision rendered Sept. 23, the amount of the difference in pay and allowance claimed by Major Quekemyer being $1,101.82. In reviewing Army legislation concerning the ranks of general and lieutenant general of the U.S. Army the Comptroller states that the act of Oct. 6, 1917, authorized the appointment of the Chief of Staff and the commander of the United States forces in France as generals for the period of the then existing emergency and provided a pay for the grade "with allowances appropriate to said grade as determined by the Secretary of War." The Army Paymaster's Manual issued June 30, 1884, states "The aides-de-camp to the general, selected by him from the Army, have, while so serving, the rank and pay of colonel," and it is in view of this provision that the Comptroller rendered the above decision.

Coast Guard Death Compensation.

Families of members of the Coast Guard who die while serving under the Treasury Department are not entitled to compensation under Article III of the War Risk Insurance act, nor would they be entitled to the gratuities and payments which had theretofore been provided by law for the families of persons who die in active service in the Army or Navy if Section 312 of the War Risk Insurance act had not been enacted. Their rights therefore are not affected by the provision in Section 312 of the War Insurance act restricting the scope of these prior laws, but are still to be determined by the special provisions of the acts of March 20, 1906, and Jan. 23, 1915, relating to death benefits of the Coast Guard service, which remain in full force and effect for members of that Service while serving under the Treasury Department.

from a station beyond the continental limits of the United States is not available by Government transport tion to arrange for the transportation, reimbursement in the amount that it would have cost the Government to perform the equivalent service is authorized.

MANUFACTURING PLANT OF UNITED SHOE MACHINERY CORPORATION AT BEVERLY, MASS.

IN times of Victory and Peace, as well as in times of War, the resources of the executive, manufacturing, and service departments of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation are instantly and continuously available for the shoe manufacturers of the country. No American industry depends for its success upon machinery more than the boot and shoe industry. Nor has the efficiency of this industry ever been greater than it is to-day. This is contributed to by the existence of a highly perfected system of shoe machinery, auxiliary and essential, and accompanying service—a system and a service which are the result of years of intensive development and business genius constructively applied.

U.S. ARTILLERY IN ST. MIHIEL OFFENSIVE.

In the reduction of the St. Mihiel salient by the U.S. Army, Sept. 12, to and including Sept. 16, 1918, the five days' fighting showed that the Artillery expended approximately 700,000 rounds of ammunition, according to the report of the A.E.F. Of this 500,000 rounds were fired by the 75-mm. guns and 83,000 rounds were fired by the 155-mm. howitzers. The offensive was started with 1,801 pieces of field artillery and 515 pieces of heavy artillery. The daily expenditure of ammunition in each case is based in the following comparison, on the assumption that the artillery beginning the offensive continued to fire throughout the five days:

1918.	Number of rounds fired.
	Field.	Heavy.	Total.
Sept. 12	498,860	56,770	555,630
Sept. 13	73,640	4,693	78,342
Sept. 14	20,907	6,459	27,366
Sept. 15	17,411	2,188	19,599
Sept. 16	12,295	300	12,675

Total 623,122 70,490 693,612

The daily rates of artillery fire in rounds per gun are estimated as follows:

Field Artillery—Sept. 12, 277; Sept. 13, 41; Sept. 14, 12; Sept. 15, 10; Sept. 16, 7.
Heavy Artillery—Sept. 12, 110; Sept. 13, 9; Sept. 14, 13; Sept. 15, 4; Sept. 16, 1.

R.O.T.C. TRAVEL ALLOWANCE, RETURN JOURNEY.

Changes No. 107, Army Regulations, Paragraph 1223f, has been amended by direction of the Secretary of War by adding the following: Payment of travel allowance for the return journey may be made in advance of the actual performance of the same when five cents per mile is paid. If travel allowance at the above rate will not reimburse the members of the R.O.T.C. for actual expense of travel and from the authorized R.O.T.C. camp, the commanders competent to direct travel may furnish transportation, sleeping accommodations and subsistence in kind. Where it is impracticable to issue rations in kind to such members of the R.O.T.C. while traveling to and from authorized camps they may be paid in reimbursement for the actual cost of meals for the time actually and unavoidably consumed in such travel, and in the voyage where travel is performed by boat and when subsistence is not included in the charge for passage, provided that under such conditions the total charge for meals does not exceed $3 per day, and provided that the charge for meals shall not include "tips" or items other than food. When practicable, students should obtain receipts to be presented to the finance officer at the camp in support of vouchers for reimbursement.

CHANGES IN NATIONAL GUARD REGULATIONS.

In addition to Changes No. 2, Sub-paragraph (a), Paragraph 219½, National Guard Regulations, 1919, Major Gen. Jesse McI. Carter, U.S.A., Chief of the Militia Bureau, announced on Sept. 20 changes in National Guard Regulations, as follows: 444 (Changed by Changes No. 1). "The service records and accounts of pay and clothing of sergeant-instructors will be kept in the office of the senior inspector-instructor in the state of the branch of service in which they may be assigned for duty. In case there is no inspector-instructor of the branch of service in which the sergeant-instructor is assigned for duty, then these service records and accounts of pay and clothing will be kept in the office of the senior inspector-instructor in the state. Sergeant-instructors will be paid, clothed, and have their rations commuted by the headquarters of the corps area in which they serve." (Changes No. 2, 1920.)

OPPORTUNITY FOR MARINES TO ENTER U.S.N.A.

A further opportunity for young men in the Marine Corps to enter the U.S. Naval Academy is announced by Secretary Daniels, who has added to the courses offered by the Marine Corps Institute at Quantico, Va., a special naval preparatory course. In the past few years there have been sufficient number of vacancies to accommodate all the young men of the Navy and Marine Corps who were otherwise eligible and who were able to pass the same entrance examination given to Congressional appointees. To be eligible for appointment from the ranks, the applicant must not be under sixteen nor over twenty years of age. The examinations take place each April, and the successful candidates enter the Naval Academy the following June.

RADIO PROTOCOL COMMITTEE MEETS.

The sub-committee composed of officers of the Army and Navy and the U.S. Weather Bureau appointed to consider Annex 14 of the Radio protocol, at a recent meeting in the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, prepared for the chairman a set of recommendations relative to meteorological provisions of this protocol. These recommendations include the extension of the proposed meteorological communications system to make it worldwide in scope, and to improve its utility over sea areas and for aircraft. The sub-committee is composed of Lieut. Col. W. E. Blair, Signal Corps, U.S.A.; Lieut. C. W. Richards, Air Ser., U.S.A.; Lieut. Comdr. R. M. Griffin, U.S.N., and Prof. C. F. Marvin, Chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau.

MINIMUM HEIGHT FOR WEST POINT ADMISSION.

The War Department announces that the minimum height requirement for admission to the U.S. Military Academy, which has for many years been sixty-four inches for candidates who are seventeen years of age, and sixty-five inches for those eighteen years old and upward, has been changed to sixty-four inches for candidates of all ages. This change has been made in the interests of uniformity, inasmuch as the minimum height requirement for applicants for commissions from the ranks, or from civil life, is sixty-four inches.

SHOOTING TOURNAMENT AT WAKEFIELD, MASS.

The vrst annual rifle and pistol tournament of the United Service of New England will be held under the auspices of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, National Guard, American Legion and civilians at the rifle range at Wakefield, Mass., Oct. 9, 10, 11 and 12. The executive officer is Major Gen. W. E. Lombard, of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. An attractive program has been prepared.

IMPROVING CONDITIONS IN THE U.S.N.R.F.

Active Duty for Reserve Flying Officers.

In the personnel provisions of the Naval Appropriation act of June 4, 1920, Section 3 states that temporary and Reserve officers "shall be eligible for transfer to and appointment in the permanent grades or ranks in the Navy for which they may be found qualified . . . but not to exceed 1,200 commissioned officers in the line, of which number 500 may be appointed from Class 5, Naval Reserve Flying Corps," etc. The Navy is greatly in need of aviators, but Reserve officers in the Flying Corps have been slow in making application, for the reason that the requirements for qualifying are the passing of an examination exactly the same as that passed by an applicant for the line. There are approximately 2,000 Reserve officers qualified for aviation duty, as against 2,800 qualified for line duty and about 1,900 temporary officers of the Navy. In addition to qualifying as line officers the aviators must also pass the examination for pilots and the subjects embraced in the training of flying officers. These conditions are regarded by Reserve aviators as a handicap for the reason that they are convinced of the practical impossibility of flying officers competing with line officers, many of whom have been on sea duty for years. Because of this handicap to qualification, Reserve aviators feel that few of their number who gained experience during the World War will be brought into the Aviation Section of the Regular Navy. The situation has been studied by the Bureau of Navigation and a policy adopted with the purpose of giving the benefit of instruction to Reserve aviators between the present time and May, 1921, when the examinations for commissions in the Regular Navy are to be held.

Reserve fliers should understand this policy, which is counted on to have the effect of quickening applications for transfer in accordance with the law. The Bureau of Navigation, in order to assist Reserve aviators to gain through association with the Regular Navy a knowledge of line duty, is now ordering to active duty all flying officers who desire to enter the Regular Navy and who make application for examination next May. If applications are made promptly it will give a Reserve officer approximately seven months on active duty prior to the examination to gain the knowledge of line duty required under the conditions of the examination. Reserve officers should not delay in accepting the relief extended to them by the Bureau of Navigation from a condition which they have considered a serious handicap.

On the other hand, it should appeal to Reserve aviators that the Navy is consistent in looking to the future when setting up as a requirement for qualification the examination for line duty, because in the passing of years many of them may become unfitted for duty as pilots. Capt. C. C. Craven, U.S.N., director of Naval Aviation, expressed the view of the line officer generally in a hearing before the House Committee on Naval Affairs when he said: "Flying from the decks of ships and turrets is hazardous and is work that belongs to youths, who in time will undoubtedly lose their usefulness as pilots. There may be, and probably will be, some specialized aviation billets for those who have the necessary mechanical and technical ideas and mind. But of such officers there will not be many, and consequently we have to find a place in which to fit these other persons (pilots). I think they can well go into the regular line of the Navy and by applying themselves as they should and must there should be no question of their getting on."

Supply Service for U.S.N. Reserve Force.

With the purpose of overcoming a situation where men of the U.S. Naval Reserve Force report for training or other duty without proper equipment and which has proved embarrassing both for the Reservists and Navy officers commanding ships and stations, the Bureau of Navigation has recommended to the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department, that a supply officer in each naval district be designated to furnish the equipment. The law provides that for each enrollment the enrolled enlisted men of the Reserve Force shall receive a clothing gratuity of $100 in time of war, and such portion of that sum in time of peace as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy. The men are credited with the clothing gratuity upon first reporting for active service. Uniforms should be furnished the men before they actually report aboard ship for duty, in order to prevent a large proportion of the men from reporting in civilian clothes, the Bureau of Navigation holds and the bureau also regards men as having reported for active duty when they attend their first drill. As a result the recommendation has been submitted that in order to credit the enrolled enlisted men of the Reserve Force with the clothing gratuity in this manner, a supply officer should carry the accounts in each naval district and that such officers of the Navy be designated for duty in each naval district. This officer should also be an accounting officer for all material and equipment issued for training and instruction of the Naval Reserve Force. The recommendation will doubtless be approved, and so a present condition which has affected the morale of the enlisted Reservists will be overcome.

Co-operation with U.S.N.R.F. for Recruiting.

Considering it essential for each large Naval Reserve Force organization that an office in a central location be maintained in each naval district, the Bureau of Navigation has informed the seven recruiting inspectors, all main recruiting stations and the commandants of naval districts of its desire that a desk or separate room be given to the local Reserve officer whenever requested by the commandant of a naval district or the senior officer of the local Reserve Force organization. It is believed that the recruits for the Navy obtained from the Reserve Force will be largely increased by such action because the recruiting office will become the rendezvous for the men of the Reserve Force seeking information. At the same time it will serve to increase the interest of the recruiting officers in the well-being of the Reserve Force without taking time from their paramount duties. Report will be made to the Bureau of Navigation when any Reserve officer has established headquarters at a recruiting station, and in this way facilities will be afforded the Navy Department to forward such information as it may desire to call to the immediate attention of the officers and men of the Reserve Force. It is likely that when this plan is fully in operation it will result in a reduction of the 60,000 retained pay checks belonging to Reservists which have been returned to the Allotment Office of the Navy Department for lack of proper addresses.

NATIONAL GUARD STRENGTH NOW 65,545

The commissioned and enlisted strength of the National Guard showed an increase of 2,522 in the month of September, bringing the total strength to 65,545. Federal recognition was extended to forty-four new units in the following branches:

Infantry—Pennsylvania, Virginia, South Carolina, Nebraska, Massachusetts, Georgia, Minnesota, one company each; Missouri and Mississippi, two companies each; California, four companies; Michigan, five companies; Hawaii, one company.

Cavalry—Pennsylvania, New Mexico, two troops each; Washington, New Jersey, Georgia, one troop each.

Coast Artillery—Connecticut and Massachusetts, two companies each.

Engineer Corps—Massachusetts, two companies.

Field Artillery—Pennsylvania, three batteries; Virginia, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Oklahoma and Missouri, one battery each.

Sanitary Detachments—Ohio, one Infantry; Maine, one Infantry.

SEVEN NEW COAST ARTILLERY DISTRICTS.

Change of Establishment and Administration.

The establishment of seven new Coast Artillery districts announced at the War Department on Oct. 7 shows a change of marked importance in that the general orders which the Secretary of War directed shall issue in this connection will rescind all previous orders and instructions with reference to the establishment and administration of Coast Artillery districts. The orders will thus do away with the former districts as offices of record and supply, which functions will be turned over to the commanders of corps areas. The outcome, so far as personnel is concerned, will be the release of the large staffs which have been maintained in the Coast Artillery districts. The relations between commanders of Coast Artillery troops and corps area, department, sector, sub-sector and other commanders will be the same as the relations between commanders of troops of the mobile forces of the Army and such commanders. Whenever troops of the mobile forces are assigned to duty within a defense sector or sub-sector to which Coast Artillery troops are also assigned, the senior officer on duty with all the troops will command.

The following Coast Artillery districts will be established: 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 9th, Panama and Hawaiian. The territorial limits of these districts within the continental limits of the United States will be those corps areas bearing the same numerical designation. The territorial limits of the Panama Coast Artillery district and the Hawaiian district will be that of the Panama Canal and Hawaiian Departments, respectively. Under this new arrangement the Coast Artillery district commander will be responsible to the corps area or department commanders for the instruction, training and tactical employment of Coast Artillery troops within his district, except those assigned to units of mobile forces of the Army. Brigades of movable Coast Artillery will not be under the jurisdiction of the Coast Artillery district commanders. Coast Artillery district commanders and staffs will be assigned by the War Department, and they will be stationed at the corps area or department headquarters. Commanders of coast defenses in Coast Artillery districts will perform such duties required of Coast Artillery district commanders as corps area or department commanders may direct.

ARMY OFFICES IN PERMANENT QUARTERS.

Changes in the location of branches of the War Department in Washington, D.C., have gained impetus of late, with the gradual reduction of the forces of Army officers on duty. While War Department activities have been increased because of the work entailed in the Army reorganization, there has been a general contraction of forces, both military and civilian. There are, however, double the number of civilian clerks engaged in the War Department as compared with pre-war days. The temporary structures which housed branches of the War Department during the war, and the leased quarters engaged for the same purpose, are practically abandoned and these branches accommodated in the semi-permanent Munitions Building. This building was wholly given over to the Assistant Secretary of War as director of munitions and to the Quartermaster Corps during hostilities, but in the last year there has been a rearrangement of the offices fronting on its three stories and its 1,000 feet length, and in the eight deep wings. First room was made for the Corps of Engineers; then came the Ordnance Department with the exception of a portion of its activities still housed in its quarters used during hostilities. The Medical Department was next to move into the Munitions Building, and recently the Army Air Service began to move from the east of B street to the extreme west, or from 7th to 19th street. The enlarged Finance Department also found room, and it is likely that the Chemical Warfare Service and the Signal Corps, still sheltered in temporary quarters, will soon be placed in the Munitions Building. It is the good-humored boast of officers on duty there that the Munitions Building outranks any headquarters on earth. In proof of this boast here is the roster: Major Gen. Harry L. Rogers, Quartermaster General; Brig. Gens. Charles R. Krauthoff, Herbert M. Lord, John M. Carson, Assistant Quartermasters General; Major Gen. Lansing H. Beach, Chief of Engineers; Brig. Gen. Harry Taylor, assistant to Chief of Engineers; Major Gen. Clarence C. Williams, Chief of Ordnance; Brig. Gen. George W. Burr and William S. Pierce, assistants to Chief of Ordnance; Major Gen. Charles T. Menoher, Chief of Air Service; Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, assistant to Chief of Air Service; Major Gen. Merritt W. Ireland, Surgeon General; Brig. Gens. Walter D. McCaw and Robert E. Noble, assistants to the Surgeon General.

BATTLE RECOGNITION FOR FORCES IN RESERVE.

The War Department has finally taken cognizance of the fact that the several divisions of the A.E.F., which were held in reserve at the opening of major engagements in the World War should be credited with participation in these operations. This will make it possible for such divisions to display battle streamers and the individual officers and men to wear the appropriate battle clasps approved by the War Department. When G.O. No. 83, War Department, June 30, 1919, was issued in connection with the Victory Medal there was considerable agitation on the part of organizations and officers and men who comprised the forces in reserve in major engagements because their service was construed by the War Department as outside the zone of actual participation. This order failed to designate as entitled to credit for their participation the divisions in reserve which played an important part in carrying on the struggle against the enemy and aided materially in keeping up the morale of the divisions engaged in opening the major action. Section 6 of this order, however, read in part: "In case of doubt as to whether an individual officer or enlisted man is entitled to wear service ribbon and stars the organization commander will forward the case for decision to the headquarters of the army, corps, division or smaller independent organization in whose defensive sector the individual in question served or to which he belonged or was attached during the major operation. Only cases which cannot be decided at inferior headquarters will be forwarded to General Headquarters, A.E.F., or to the War Department for decision." As a result of this provision a number of doubtful cases as to those entitled to the Victory Medal were brought to the attention of the War Department. The subject has been given the diligent attention of the department and a general order will be promulgated whereby credit for participation in major operations by organizations held in reserve will be given those concerned, as follows: "Organizations assigned to the reserve for use in a major operation and serving in an army area during the time in question will be credited with participation in the operation. Organizations composing those divisions will be entitled to the name of the operation on their battle streamers and the individuals present for duty will be entitled to the appropriate battle clasp."

TRIAL OF THE U.S.S. PRESTON.

Unofficial advices regarding a trial of the U.S. destroyer William B. Preston off the Rockland, Maine, course on Oct. 2, states that she exceeded the speed requirements of her class by a knot in the official standardization trial when she covered a mile at the rate of thirty-six knots. The average for the three top-speed runs was 35.648 knots. The propeller averaged 450.87 revolutions a minute, with a maximum of 455.31.

PROMOTIONS AND RETIREMENTS.

Promotions in the Regular Army.

The following promotions in the Regular Army with rank from dates given are announced by the War Department.

- Announced Oct. 2.*
First Lieut. Donald H. Pitts, M.C., to captain Aug. 30, 1920.
Announced Oct. 4.
First Lieut. Leonard P. Bell, M.C., to captain June 4, 1920.
First Lieut. Roy P. Brown, M.C., to captain July 25, 1920.
First Lieut. Ernest L. Wilson, M.C., to captain Oct. 4, 1920.
Announced Oct. 5.
First Lieut. Wm. E. McCormack, M.C., to captain Aug. 15, 1920.
Announced Oct. 6.
First Lieut. James R. Hudnall, M.C., to captain June 16, 1920.
Announced Oct. 7.
First Lieut. Luke B. Pack, M.C., to captain June 4, 1920.
First Lieut. Frank W. Young, M.C., to captain July 16, 1920.
First Lieut. George B. Kent, M.C., to captain Oct. 6, 1920.

Retirement of Col. J. R. Lindsay.

Col. James R. Lindsay, Inf., U.S.A., was retired from active service Oct. 4, 1920, at his own request after more than thirty-four years of service. He was last on duty at Camp Upton, N.Y., with the 42d Infantry and was born in Illinois Aug. 14, 1855. Colonel Lindsay, who during the World War held the temporary rank of brigadier general, is a graduate of the U.S.M.C., class of 1880, when he was assigned to the 14th Infantry. Subsequent promotions and transfers took him to the 8th, 13th, 28, 15th, 62d and 42d Infantry. His early service was mostly at posts in the West. During the war with Spain he was stationed in and around Santiago, Cuba, during which time he was acting brigadier Q.M., 1st Brigade, 2d Division, 5th Army Corps. He later served several tours in the Philippines and during the World War, among other assignments, he was on duty at the Presidio of San Francisco and Camp Cody, N.M. He is a graduate of the Infantry and Cavalry School.

RECENT DEATHS.

Brig. Gen. John H. Patterson, U.S.A., retired, died at Selkirk, N.Y., Oct. 5, 1920, where he had been living on a farm since early in 1890. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and received the brevet of captain Oct. 1, 1864, for gallant services in the battle of Chapel House, Va., and was also the holder of a Congressional Medal of Honor, amended in 1897 for gallant service in the battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 1864. At that time while under a heavy fire of the advancing enemy, he picked up a wounded and helpless officer of his regiment and carried him several hundred yards to a place of safety, who would have been otherwise burned in the forest. General Patterson was born in New York Feb. 10, 1843, and entered the Regular Army as a first lieutenant, 11th Infantry, May 14, 1861, and was transferred to the 20th Infantry the following July. He served with the Army of the Potomac and engaged in its various campaigns. He was in the siege of Yorktown, the battles of Gaines Mills, Malvern Hill, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Rappahannock Station, operations at Mine Run, and the battles of the Wilderness, Sportsylvania, North Anna River, Bethesda Church, Petersburg, Weldon Railroad, Chapel House and Hatcher's Run. He served as a lieutenant colonel, 22d U.S. Infantry, in the Cuban campaign in 1898, during the Spanish War, and was appointed a brigadier general of Volunteers Sept. 21, 1898. He became a brigadier general in the Regular Army, in January, 1899, and was retired from active service Feb. 6, 1899, at his own request after over thirty years' service. General Patterson was twice married, at Fort Totten, Dakota, in 1871, to Miss Mary E. Forbes, and in 1900, at Albany, to Miss Grace L. Learned.

Col. Lea Febiger, retired, died Oct. 2, 1920, at San Francisco, Calif., where he resided at 2423 Washington avenue. Colonel Febiger, who was retired for disability incident to the Service on March 2, 1914, was born in Ohio Jan. 4, 1858, and was appointed a second lieutenant, 23d U.S. Infantry, from civil life, Aug. 15, 1876, and remained in that organization until promoted major, 10th U.S. Infantry, Feb. 28, 1901. He was transferred to the 23d Infantry the following May, and to the 17th Infantry Aug. 28 following. He was transferred to the 7th Infantry Feb. 7, 1903; was detailed as an inspector general April 17, 1903, and was promoted lieutenant colonel, 3d U.S. Infantry, May 8, 1906. He was appointed a member of the General Staff in 1910, and assigned to duty in Manila. He was promoted colonel Jan. 19, 1911. Colonel Febiger also served out in the Philippines as chief of staff to Major Gen. W. P. Duvall. He is a nephew of the late Rear Admiral John C. Febiger, U.S.N. While on the retired list Colonel Febiger was appointed superintendent of the State Armory at 14th and Mission streets, San Francisco.

Major Murray Warner, Engrs., U.S.A. (emergency), died in San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 4, 1920, following a sudden illness.

The funerals of Capt. Karl H. Dauber, Reserve Corps, and Lieuts. George M. Anderson, 501st Engrs.; Roy J. Fish, Gunner School, and Thomas P. Johnston, Med. Corps, U.S.A., who died overseas and whose bodies were recently brought from France, took place at Arlington National Cemetery on Oct. 1.

Capt. Francis G. Lloyd, New York Guard, retired, formerly of the 9th Coast Defense Command, died in New York city Oct. 7, 1920. He was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Huguenot Society of America, and of St. David's Society.

Lieut. Comdr. William Merrill Corry, U.S.N., died on Oct. 7, 1920, at the Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Conn., from the effects of inhaling flame while attempting to rescue Lieut. Arthur C. Wagner, U.S.N.R.F., from a burning airplane immediately after a crash at Hartford on Oct. 3. Commander Corry was born at Quincy, Fla., Oct. 5, 1889, and was graduated from Annapolis in 1910. He began the study of aeronautics in 1915 and in August, 1917, was sent to France to command the naval air station at Le Croisic, Loire, the first American operating unit in the war. On June 7, 1918, he was assigned to command the U.S. Naval Air Station at Brest, in which post of duty he remained until after the armistice. He was ordered to Paris Feb. 6, 1919, in connection with aviation and was assigned to the duty of demobilizing and liquidating the U.S. Naval Air stations of the French unit. On July 26, 1919, he was appointed to represent the United States on the Aeronautical Inter-Allied Commission of Control, and also to special duty with the French and Belgian air forces.

He became aid for aviation with the Atlantic Fleet on June 1, 1920, the post he held at the time of his death. The work of Commander Corry in the World War won for him the Cross of a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor and unstinted praise from his superiors in the U.S. Navy and the French and British officers with whom he was associated.

Lieut. Sidney Pedott, U.S.N.R.F., whose home was in Chicago, was reported in a press dispatch from that city to have been drowned in Lake Michigan, off Lake Forest, Ill., on Oct. 2, when a Navy seaplane he was flying fell into the lake. Lieut. A. K. Bachelor, of Saginaw, Mich., who was reported to have been in the machine with Lieutenant Pedott at the time, was thrown clear when it fell. He succeeded in swimming back to the wreckage and was rescued.

Mrs. Jennie M. S. Woodburne McGregor, wife of Brig. Gen. Thomas McGregor, U.S.A., died at Vallejo General Hospital, Vallejo, Calif., Sept. 13, 1920, in her seventy-fifth year. Mrs. Sue Long Pearson, mother of Col. and Mrs. William R. Dashiell, U.S.A., died at Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, H.T., Sept. 13, 1920, at the age of eighty-four years. "The many Army friends of Mrs. Pearson," writes a correspondent, "will read with deep sorrow of the passing of that remarkably kind and most lovable Christian lady. She was born in Columbus, Miss., and was married to Dr. Richmond N. Pearson and spent most of her life in Cave Spring, Ga., and made her home with Col. and Mrs. Dashiell since the death of her husband. She was laid to rest in the beautiful little post cemetery just as the sun was setting, with a brilliant coloring lighting up the western sky and the Lord's 'bow of promise' showing on the hills across the valley to the east, it seemed a fitting closing to this long, useful Christian life."

Mr. James Montgomery Dixon, father of Mrs. Henry B. Sayler, wife of Captain Sayler, Coast Art., U.S.A., and of Mrs. S. H. MacGregor, wife of Captain MacGregor, Ord. Dept., U.S.A., died in Savannah, Ga., on Sept. 26, 1920, in his fifty-seventh year.

Stone and Company, investment bankers of Baltimore, Md., with offices at 517 Calvert Building. Former Lieut. Arthur T. Eaker will be associated with Captain Davis. Next to Captain Sharpe, Captain Davis is the oldest in point of service at Edgewood Arsenal, of all officers there.

General Lord Rawlinson, G.C.B., of the British army, who has been appointed to succeed Sir C. C. Monro as commander-in-chief of the Army in India in this month, is well known to many Americans. As commander of the 4th Army during the World War he had among troops under his command the 27th and 30th Divisions, U.S. Army. With the first French army he shared in the great victory in front of Amiens, with which the British offensive began, which carried the British arms over the old battlefield of the Somme and the Hindenburg line. He made a great reputation as a soldier. His new office is one of great importance.

Former Major Edwin S. Gill, U.S.A., who during the World War was most of the time on duty as assistant adjutant general, Western Department, still retains his interest in the military service, and is a major in the Reserve Corps. Major Gill is a former adjutant general of Arizona, and has made his home in Seattle for many years. He was commissioned in The Adjutant General's Department, U.S.A., during the World War, and is a member of Elmer J. Noble Post No. 1, American Legion.

Speaking of a comment by Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U.S.A., retired, on the political campaign, the New York Sun says: "It is a fine thing to find General Miles, who fought at Chancellorsville and has worn the title of General for not less than fifty-six years, writing thus, at the age of eighty-one. . . . No man has a better right to talk of peace and disarmament than this gallant veteran of many battles. Incidentally, we wonder how many people remember the derision that was poured upon a plan of his, twenty or twenty-five years ago, for the revival of the principle of the old Roman testudo. General Miles made a mighty effort in behalf of his old Roman testudo and incurred much good natured ridicule (from this quarter as well as from others, it grieves us profoundly to confess) for his professional interest in the archaic weapon. What a satisfaction it must be to him now to know that instead of harking back to the obsolete of many centuries ago, his beloved testudo actually foretold and anticipated the marvelously efficient and largely decisive tank of the battlefield of the great World War."

Col. George W. Stuart, Inf., U.S.A., who has been on duty as inspector-instructor, Ohio National Guard, has been assigned to the 3d Corps Area with headquarters in Baltimore, which embraces Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. His home station will be at Fort McHenry. "Colonel Stuart's work in Ohio," says the Columbus Dispatch, "has been fruitful of splendid results and he leaves the state with its militia in an excellent condition of reorganization. He was particularly interested in the reorganization of the 37th, with which he served overseas during the World War. The Ohio Guard is in splendid shape. Colonel Stuart said on Sept. 18, and ranks among the best in the country. He is extremely popular with the personnel of the Ohio Guard, and has made many friends in Columbus. Mrs. Stuart, who has also made many friends in Columbus and who is a charming and clever literary woman, has been assisting Col. Ralph D. Cole in the preparation of the official history of the 37th Division. In spite of the transfer to Baltimore she will be able to continue this work to its completion."

APPOINTMENT OF CHAPLAINS.

Major Gen. P. C. Harris, The Adjutant General of the Army, announces the selection and appointment of eighty-nine new chaplains for the Regular Army out of 300 applicants who had served as officers throughout the war. This is in conformity with the new Reorganization law, providing for about 250 chaplains, or one to each 1,200 officers and men. The chaplains thus selected have been commissioned with rank from July 1, 1920. After careful study by representatives of the War Department, the proportion of the denominations was tentatively fixed by Secretary of War Baker, at twenty-five per cent. for the Roman Catholic church, twenty per cent. for the Protestant churches, and five per cent. for adjustments that cannot be made on strictly mathematical apportionment. This conclusion is based on a careful survey of census reports, as well as the religious census of 1916. In making the announcement, General Harris adds: "Under the new Reorganization law full provision has been made for the moral and spiritual training of our enlisted men. A new Corps of Chaplains has been created. Their entire effort will be along the lines of character-building and proper guidance for the young soldiers under their charge, coupled with the new program of education and occupational training for the troops."

As there are ninety-seven chaplains in the Regular Army, the total with new appointees is 186. As about 250 chaplains are authorized, there still exist sixty-four vacancies in the chaplains. The denominational representation of the appointees and their names, which have already appeared in the lists of appointments of new officers announced by the War Department, are as follows:

NOTES OF ARMY PERSONNEL.

Lieut. Col. Robert Loghry, U.S.A., Office of Chief Signal Officer, is representing the corps at the annual electrical exhibit in New York city, where the Signal Corps has a large display of radio, wireless telephone and other electrical communication instruments.

Taking advantage of the transfer privilege contained in the Army Reorganization act, Lieut. Col. Arthur P. S. Hyde, Coast Art., U.S.A., has asked that he be transferred and appointed a chaplain. This request is made possible by the fact that Colonel Hyde is at the same time a line officer and a clergyman, a combination of an unusual character, although not without precedent. For more than ten years past Colonel Hyde has voluntarily performed the duties of a chaplain at posts where he has served when there was no regular chaplain present. Also on two occasions, covering several years in all, he has had pastoral charge of a city church in addition to the performance of his military duties. Colonel Hyde's application is very strongly endorsed by prominent bishops and priests of the Episcopal church, as well as receiving the official endorsement of the Army and Navy Commission of that church. Colonel Hyde is now on duty as department education and recreation officer and department morale officer of the Panama Canal Department, with headquarters at Quarry Heights, Canal Zone.

Major C. L. Joly, U.S.A., formerly connected with the Office of Chief of Chemical Warfare Service, began his new duties as assistant commandant of the Chemical Warfare Service School at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., on Oct. 5.

Major A. M. Heritage, U.S.A., has been transferred from the Office of Chief of Chemical Warfare Service to Edgewood Arsenal, Md. He is due to report Oct. 18.

ARMY ITEMS.

The Barrack Bag, published at Columbus Barracks, in its issue of Sept. 25 mentions the satisfactory progress that is being made in the prison school of that post. Twenty-two students voluntarily devote part of their day to the study of the primary and fundamental branches. One student who before entering the school could neither read nor write, upon being released from confinement proudly exhibited to the commanding officer a letter in his own handwriting which he had prepared for transmission to relatives, having learned to read and write while at the school.

Co. G, 37th Inf., Complimented.

Col. Lucius C. Bennett, Inf., U.S.A., commander of Fort McIntosh, Texas, and of the 37th Infantry, announced the selection a few days ago of Company G, commanded by Lieut. Norman P. Groff, as the company to go to Fort Sheridan, Ill., to act as corps area headquarters guard company. In the selection of Company G, the following announcement preceded the selection: "This company will be selected from a battalion which will garrison at Fort Wayne, Mich., and should be selected with reference to suitability of commanding officer for this duty." Hence the selection of Company G is both a compliment to the company and to its commander, Lieutenant Groff.

Polo in 8th Corps Area.

Headquarters, 8th Corps Area, Fort Sam Houston, has announced the rules and regulations for the 1920 polo tournament in that area. It is to be a round robin, each team entered to play each of the others, or a total of five games for each team. The first two games, as drawn by lot, will be played as follows: Oct. 9, Camp Travis vs. Fort Brown; Oct. 11, 16th Cavalry vs. El Paso, and headquarters, 8th Cav., vs. Fort Clark. The others will be played as follows: Oct. 13, 16th Cavalry vs. Fort Clark, El Paso vs. Fort Brown; Oct. 14, headquarters, 8th Coast Art., vs. Camp Travis; Oct. 16, 16th Cavalry vs. Fort Brown; Oct. 17, Camp Travis vs. Fort Clark, headquarters, 8th Coast Art., vs. El Paso; Oct. 20, headquarters, 8th Coast Art., vs. Fort Brown, El Paso vs. Fort Clark; Oct. 21, 16th Cavalry vs. Camp Travis; Oct. 23, Fort Clark vs. Fort Brown; Oct. 24, Camp Travis vs. El Paso, 16th Cavalry vs. headquarters, 8th Coast Art. By Fort Clark and El Paso is meant the teams winning the sub-tournament at those points.

Sailing of 14th U.S. Infantry.

The 14th U.S. Infantry, which was to sail from New York city for Panama about Oct. 1, did not sail as was at first intended. The regiment is now expected to sail about Oct. 20, and its address after that date will be Camp Clayton, Panama, C.Z.

Animated Picture of Motor Transport.

The Motor Transport Service, Q.M.C., presented an interesting series of "X-ray animated pictures" in the War Department temporary building, Virginia avenue and 18th street, Washington, D.C., on Oct. 5. Showing the various types of mechanism of all classes of motor cars, the pictures also illustrate the dangers arising from careless driving by automobilists, and present views in systematic form disclosing how these dangers may be corrected.

Strike Duty of 2d and 40th U.S. Infantry.

A provisional battalion of the 2d and 40th Infantry regiments has been on strike duty in Mingo county, W. Va., since Aug. 29, 1920. The battalion consists of three provisional companies of the 40th Infantry, and one of the 2d Infantry, under command of Major Roy W. Ashbrook, 40th Inf.

ENLISTED MEN ELIGIBLE FOR WEST POINT.

The new class of "plebes" at the Military Academy is 630 strong, and includes the largest number of appointees from the ranks of the Army in the history of West Point, with sixty former privates enrolled. Prior to 1916, soldiers could enter the Military Academy from the ranks only upon appointment by their Congressman, but to-day, recruits after one year's service with the colors, between nineteen and twenty-two years of age, who can pass the entrance examination, are eligible without Congressional appointment. Major Gen. P. C. Harris, The Adjutant General of the Army, announces that any young high school graduate enlisting whose record is clear, may enter West Point on the first entrance date after one year of service. Enlisted men between the ages of seventeen and twenty-four who have served honorably and faithfully for not less than one year in the armed forces of the United States or the Allied armies in the World War, possessing the other requisite qualifications, may be admitted to West Point on July 1, 1921. The other enlisted candidates must have served for one year in the Regular Army prior to July 1, 1921, and be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-two. Seven preparatory schools have been opened, at Camp Dix, N.J., Camp Devens, Mass., Camp Lewis, Wash., Camp Travis, Texas, and Camp Gordon, Ga., as well as in Coblenz and Panama, for the purpose of preparing soldiers for the entrance examinations. These candidates also have the option of a three months' furlough for special study and coaching. World War service applies equally to young men who were drafted or enlisted, and includes the National Guard as well as the Army. After 1921 age qualifications revert to the old limits of nineteen to twenty-two for enlisted men. The West Point course has been changed back to four years instead of three.

MANHATTAN CHAPTER, ORDER OF WORLD WAR.

Manhattan Chapter, Military Order of the World War, held its first dinner on Oct. 5 at the Hotel Astor, New York city. About two hundred members were present. Col. S. H. Wolfe, the chapter commander, who acted as toastmaster, received the colors from the chapter vice commander, Lieut. Col. J. M. Thompson; this presentation in the form of a description of the flag which has flown over the victorious armies of the United States on different occasions will, it is hoped, become part of every gathering not only of Manhattan Chapter, but of the entire order. After the chapter had drunk the toast to the Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy stirring addresses were made by Rear Admirals James H. Glennon and Charles D. Sigbee, U.S.N.; Brig. Gen. Charles J. Bailey and H. M. Lord, U.S.A.; Brig. Gen. George A. Wingate, Major Almuth C. Vandiver and Col. T. P. P. Luquer. Among others present of present and former service were Col. Alfred M. Hunter, William R. Doores and N. F. Feury, Lieut. Col. F. W. Stopford, Lieut. Comdr. A. W. Dunn, Major Robert M. Falkenau and Capt. C. C. Walton, jr. Letters were read from General Pershing, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Major Gen. R. L. Bullard, C. P. Summerall and G. W. Goethals and others, who, while in hearty sympathy with the order, were unable to be present. The next meeting of Manhattan Chapter will be held at the D. K. E. Club, 30 West 44th street, New York city, on Oct. 20, at 8 p.m. The commissioned officers of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps who served in the World War are eligible for membership. Blanks for application may be obtained from the adjutant, Lieut. (j.g.) John Constable Moore, 60 West 34th street, New York city.

EDUCATIONAL AND VOCATIONAL INSTRUCTORS.

Tentative allotments of specialist ratings for privates, first class, and privates engaged in duties pertaining to educational and vocational training were authorized by Secretary of War Baker on Oct. 2, as follows: Specialists, first class, 90; second class, 625; third class, 735; fourth class, 300; total, 1,750. These ratings will apply to the duty of supervisors, vocational training, first and second class; instructors, vocational training, first, second, third and fourth classes; school teachers, first, second, third and fourth classes; recreational assistants, second, third and fourth classes; also, any duty appropriate to educational and vocational training for which a specialist rating is authorized in any arm or service by G.O. No. 36, War Dept., 1920, or by supplementary orders relating to specialist ratings, which have been or may be issued. Allotments of the above ratings will be made to corps areas, Philippine Department, Hawaiian Department, Panama Department, American Forces in Germany. Commanding generals in areas, departments and forces will make sub-allotments to the various organizations, posts, camps and stations within their jurisdiction.

ASSIGNMENT OF CONSTRUCTING QUARTERMASTERS.

Constructing quartermasters, who are appointed by the Secretary of War upon the recommendation of the Quartermaster General, will not be assigned to other duties except on approval of the quartermaster or of the district office in which they are serving, according to a statement of the Secretary of War. This rule will not be adhered to in an emergency, and assignment to other duties is prohibited unless the order of the Secretary of War appointing them reads "in addition to their other duties." The Quartermaster General and the chiefs of the district offices of the Construction Service, Quartermaster Corps, are authorized to grant leaves of absence to constructing quartermasters. When an order of the Secretary of War appoints an officer a constructing quartermaster in addition to his other duties, any leave in excess of ten days must be with the approval of the Quartermaster General or the district office of the Construction Service in which such constructing quartermaster is located.

COAL IN KIND TO BE ISSUED IN WASHINGTON.

It is likely that the War Department will shortly take official action on the complaints from officers and enlisted men of the Army on duty in Washington, D.C., who are finding the cost of fuel for heating excessive. The Quartermaster General has been directed to designate the depot quartermaster to whom shall be sent the applications of officers and men, exclusive of those on duty at Washington Barracks, who desire to draw fuel in kind in lieu of commutation of heat, and the depot quartermaster will prepare instructions which, in his opinion, are necessary for his guidance and action covering this matter. These will be forwarded to the Chief of Staff for approval. Stove coal is selling in Washington at an average price of $13.50 a ton at this time.

EXPERIMENTAL AND DEVELOPMENT WORK.

All chiefs of arms and services have been notified by the War Department that in order to obtain necessary data relative to the determination of types of equipment, including research and development work, to avoid duplication of effort and to insure proper co-ordination, monthly reports are to be made direct to the Director of Operations Division, War Department General Staff, which shall show the status of all experimental and development work, as well as the authority or reason under which such work is being conducted. The forwarding of copies of whatever reports of this nature are rendered to chiefs of arms or services, however, will be considered as meeting the requirements of the War Department.

NEW CHEMICAL WARFARE SERVICE SCHOOL.

Through Major Gen. Hunter Liggett, U.S.A., commanding general of 9th Corps Area, instructions have been issued to the commanding officer of Camp Lewis, Wash., to institute at once a Chemical Warfare Service school for the enlisted personnel of the 4th Division. The course, in which gas instruction will feature, will continue for three weeks. Classes of two hours duration will be held five days a week, the entire course totaling thirty hours' instruction. Because of the effectiveness of gas as a war weapon, both on the defensive and offensive, it is probable that the school system inaugurated at Camp Lewis will be extended through all the corps areas and the departments.

LEGION OF VALOR CONVENTION.

The Army and Navy Legion of Valor held its annual convention at Atlantic City, N.J., on Sept. 28 and 29. The legion is composed of soldiers and sailors and former soldiers and sailors of the U.S. Army and Navy who have been decorated for acts of heroism "in action in actual conflict with the enemy," and have been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor or the Distinguished Service Cross. At the convention a resolution was passed favoring some combination of nations with the object of preventing war, but opposed to the ratification of any league of nations "which will give such league the power to direct any portion of the military forces of the United States to engage in foreign wars."

ARMY STAFF NOMENCLATURE.

The following nomenclature has been prescribed by the Secretary of War for staff of corps areas and department commanders: General Staff—Chief of staff; assistant chief of staff, operations; assistant chief of staff, military intelligence; assistant chief of staff, war plans and training; assistant chief of staff, supply. Technical, administrative and supply staff: Adjutant, quartermaster, finance officer, ordnance officer, engineer, surgeon, inspector, signal officer, judge advocate, air officer. Instructions previously issued in conflict with the above have been revoked.

G.A.R. CHANGES RITUAL.

At the fifty-fourth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, held in Indianapolis recently William A. Ketcham, of that city, was elected commander-in-chief. The selection of the city where the next annual encampment is to be held was left to the national council of administration. The ritual of the society, which formerly included the words, "One country and one flag," was changed to read, "One country, one language and one flag," as an influence to inspire Americanization to a higher degree in the country.

MEDALS FOR PRESIDENT AND PROTESTANT CHAPLAINS.

The Secretary of War accepted for the President of the United States in his office on Oct. 5, a medal presented by the Federal Churches of Christ in America. This medal was also presented to the Secretary of War, to Bishop McDowell, of the Methodist Church, and to Col. John T. Axton, Chief of Chaplains of the Army. The Federal Churches of Christ of America will present these medals to all chaplains of the Protestant faith who participated in the war.

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1920.

NAVY OFFICER PERSONNEL SITUATION.

On Oct. 1, 1920, there were 7,465 permanent and temporary commissioned officers of the Regular Navy, line and staff, on active duty. This number was distributed 5,265 in the line, 922 in the Medical Corps, 153 in the Dental Corps, 683 in the Supply Corps, 203 in the Construction Corps, 83 in the Civil Engineer Corps, 86 in the Chaplain Corps, and 10 professors of mathematics. The line, therefore, has approximately seventy per cent. of the commissioned strength. During the year July 1, 1919, to June 30, 1920, 606 officers of the Regular Navy resigned from the Service, ninety-four of this total being line officers. The Medical Corps lost 345 by resignation, but this large number of withdrawals was due to the fact that all temporary Medical Corps officers who came into the Navy during the war received Regular commissions, and as many of these professional men came in because of a desire to serve during hostilities, it was to be expected that when hostilities ended they would return to civil practice. But the rate of resignations during the year was 50.5 per month, and there has been an appreciable reduction in the rate of resignations since the Increased Pay act of May 18, 1920, became operative, with the exception of the line. During July and August, for example, there were twenty resignations accepted from line officers, showing an increase over the rate of the last year, which averaged a trifle over eight a month. In these two months thirty-one commissioned officers were separated from the Regular Navy by acceptance of resignations. It is appreciable that while the rate of resignation from staff corps has fallen off, the line shows an upward curve, and since there were on Oct. 1 only 3,267 permanent line officers on active duty, this tendency toward increased withdrawals is a matter of grave concern, for it has a most serious effect upon the proper and efficient operation of the fleet.

In noting the figure 5,265 as the strength on Oct. 1 of the line in permanent and temporary commissioned officers, it must be borne in mind that the law provides that temporary commissions may be continued in force until Dec. 1, 1921, or until peace is declared, if the peace declaration should be made subsequent to that date. Until the date that peace is proclaimed, problematical at best, the Navy may utilize the authorized commissioned strength in Regular, Reserve and temporary appointments. If, however, temporary appointments are revoked on Dec. 1, 1921, without further change of legislation the Navy may utilize its authorized strength in Regular and Reserve officers combined. The law, also, authorizes taking into the permanent Service not more than 1,200 officers by transfer from Reserve commissioned or warrant ranks, 500 of whom may be appointed from the Naval Reserve Flying Corps. It is the purpose of the Navy Department to accomplish this plan so far as practicable by Aug. 1, 1921, but up to Oct. 1 there had been only 222 applications submitted for such transfer, examinations for which will be held in May, 1921. It is out of the question to attempt an exact estimate of the number of officers that will be added to the permanent Service under the above authority; but let us assume that 700 will enter as a result of the May examinations. It is estimated that 250 officers will come from the U.S. Naval Academy in June, 1921, so that the assumed increment is 950 line officers. Conservatively estimating resignations of line officers at seven a month, a total of sixty-three by June, 1921, and that retirements and deaths will equal thirty, there would be in the permanent Service on July 1, 1921, 4,074 line officers. The Navy on that date will include a number of temporary officers and a few Reserve officers who do not intend a career in the Service and have not applied for examination in May; and a number of temporary and Reserve officers who have failed to qualify in the examination. The distribution in grade on July 1, 1921, will carry permanent rear admirals down to Nathan C. Twining, now temporary rear admirals; permanent captains down to Alfred W. Johnson, now temporary captains; permanent commanders down to Isaac C. Kidd, now temporary commanders; permanent lieutenant commanders down to Morris W. Gilmore, now temporary lieutenant commanders—of course, assuming that promotions will be made lineally as a result of selection.

Unless there is change through legislation, therefore, it would appear that on Dec. 1, 1921, it will be necessary to revoke in the line temporary appointments of seven rear admirals, sixty-seven captains, 154 commanders, 380 lieutenant commanders. In addition there will doubtless be revocation of temporary commissions of officers in the higher grades who have failed of selection for promotion for several years, though eligible for promotion. And if legislation were sought to insure unqualified extension of temporary appointments it would necessarily include such officers. The situation, also, must contemplate that the longer temporary and Reserve officers who have failed to qualify are continued on active duty, the more will their status tend to become permanent as a result merely of tenure of office, and that while the retention of the auxiliary service on active duty as Class 3 of the Naval Reserve Force has its advantages, it was one marked disadvantage, i.e., the tendency of these officers to form a corps. The two outstanding probabilities at this time, therefore, are that many temporary appointments of permanent officers may be revoked on Dec. 1, 1921, and that it may be necessary to retain, in order to carry on Navy activities, the temporary and Reserve officers who have either not applied for transfer or who have failed to qualify for the Regular Service. To avoid the first contingency legislation in some form will be necessary. To avoid the second, a fixed policy is advisable, a policy that will be maintained absolutely, separating from the commissioned Service on Dec. 31, 1921, those Reserve officers other than Class 3 who did not apply or failed to qualify by examination, and those temporary officers who did not apply or failed to qualify by examination. To make up for the loss of officers through the application of such a policy, it is believed that the Navy can rely upon the technical schools alone, for the enlisted personnel has been very thoroughly inspected for officer material without appreciable result.

Reviewing the above facts, it is apparent that the officer personnel situation of the line of the Navy is a matter of very serious moment. Further action in seeking a solution of the problem would appear to be along the line of replacement of inadequate temporary and Reserve officers with graduates from the technical schools. In that direction alone lies the maintenance of line standards; there can be no question on that score. Additional legislation, it is believed, is quite unnecessary in order to arrange with technical schools for training in naval subjects and for the commissioning of selected graduates as temporary ensigns. In conclusion it may be recalled that in January, 1920, when Rear Admiral Thomas Washington, U.S.N., Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, was before the House Committee on Naval Affairs, Representative Kelley, chairman of the sub-committee on personnel, asked if the Navy could not get along with 4,332 line officers. Admiral Washington replied: "We could 'get along' with them. We got along prior to 1916, but I think the lack of preparedness which the country showed at the beginning of the war ought to prevent us from even thinking of dropping back to that point again; and we would be worse off, relatively, on July 2, 1920, if the present law is continued in force than we were in April, 1917. . . . We do not want to get back to that same condition of almost helplessness we then found ourselves in."

APPOINTEES IN REGULAR ARMY.

July Appointments Completed.

The lists of appointments of commissioned officers in the Regular Army as a result of the examination held in July, which are printed on page 158 in this issue, and the announcements of appointments, with a few exceptions. The list of appointees who are now serving in the Philippine Department, delayed because of non-receipt of the letter of instructions from The Adjutant General's office by the commanding general of that department, and a list of approximately twenty other appointments held back for some unexplained reason by the War Department, are alone lacking to make the 4,970 names of officers arrived at in the recapitulation of the Final Selection Board. With the exceptions noted the names of all officers appointed to the Regular Army have been printed in the columns of the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL. The accuracy with which the lists were compiled and typed in the Appointment Section, Officer Personnel Division, The Adjutant General's Office, speaks for itself, for there has thus far come to light only one error, which we noted in our issue of Oct. 2, whereby an appointee in the grade of captain was inadvertently listed under the first lieutenants. The announcement of the final list of appointees, which will contain fewer than one hundred names, may be expected shortly.

Examination for Vacancies Held Open.

For the two hundred vacancies in grades from major to second lieutenant held open for persons eligible for appointment who were unable to take or complete the July examinations there have already been filed with the War Department upwards of 500 applications. As this examination, which will be held from Oct. 25 to Oct. 30 inclusive, will be competitive, the two hundred vacancies are bound to be filled by men of the very highest qualifications. Applicants are reminded that the limit of time for receipt of applications in the War Department closed to-day (Oct. 9), and those who failed to file applications cannot hope to have reconsideration even for good reasons for belated action. The same procedure as in the July examinations will be followed, applicants being notified at least ten days in advance of examination of the time and place to report for examination.

Applications for appointment in the Medical Corps, in which there are still some 600 vacancies, and the Dental Corps, with forty vacancies, were not limited in the instructions issued for the October examinations, and the War Department decided that appointments be made in these two branches of all suitable material up to the limit of existing vacancies. At the Surgeon General's Office it was stated that up to Oct. 5 approximately 250 applications had been filed by persons desiring appointment in the Medical and Dental Corps. Additions to this number would be few, it was said, for there had been only one or two applications a day received during the present week.

Limit to Reconsideration.

The Secretary of War directed on Oct. 5 the restatement of policy relative to appointments and that this policy be observed by all concerned. The memorandum of Sept. 10 to The Adjutant General's Office stated: "The case of any applicant heretofore examined when acted upon in accordance with regulations by various boards or by the Surgeon General will be considered closed and subject to reconsideration only upon request of the chief of the branch of the Service corresponding to the last board that acted, or upon request of the Surgeon General in cases of physically disqualified applicants. Such requests will be approved only in those cases in which the request is based upon a subsequently discovered manifest error in the action previously taken." This policy, the Secretary of War emphasizes, was adopted to enable the War Department to correct, so long as conditions permitted, any manifest errors that might have been made. The necessity for definitely and finally disposing of all applications for appointment and completing appointments and promotions under Sec. 24, act of June 4, 1920, makes it imperative that such reconsiderations be terminated at an early date. The statement concludes: "Regardless of the circumstances in any individual case no reopening or reconsideration of any case will be approved after Oct. 15, 1920, the War Department abiding by the action taken by the sworn boards in such cases."

The foregoing statement by the Secretary of War is definite and explicit and the policy will be carried out to the letter. Protests from applicants have already been filed with members of Congress on various grounds and the War Department has heard from individual Congressmen that they intend to bring these protests forward when the short session of the 66th Congress opens in December. It is understood that the greater proportion of protestants are aggrieved because they have not had access to their records in order to find upon what specific ground in mental or professional tests they had failed to qualify. Physical records have been open to applicants who were disqualified on physical grounds, and many of these unsuccessful applicants have manifested a splendid spirit when applying for information, stating that they were satisfied the physical tests were thorough and complete and expressing the purpose of correcting the physical defects found by the Army surgeons. Among Army officers on duty in Washington the consensus of opinion is that the new officers coming into the Army will be of a high physical standard, for the examinations in July were rigidly applied and the chances were meager that an applicant showing a tendency toward weakness was passed.

Classification of Appointees.

In the consideration of the preferential grades of applicants for appointment it is learned that the Final Selection Board adopted a system of classification. In the first class were placed those applicants who had rendered service in the American Expeditionary Forces; in the second class, applicants whose service was confined to the territorial limits of the United States during the war; and in the third class, applicants of no military experience. In the matter of grade preference the applicants in the first class had their desires very generally adhered to, and some of them, whose records were particularly brilliant, were actually placed in a grade higher than preference stated. The applicants in the second class and those in the third class either were given the grade preferred or some lower grade. It is understood that this system will be adhered to in the appointment of officers to the 200 vacancies for which examinations will be held this month.

There have been filed with the War Department articles from newspapers which have stated that in the appointment of officers few enlisted men, now or formerly in the Service, had received appointments. As a result a thorough examination of the records is now under way in the War Department and the exact facts soon will be published in the form of statistics. It may be stated, however, that a partial checking up of the records relative to appointments disclosed that approximately twenty per cent. of the appointees have seen service as enlisted men in the U.S. Army. That this percentage will hold for the entire list is considered probable, and in that event the forthcoming statistical summary should show more than 900 appointees of previous service in an enlisted status.

NEW POLICY FOR NAVY SCHOOLS.

The Secretary of the Navy announces that he has directed a special campaign to be undertaken to fill the remaining vacancies in the ranks of the enlisted personnel of the Navy by offering special inducements. Notwithstanding the fact that the Navy is now recruiting more than ever before, except in war time, the realization that the Navy man in peace time is the one who must be qualified to defend the country in the first line of battle in war has resulted in the Navy never consenting to lower the high standard of its men. The Secretary announces that there are 9,568 young men studying specialties in Navy schools. From these men will be drawn the skilled specialists of the Navy. There are left 4,700 vacancies in the schools, and these vacancies have been thrown open to young men of the country and civil life. These schools were formerly kept for previous service men. A new policy has also been developed so that those who like foreign travel will be given opportunities to see the world. The Navy schools are paying special attention to physical development, and the latest statistics show an average gain of ten pounds in weight in four months and gratifying increases in height and chest development. The Secretary states that an office has been established in Washington to look out for the men's welfare and special attention is being given this subject by the department and the commanders-in-chief of our fleets.

U.S. NAVY EXPERIMENTAL LABORATORY.

After more than a year of delay the Navy Department has finally approved of a site for the new experimental and research laboratory, much to the disappointment of the staff of the U.S. Naval Academy and the citizens of Annapolis. A site on the river Severn had been recommended by the Naval Consulting Board, only Thomas A. Edison, then a member of the board, dissenting. This recommendation was made prior to the entrance of the United States into the World War, and the matter was not again taken up in the Navy Department until August, 1919. The site selected is at Bellevue, a naval reservation near Glesboro Point, on the Potomac river, and within the boundary of the District of Columbia. The Navy Department approved the site on the ground that it was to the best interests of the Government and that such a site would be more convenient to the department most interested in its operation than would a site at Annapolis. There is a naval magazine at Bellevue and the plant of the Washington Steel and Ordnance Co. is nearby. Congress appropriated $2,000,000 for the new laboratory and bids have been asked upon the five buildings in the laboratory group which are to be opened at the Navy Department on Oct. 15. There has been keen competition for the location of the laboratory, Mr. Edison favoring New York, and later advocates of a site at Yorktown entered its claims for preference. Navy officers who ventured opinions leaned strongly toward Annapolis, where the Government had already established an experimental laboratory at a cost of about $600,000, and where there is ample ground for expansion. The strongest point for location at Annapolis was in relation to the co-ordination of the work with that of the Naval Academy, and particularly with that of the post-graduate school, whose work was renewed after the war, and which is to be steadily enlarged and expanded. It was argued that an adequate experimental and research laboratory at Annapolis would be of great value, enabling the student officers to do much special and research work and making it possible to employ the experts of the laboratory as lecturers at the post-graduate school. Many officers have felt that this was the strongest of all considerations in seeking a location for the new laboratory.

STANDING ON SINGLE LIST, U.S. ARMY.

For the information and guidance of the very large number of officers of the Regular Army now comprising the commissioned strength of some 13,000 who appear to be perplexed as to the arrangement of the single list for promotion, the following information may serve as a guide: All captains and lieutenants in the Regular Army who came into the Service since the beginning of the World War (April 6, 1917)—whether prior or subsequent to the act of June 4, 1920—will be arranged on the single list according to length of commissioned service prior to the armistice, Nov. 11, 1918. For example, let us take the cases of four officers: 1, Appointed lieutenant in Regular Army, July 1, 1920; had served as an emergency officer from May 20, 1917, to Nov. 11, 1918. 2, Appointed lieutenant June 5, 1917. 3, Appointed captain, Regular Army, July 1, 1920; had served as an emergency officer from June 18, 1918, to Nov. 11, 1918. 4, Appointed captain July 7, 1918. Applying the rule as stated above these officers will be placed in the order named because of the length of commissioned service prior to the armistice is measurable by the dates (1) May 20, 1917; (2) June 5, 1917; (3) June 18, 1918; (4) July 7, 1918.

ONE NAVAL STATION IN THE PHILIPPINES.

The project of consolidating the naval stations at Olongapo and Cavite, Philippine Islands, has been discussed by Navy officers and in the Navy Department for the past fifteen years. A dispatch from Manila stated recently that the Navy Department had finally decided upon the transfer of the Olongapo station to Cavite, including the removal of the Dewey drydock, and that the work would occupy more than a year's time. This transfer would require an appropriation, which has yet to be granted by Congress. The Navy Department has long been committed to the policy of abandonment of the Olongapo station; the plans have been ready for years, and the Bureau of Yards and Docks will be in readiness to go forward with the work as soon as the appropriation is available, by asking for bids. When the consolidation does take place Cavite will be the one naval station in the Philippines, which will be pleasing to officers of the Navy who have not approved of maintaining the Olongapo station, which is situated outside Manila Bay. One strong station is considered better than two of lesser strength. Beside the Dewey drydock, a hospital, machine and carpenter shops, ice plant and other equipment will eventually be taken from Olongapo and installed at Cavite, if Congress should vote the necessary appropriation.

APPOINTEES UNDER NEW ARMY LAW.

Further lists of officer-candidates tendered appointment as commissioned officers in the Regular Army have been announced by the War Department. As noted on page 157, there remain only a few additional names to be announced to complete these appointments.

CAPSIZING OF NAVY EAGLE BOAT.

Findings of Court of Inquiry Published.

The findings of a court of inquiry which investigated the capsizing of U.S. Navy Eagle boat No. 25 during a violent squall on June 11, 1920, in the Delaware river off New Castle, Del., in which nine enlisted men lost their lives, and comments upon these findings by Rear Admiral David W. Taylor, Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, were given out at the Navy Department on Oct. 7. After a technical resume of the contributory factors to the capsizing, the court findings state: "That the U.S.S. Eagle No. 25, in an unusually light condition of load . . . had such a comparatively small range of stability as to make her an unsafe sea boat; that the light condition of load was due mainly to the absence of her allowance of ammunition, and to her normal consumption of fuel oil, water and consumable stores; that there was no stability data nor instruction regarding operation of the vessel from the point of view of stability on board the ship. . . . That those in authority performed their respective duties in a satisfactory manner; that the behavior of all on board was excellent and worthy the best traditions of the Service, and that the personal efforts of the commanding officer toward saving life was especially commendable. The court is of the opinion that no person or persons were responsible for the capsizing of the vessel with the consequent loss of life and property."

The technical comment of Admiral Taylor discloses the opinion that the water which entered through the open ports of the vessel made a heeling moment greater than the natural righting moment which, with minor contributing causes, resulted in capsizing. Admiral Taylor states: "When the first Eagles were completed the Bureau of Construction and Repair made a very careful investigation of their stability in all conditions and concluded that in uniformly light condition at sea these vessels should be handled with judgment. Accordingly, on March 19, 1919, it issued a memorandum calling attention to the desirability of taking water ballast aboard when at sea in light condition. This memorandum was furnished directly to the few Eagle vessels then in commission and it was intended that it should be furnished each of the uncompleted vessels upon completion. Instructions were issued accordingly to the superintending constructor at the building yard, but, upon investigation recently made, it appears that these instructions were not carried out. The superintending constructor has resigned from the Naval Service, also the principal assistants in his office, and it has not been possible to get an explanation as to why the bureau's instructions were not carried out. Further action in this connection does not seem practicable."

"In view of the facts that for some time to come naval vessels are liable to be manned by inexperienced personnel and in order to insure greater range of stability in possible seagoing conditions, the bureau, with the department's approval, has arranged to place fixed ballast aboard all Eagle boats as opportunity permits. With this fixed ballast the commanding officer need not be concerned about water ballast in any probable seagoing condition. It is believed that an incidental advantage will be to remove possible apprehension of the officers and men of the Eagle boats in view of the accident to Eagle No. 25, but the bureau would point out that even with the ballast which has been directed conditions might arise which would bring the airports below the level of the water and that, no matter what the range of stability if the airports are open and remain below water, capsizing would be certain in a relatively short time."

The comment of the Chief of the Bureau of Navigation was as follows: "The bureau, in view of the evidence, recommends that no disciplinary action be had in this case. It further recommends that a letter of commendation be addressed to the commanding officer of the Eagle No. 25, Lieut. Comdr. Maurice R. Pierce, U.S.N., for endeavoring, at considerable risk to his own life, to rescue one of the crew of the boat."

GEN. LEJEUNE ON CONDITIONS IN HAITI.

The report of Major Gen. Commandant John A. Lejeune, U.S. Marine Corps, of his tour of inspection in Haiti, was given to the press by Secretary of the Navy Daniels on Oct. 5. In a statement relative to the report Secretary Daniels, referring to widely published reflections upon the Marine Corps charging the marines had been cruel and inhumane and that their conduct had been characterized by lack of kindness and consideration for the people of Haiti, said: "From the day the first marines landed in 1915 and brought quiet and peace in that distressed country, the orders given by me were uniformly to all officers to regard themselves as friendly brothers of the Haitians, sent there to help these neighbor people sorely pressed by lawless bandits and revolution and intrigue. It is not possible to suppress revolutions and banditry without force, but the force used was directed by me to be only such as was absolutely necessary, and, with a very few exceptions, the officers and men carried out in letter and spirit the order to set an example in helpfulness and kindness in the discharge of a difficult duty. Upon the publication of criticisms of the marines in Haiti, I directed Gen. George Barnett, who had been major general commandant of the Marine Corps since the first marines were sent to Haiti in 1915, to prepare a full report of operations in Haiti. That report, which will be ready shortly, will deal exhaustively with all operations up to June 30, 1920, at which time General Barnett ceased to be the directing head of the Marine Corps. As soon as the report is finished it will be given to the public. At the same time I gave instructions to Major Gen. John A. Lejeune, who has been the directing head of the Marine Corps since June 30, 1920, to report all operations since he entered upon his new duties. He was also directed to visit Haiti, to make a thorough inspection and report conditions just as they existed at this time. During the stay of the marines in Haiti there have been conflicts with bandits. In a few instances the orders of the Secretary of the Navy and the head of the Marine Corps were not carried out, but in those few cases orders were given as soon as information reached Washington for full investigation and punishment for wrongs done or any crimes committed by any American officer or man. These matters will be treated in General Barnett's report."

General Lejeune's report covers a period of ten days of his inspection trips in Haiti, from Sept. 4 to 13 inclusive, when he was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, U.S.M.C. General Butler was decorated on Sept. 6 by the president of Haiti with the Medaille Militaire of Haiti in recognition of his distinguished services in organizing, equipping, training and commanding the gendarmerie of that republic. General Lejeune details each day's events, closing with his crossing of the boundary between Haiti and San Domingo for an inspection of the 2d Brigade, U.S. Marines, and the Guardia Nacional of the Haitian Republic.

The area of Haiti, his report notes, is approximately 10,000 square miles. The country is very mountainous. Between the great mountain ranges lie densely populated river valleys of extraordinary fertility. Haiti is, therefore, exceptionally well adapted for the activities of bandit bands, and throughout its history banditry has been prevalent. The mission of the marines in Haiti is the suppression of banditry and the maintenance of peace and tranquility. Reports received at Headquarters, U.S. M.C., indicated that the bandit situation was steadily improving. General Lejeune says further:

"The marines in Haiti are commanded by Col. John H. Russell, an able, just and humane officer. I found, during my inspection, that not only had he handled the bandit situation in a masterly manner, but that he had issued the most comprehensive instructions requiring kindly treatment of the inhabitants by our own men, and that his subordinate officers were enforcing his instructions in a loyal and conscientious manner."

The report gives a daily diary of the trip of inspection, noting that during stops at Mirabellais, Los Cahobas and other places the visitors were received by large delegations of Haitian citizens headed by the local officials, who made addresses expressing their great appreciation of the splendid work done by the marines in maintaining peace and good order. General Lejeune continues:

Distribution of 1st Brigade.

"The force of marines in Haiti, consisting of about 1,350 men, is organized into a brigade of two small regiments, the 2d and 8th. The 8th Regiment is stationed in southern Haiti, and the 2d Regiment in the north. One battalion of the 8th is quartered in Port au Prince; headquarters is near Mirabellais and the remainder of the regiment is camped at Mirabellais and Las Cahobas, with small posts along the road to Port au Prince. The headquarters and one battalion of the 2d Regiment are located at Cap Haitien, and the remainder of the regiment is stationed at San Michel, Hinche and Maissade, with small detachments at Thomonde, Ouanaminthe, and at points along the roads from Hinche and Maissade to Cap Haitien. Brigade headquarters and the aviation squadron are located at Port au Prince."

"For tactical purposes the forces of both regiments in the interior of Haiti are commanded by the commanding officer of the 8th Regiment. This arrangement is necessary in order to secure co-ordination in putting down bandit bands. The 2d Regiment is commanded by Col. Randolph C. Berkeley and the 8th Regiment by Lieut. Col. Louis McC. Little. Naval field hospitals are located at Port au Prince and Cap Haitien."

"The troops in the field are supplied by means of railroads, motor trucks and pack trains, motor trucks wherever roads are passable, and pack trains over trails. In spite of great difficulties due to almost impossible roads, high mountain ranges, and rivers swollen by tropical rains, the troops are well supplied. I found the rations and other supplies to be up to the standard. There were no complaints, except at Hinche, where there was a temporary scarcity of fresh beef in the country."

"I found the military situation to be in excellent condition, and a state of peace and tranquillity prevailing throughout Haiti. We traveled through the country without a guard, and found no evidence of hostility on the part of the natives. The marines and gendarmes stationed in the interior of Haiti send out visiting patrols in command of officers. These patrols visit all sections of the country, not only to prevent banditry, but also in order to assure the natives that they will be protected from depredations by bandits. This has had a very beneficial effect, and throughout Haiti we found the natives busily at work cultivating their farms and carrying their produce to market."

"There are now no large bandit bands in existence, the only menace to security being a number of small bands, who hide in the mountains and live by stealing. These bands are being gradually dispersed. One of the most encouraging circumstances connected with the bandit situation is the fact that many former bandits have voluntarily quit the mountains and gone to work. A short while ago a small patrol of gendarmes engaged in a skirmish with one of these bands and dispersed it, and Louisord, the last important bandit leader in Haiti, was killed. Until banditry has been completely stamped out, however, it is essential for the welfare of Haiti that the present disposition of Marine Corps forces in the interior should not be changed."

General Lejeune conferred with large numbers of Haitian officials, with Haitians not holding official positions, and with French priests. He found throughout Haiti a strong sentiment of gratitude to the marines for the work that they were doing for the welfare of the industrious, peaceful and law-abiding Haitian people, and that, on the whole, very friendly feelings existed on the part of the inhabitants towards the marines. There have been, of course, some cases of ill feeling between individuals, and several marines had been tried by court-martial for engaging in brawls with Haitians. "Affairs of this kind," the report adds, "are of course very regrettable, but are nevertheless, unavoidable, and are liable to occur at any place at home or abroad where troops are stationed." In visiting the various posts General Lejeune invariably made inquiry concerning the relations between the marines and the population, and found at each place that the commanding officer, acting under the instructions of Colonel Russell, was insistent that the men should treat the inhabitants in a just and kindly manner. "It was easy to see," he says, "by the manner and actions of the thousands of people we met in the towns and on the roads in the interior that a very kind and friendly feeling exists towards persons wearing the uniform of the U.S. Marine Corps."

Gendarmerie d'Haiti.

The Gendarmerie d'Haiti is a force of 2,500 Haitians, officered chiefly by commissioned officers and enlisted men of the Marine Corps. It is the sole police and military force authorized by Haitian laws. It is a combination of municipal police and rural constabulary, and has charge of all Haitian prisons and jails. Inspection of the detachments of gendarmes, their barracks, Haitian prisons, and all places visited, found the gendarmerie, which is now commanded by Lieut. Col. Frederic M. Wise, to be in a highly efficient condition. "It was most gratifying," the report says, "to see the soldierly bearing, neatness, and efficient performance of duty on the part of the gendarmes; also, the immaculate cleanliness of their barracks and the prisons. . . . The officers and men of the Marine Corps who command the gendarmerie informed me that there had not been a single case of disloyalty to their officers on the part of any member of the gendarmerie since this organization had been established, and that they felt perfect confidence in the courage and loyalty of the Haitians serving in its ranks." The report concludes:

Our Marines Highly Efficient.

"During my tour of inspection in Haiti I found the marines to be in a highly efficient condition. Their health, except for some cases of malaria, was excellent. Their discipline was superb and their morale high. As I inspected the detachments located at isolated points far in the interior of Haiti, I was filled with admiration of their fine appearance and efficient condition. My heart was filled with pride to see these splendid men giving to their country and to the Republic of Haiti such intelligent, zealous, efficient and courageous service. I feel that the American people have every right to be proud of their representatives who are now wearing the uniform of the Marine Corps in Haiti."

CASE OF CAPTAIN CHAMBERLAIN, MARINE FLIER.

It has come to light through the action of an officer of the Regular Army in forbidding his daughter to recognize Capt. Edmund G. Chamberlain, U.S.M.C., that for ten months the latter, whose dismissal from the Service on conviction by general court-martial of falsehood and scandalous conduct detrimental to good morals was announced by Secretary of the Navy Daniels on Dec. 8, 1919, has been living in Washington and drawing the pay of captain since the official announcement authorized at that time that "Secretary Daniels had approved the findings and sentence of the court and that the case had gone to the President for final action." Previous to that announcement it was stated at Marine Corps headquarters that Captain Chamberlain had been for four months under arrest and confined to the limits of the District of Columbia, so that for fourteen months while awaiting action in his case this officer has been compensated exactly the same as officers of his rank on active duty who have been rendering efficient and competent service. In our issue of Dec. 13, page 461, in reporting this case, it was stated: "On Aug. 21, 1918, Captain Chamberlain, who was on duty in France, while visiting the British front on furlough, was credited with having been engaged in fifteen bombing raids over the German lines, and ten days later news dispatches from London credited him with having destroyed on July 28, 1918, five German airplanes, damaged two others, scattered detachments of German troops and finally with carrying a wounded British officer safely into the British lines. As a result of his alleged exploits there was some talk for a short time of the possibility of his being recommended for the Victoria Cross and the Congressional Medal. Very soon, however, suspicion was aroused as to the veracity of his claims, with the result that charges were brought against him and he was placed on trial before the G.C.M. overseas. Captain Chamberlain is a native of San Antonio, Texas, was educated at the University of Texas and at Princeton. He entered the Marine Corps on July 31, 1917. He was ordered to return to the United States from England in May, 1919, following the G.C.M. proceedings. He has since been in Washington." In the Navy Directory of Sept. 1, 1920, there is this entry:

"Chamberlain, Edmund G., Capt., U.S.M.C., marine barracks, Washington, D.C." In comment on the lack of final action in this case it was pointed out that during the period since it came up officers have been dismissed from the service of the United States for infractions much less serious; for example a G.C.M. order from the War Department dated April 17, 1920, contains the confirmation by the President to a sentence of dismissal on conviction of violation of the 95th Article of War, "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman." The officer in this case was tried on Nov. 25, 1919, so that less than five months elapsed between the beginning of the trial and the confirmation of the sentence of dismissal. Other cases might also be cited by way of comparison.

NOTES OF THE AIR SERVICE.

Transcontinental Air Races Abandoned.

Announcement was made at the office of the Chief of Army Air Service on Sept. 30 that it had been definitely decided that the two transcontinental airplane races announced for 1920 and the early part of 1921 had been abandoned. Cancellation of these projected events, it was said, was made necessary by a series of circumstances which tended to point to the inadvisability of attempting the competitions at this time.

Air Unit for American Forces in Germany.

Preparatory plans toward the equipping of the American Forces in Germany with up-to-date airplanes and other necessary aviation accouterments are in the process of completion by Major Gen. Charles T. Menoher, U.S.A., Chief of Air Service, and his staff. It is probable, according to present plans, that the remodeled DeHavilland plane, the D.H. 4B, will be used by the American forces overseas, which have been without the services of the air detachments for several months. Officers on duty at Air Service headquarters in Washington believe that the new type of Le Pere airplane, which recently was transported to Paris from America in charge of Major Lewis H. Brereton, military attaché at the American Embassy, will probably be utilized and placed in operation by Major Gen. H. T. Allen, U.S.A., commander-in-chief of the American Forces in Germany. General Allen has urged the War Department to return to his forces their aviation units or at least one complete unit. Aviation officers declare that the Le Pere is a compact plane of approved design especially adapted to scout duty. It is one of the fastest machines in use by the Army Air Service.

Air Service Nomic Expedition.

Headquarters, Air Service, Washington, D.C., on Oct. 1 received a message from Capt. St. Clair Street, Air Ser., U.S.A., at Hazelton, B.C., where he, with Ships Nos. 1, 3 and 4 arrived on Sept. 29 on the return flight from Nome to Mitchell Field, Long Island, N.Y., saying that he had telegraphed to Lieut. Ross C. Kirkpatrick, U.S.A., in Ship No. 4, who had preceded the other machines and reached Saskatoon, Canada, on Sept. 29, directing him to await the rest of the squadron at Fargo, N.D., which is 570 miles from Saskatoon. Captain Street said that he and Lieut. C. H. Crumrine, in Ships Nos. 1 and 3, expected to take off from Hazelton for Prince George, 200 miles distant, on Oct. 2, where they intended awaiting Lieut. Clifford C. Nutt in Ship No. 2, whose machine met with an accident in landing at Hazelton on Sept. 29, and who was awaiting necessary parts to be sent from Wrangell, 210 miles away, and which were expected to arrive on Oct. 2. Lieutenant Nutt expected to hop off for Prince George on Oct. 3. Captain Street's message added that the weather conditions had been most unfavorable for flying, much difficulty having been encountered from low hanging clouds. A press message from Hazelton dated Oct. 4 said that Lieutenant Nutt took the air again on Oct. 4, and that Captain Street, who had been delayed in leaving, was further delayed when the gas tank on Oct. 4.

Test Flights of Army Airships.

Flights for test and training purposes of three Army airships are being made from Langley Field, Va., the ships being the Zodiac, the largest Army dirigible; the A-4 and the C-2. Recently the Zodiac, under command of Capt. Dale Mabry, flew from Langley Field to Richmond, Va., and return, and valuable photographs were made, including views of strategic points in and around Richmond. Occasionally the Navy airship stationed at Norfolk flies to Langley Field, and on one occasion four dirigibles were seen in the air at the same time. The three Army dirigibles made a successful flight in formation on Sept. 23 at Langley Field. Taking the air at 8 a.m., for two hours the Zodiac, A-4 and C-2 maneuvered in file formation and front formation. The radio telephone was used for communication between the ships and worked perfectly. Major William N. Hensley, jr., commanding officer at Langley Field, was a passenger in the Zodiac. The personnel of the three airships is as follows: Zodiac, Capt. Dale Mabry, pilot; Lieut. James C. Cluck, assistant pilot; Lieut. George C. Cressy, recreational pilot. C-2, Lieut. Bruce N. Martin, pilot; Lieut. Orville A. Anderson, assistant pilot; Lieut. Otto J. Stockman, directional pilot. A-4, Lieut. Alfred M. Clare, pilot; assistants, non-commissioned officers.

Army and Navy Flights from Panama.

Lieut. Charles B. Austin, Air Ser., U.S.A., who is on duty at the Canal Zone, started from Panama on Oct. 6 for a flight to Washington, D.C., by way of Jamaica and Cuba, according to a press message from the former city. The voyage is being made in a remodeled Army machine. It is not equipped with wireless. Lieutenant Austin is not accompanied, acting as his own pilot and observer. Within one hour after he took off Lieut. Comdr. Victor D. Herbst, U.S.N., commanding the naval air station at Coco Solo, C.Z., Lieuts. Edward A. Wenz and James B. Connell, U.S.N.R.F., stationed at the same place, and Ensign Charles Lucas, U.S.N., hopped off from Panama in two hydroaeroplanes with Kingston, Jamaica, as their objective. Their voyage was not connected with that of Lieutenant Austin's, which is a distinctive Army undertaking. Eight U.S. submarine chasers have been stationed at intervals in the Caribbean Sea for the purpose of facilitating the flight of both expeditions.

Army Officers Test Parachutes in Pairs.

Army Air Service headquarters reports a recent test of the Army standard parachutes at the Air Service Engineering School, Dayton, Ohio, in which six officers made successful jumps, taking off from a Martin torpedo airplane in pairs from approximately 2,000 feet altitude, each officer wearing an emergency pack in addition to the regular parachute. Capt. Herbert A. Dargue was paired with Major Walter H. Frank. Major Lawrence

W. McIntosh and Major Albert L. Sneed were the second pair to jump, and Capt. Charles C. Benedict and Lieut. Edwin A. Aldrin the third. Captain Benedict's parachute became twisted in such a manner as to prevent its full opening. Not realizing the quick descent he paid no attention to untwisting the shroud line at first, but finally realizing the situation he quickly changed position and pulled his emergency pack, which opened properly. He then straightened out his original parachute and landed successfully with both parachutes in perfect order.

Flying Unit for Minnesota National Guard.

Major W. C. Garis and Capt. R. S. Miller, officers of the Minnesota National Guard observation squadron, made a record aerial flight from Minneapolis and St. Paul to Washington, D.C., by way of New York city, early this week. With Col. W. F. Rhinow, Adjutant General of Minnesota, as a passenger, they started on the flight Sept. 28 in a three-passenger Curtiss Oriole plane, headed direct for New York city. They made the flight, a distance over 1,300 miles, in twelve hours and twenty-three minutes, which is considered remarkable time. On the trip from New York to Washington the trio encountered unfavorable weather conditions, and consequently were somewhat delayed. The time consumed was three hours and forty minutes. While in Washington Major Garis, Captain Miller and Colonel Rhinow held conferences with Major Gen. Charles T. Menoher and Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, U.S.A., Chief and Assistant Chief of Air Service, and Brig. Gen. Jesse McI. Carter, U.S.A., Chief of Militia Bureau. As a result of the conferences the National Guard flyers were promised that Federal recognition will be extended to their unit, which comprises twenty-two officers and eighty enlisted men, as soon as the necessary records are presented to the War Department. In addition the visitors were informed that the War Department will furnish the unit every possible flying equipment, in order that the organization may continue its flying activities.

Use of Army Field by Private Aircraft.

The Secretary of War has directed that no privately owned aircraft shall be permitted to use Government landing fields or airdromes as a base, but privately owned aircraft not operated for profit may use such fields in the discretion of the commanding officer thereof. Such aircraft must be housed in privately owned hangars located outside Government property and no assistance in their maintenance, repair or operation will be rendered by personnel of the station. Operators of aircraft making use of the landing facilities at stations will be required to conform to the rules and regulations in force at such station.

Officer Drops 20,900 Feet in Parachute Jump.

A thrilling parachute jump was reported to the Army Air Service on Sept. 27 when Lieut. Arthur G. Hamilton, Air Ser., U.S.A., fell 20,900 feet in twelve minutes at Carlstrom Field, Arcadia, Fla., according to a press dispatch. The previous parachute record was that of Lieutenant Krug, made in Texas, when he dropped 19,800 feet. Lieutenant Hamilton jumped from a machine piloted by Lieut. P. H. Downes, Air Ser., U.S.A. Something went wrong with the motor and Lieutenant Downes maneuvered for the best position for Lieutenant Hamilton to jump from. As the officer jumped into space he caught a glimpse of what he mistook for Dorr Field. Allowing two seconds for clearance, he then pulled the wire which is intended to release a pilot parachute. This springs open automatically and in catching the air draws the main parachute from the back of the aviator. Lieutenant Hamilton had fallen an estimated distance of 2,000 feet before the larger parachute opened. He descended in safety.

NOTES OF NAVY PERSONNEL.

Rear Admiral Henry A. Wiley, U.S.N., has been detached from command of the destroyer forces of the Pacific Fleet and assigned to the Naval War College at Newport, R.I. He has been relieved by Capt. William V. Pratt, U.S.N., detached from command of the U.S.S. New York, flagship of Division 8, Pacific Fleet.

Rear Admiral A. S. Halstead, U.S.N., assumed command of the 12th Naval District, Oct. 4, 1920.

Rear Admiral Charles F. Hughes, U.S.N., while at Hamilton, Bermuda, in the U.S.S. Kansas on Oct. 2 received from the Prince of Wales, who was in port with H.M.S. Renown, on his way home to England from a visit to Australia, a framed photograph of His Royal Highness which bore his autograph. The Renown is due at Portsmouth on Oct. 11.

Capt. L. W. Sprattling, Med. Corps, U.S.N., has submitted a request to the Navy Department for retirement after thirty years' service.

Capt. S. E. Moses, U.S.N., has been detached from command of U.S.S. Missoula and assigned to command of U.S.S. Arkansas of the Pacific Fleet, relieving Capt. Lewis R. de Steiguer, ordered home and await orders.

Capt. Willis McDowell, in charge of the detail office, Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, has received his orders to report Oct. 25 and take command of the Destroyer Squadron, Asiatic Fleet.

General Barnett to San Francisco.

Brig. Gen. George Barnett, U.S.M.C., has left Washington, D.C., for his new post at San Francisco, Calif., as commander of the recently established Department of the Pacific, U.S.M.C. Under G.O. 546, Aug. 31, 1920, Navy Department, which establishes the Department of the Pacific, the headquarters will be at such place and will include such posts, detachments, offices and other organizations as may be directed by the Major General Commandant. The departmental commander will be under the direct command of and perform his duties under the immediate direction of, and is responsible for the general efficiency and discipline of the troops in his department to the Major General Commandant.

VARIOUS NAVAL ITEMS.

U.S.S. Kane Hits a Mine.

The U.S. Destroyer Kane, Comdr. W. A. Hall, U.S.N., was disabled by a mine on Oct. 1, 1920, at the entrance to the Gulf of Riga, Russia, distance three and a half miles from Pissen lighthouse. The Kane was en route from Danzig to Riga when she hit the mine. An official dispatch to the Navy Department said that the explosion buckled the ship's deck and sides, started small leaks, distorted the after part of the hull and disabled both engines. No officers or men were killed or missing and but three members of the crew were cut or bruised. When the dispatch was sent the British destroyer Vaulquer was standing by and the American destroyers Brooks, Comdr. T. G. Ellyson, and Gilmer, Lieut. Comdr. M. C. Robertson, were proceeding to the Kane's assistance.

Rewards to Rescuers of Crew of S-5.

Capt. E. A. Johnson, master of the steamer Alanthus, was presented with a gold watch by Secretary of the Navy Daniels at Washington, Oct. 5, 1920, in recognition of his services in the rescue of the imprisoned crew of the U.S. submarine S-5 when she sunk recently off the Delaware capes. Gold watches will also be presented to C. Jacobsen, chief engineer of the Alanthus, and to W. G. Grace, chief engineer of the steamship George W. Goethals, who worked for eight hours on the stern of the submarine cutting a hole large enough to enable the officers and crew to crawl out. Binoculars will be presented to Capt. E. O. Simon of the George W. Goethals and to R. McWilliams, assistant chief engineer of the Goethals, all of whom aided in the rescue. The watches and binoculars are inscribed: "Presented by the Secretary of the Navy in token of appreciation of valuable services rendered in the rescue of the crew of the U.S.S. S-5, Sept. 3, 1920."

Navy Victory Medal Clasp.

The Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, in a letter of Sept. 28, 1920, says: "In connection with Par. 1 of G.O. 528, attention is invited to the use which may be made of War Service Certificates in determining the clasps to which an enlisted man who has had service prior to his current enlistment is entitled. Such certificates contain complete information regarding the war service of enlisted men, and eligibility for a clasp may be determined in all cases by the use of this certificate in connection with G.O. Nos. 482, 504, 508 and 528. In the cases where the clasp to which an officer of the Regular, temporary, or Reserve Service is entitled must be verified, the presentation of orders to any duty with the endorsement thereon that the officer actually reported for this duty is sufficient evidence for the awarding of a clasp."

Accident Aboard the U.S.S. Goldsborough.

The Navy Department has received a dispatch from the commandant of the 8th Naval District at New Orleans, La., which stated that on Sept. 30 one officer and four men were seriously injured on the U.S. destroyer Goldsborough while she was crossing the bar when outward bound from Tampico. One man, Eugene Paquette, seaman second class, U.S.N., was lost overboard. The Goldsborough arrived at New Orleans on Oct. 3, and the injured men were transferred to hospital.

A dispatch received at the Navy Department, Oct. 6, from the U.S. destroyer Hatfield states that Seaman Paquette, washed overboard from the Goldsborough and reported lost at sea, is on board the U.S.S. Hatfield. He has practically recovered from exposure and bruises.

COAST GUARD NOTES.

An order is about to be issued from U.S. Coast Guard headquarters extending until July 1, 1921, the time that the old style blue service coat and old style frock coat may be worn by officers of the Service.

Coast Guard cutter Earp, an Eagle boat, arrived at San Francisco Sept. 28 on her voyage from Norfolk, Va., to Hawaii.

Cutter Bear, on Arctic duty, reported Sept. 29 as off St. Lawrence Island with boiler disabled and proceeding to Unalaska under sail. The Algonquin proceeded from Akutan to the assistance of the Bear.

Coast Guard headquarters has under advisement a plan to furnish oilskin clothing, sou'westers and rubber boots to crews of stations, payment for same to be made in the same manner as for uniform clothing. It is proposed to adopt a standard pattern for each article with the object of arriving at a minimum cost. Suggestions as to type, color, make, etc., have been invited from men on duty at stations.

Boatswain Axel Foss and Chief Boatswain's Mate Edward M. Rollinson were placed on the retired list, effective Oct. 10, 1920, an account of physical disability incurred in line of duty.

Ensigns Commissioned in U.S. Coast Guard.

By direction of the Secretary of the Treasury temporary commissions, dated Oct. 1, 1920, as ensigns have been given the following cadets who graduated from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in the class of 1920: Noble G. Ricketts, Harold G. Bradbury, Irving W. Buckalew, Arthur G. Hall, Ephraim Zoole and Paul K. Perry.

SHORE DUTY OF NAVY ENLISTED MEN.

In a circular letter dated Oct. 1, 1920, sent out by the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, it is announced that it is the desire of the bureau that all non-rated enlisted men have as much actual sea service as possible before being assigned to shore stations, crews of receiving ships, yard craft, district craft, etc. To this end complements of such stations and ships are being revised so that no firemen, third class, or seaman, second class, will be included. It is further desired that shore duty of enlisted men be equalized more than it has been in the past, and that regular tours of sea service and shore duty be instituted. The length of such tours will vary according to circumstances from time to time, but at present it is considered that no men should be retained on shore duty more than two years, and that men who have served continuously at sea for six years or more, have shore duty, if possible, and if they so desire.

The circular letter gives instructions for carrying out the new plans which does not apply to enlisted personnel of the recruiting service which will be handled by the Bureau of Navigation through inspectors of districts as formerly; nor to Hospital Corpsmen; nor to mess attendants serving at Annapolis, or as messmen for enlisted men at shore stations. It is particularly directed that commanding officers afloat do not hold competent men who are in every way entitled to shore duty, and that officers ashore do not similarly hold men who have had more than their share of shore duty.

SERVICE GUESTS ON U.S.S. MAYFLOWER.

Among the Army and Navy guests of the Secretary of the Navy on board the U.S.S. MISSING NAVY OFFICER INDICTED.

A grand jury indictment was returned at Washington, D.C., Oct. 5 on the charge of larceny from the United States against former Lieut. Carroll F. Bennett, Supply Corps, U.S.N., who has been missing since Dec. 28, 1919. Lieutenant Bennett had been in the Service since 1904, having risen through the successive grades from yeoman, second class, to lieutenant (T), which rank he held at the time of his disappearance. His reputation for efficiency and integrity was of the highest. A board of officers appointed to examine his accounts as disbursing officer in charge of the accounts of officers on duty in Washington submitted a report in January, 1920, showing an apparent deficit of about $75,000. The Navy Department records show that the deficit must have occurred between Oct. 1 and Dec. 22, 1919, on which day the officer went on a ten days' leave, as an officer of the Inspector General's force verified his accounts as correct on Oct. 1. Prior to his disappearance Lieutenant Bennett had been in bad health and under treatment by Navy medical officers for several months. At the Navy Department it was said that a search by Federal officials had failed to bring to light a single clue to Bennett's whereabouts.

NAVY G.C.M. CASES.

Lieut. Comdr. John Buckley, U.S.N., was tried by G.C.M. Feb. 10, 1920, at the naval station, Cavite, P.I., and found guilty of the following charges, proved by plea: Drunkenness and conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman. The court sentenced him to lose twenty-five numbers in his temporary grade of lieutenant commander, and twenty-five numbers in his permanent grade of lieutenant. The convening authority on Feb. 16 directed the court to reconvene for the purpose of reconsidering its sentence, which, in his opinion, was not adequate for the offense to which the accused pleaded guilty. The court revoked its former sentence, and substituted therefor a sentence to lose fifty numbers in his temporary grade of lieutenant commander, and fifty numbers in his permanent grade of lieutenant. Five of the seven members of the court recommended the sentence to the clemency of the reviewing authority in consideration of his previous good record. On Feb. 21 the convening authority placed an endorsement on the record stating that he deemed the sentence in revision grossly inadequate, and could not concur in the recommendation to clemency spread upon the record, feeling that the accused had already received his full measure of clemency at the hands of the court. The convening authority approved the proceedings, findings, and, in order that the accused might not wholly escape punishment, the sentence, and directed that Lieutenant Commander Buckley be released from arrest and restored to duty. The Bureau of Navigation on June 16 recommended approval of the proceedings, findings and sentence in revision, and said: "While the bureau realizes that in making its recommendations on previous courts-martial for similar offenses it has shown great leniency, it feels that in no case has the mitigation of the sentence resulted in a lessening of proper discipline throughout the service or failed to impress upon the accused the seriousness of the offense committed; for this reason, and in view of the previous good record of the accused, and, further, in order that some uniformity in punishment may be established for similar offenses under similar circumstances, the Bureau of Navigation recommended that the loss of numbers adjudged be reduced to the loss of twenty-five numbers in the temporary grade of lieutenant commander and the loss of twenty-five numbers in the permanent grade of lieutenant." The Acting Secretary of the Navy, Admiral R. E. Conrath, approved the foregoing recommendations of the Bureau of Navigation. (C.M.O. 98, July 31, 1920, Navy Dept.)

Lieut. (j.g.) Robert H. Lenson, U.S.N., was tried by G.C.M. May 25, 1920, and acquitted of the charge of violation of a lawful general order issued by the Secretary of the Navy. The convening authority, although of the opinion that the case was not fully or ably prosecuted, approved the proceedings, findings and acquittal. (C.M.O. 104, Aug. 5, 1920, Navy Department.)

Second Lieut. Horace D. Palmer, U.S.M.C., was tried by G.C.M. on May 21, 1920, at the Marine Barracks, Quantico, Va., and acquitted of the charge of conduct unbecoming a lieutenant and a gentleman. (C.M.O. 100, July 31, 1920, Navy Dept.)

First Lieut. Charles F. Conahan, U.S.M.C., was tried by G.C.M. on June 21, 1920, at the navy yard, Philadelphia, Pa., on the following charges: Desertion, robbery and scandalous conduct tending to the destruction of good morals, and an additional charge of scandalous conduct. The court found the accused guilty of the first, third and additional charges, not guilty of the second charge, and acquitted him of the second charge. He was sentenced to be dismissed from the U.S.M.C., and from the U.S. Naval Service, and to be confined in such prison or penitentiary as the convening authority might designate for a period of five years at hard labor. The sentence was confirmed by the President July 13, 1920. (C.M.O. 106, Aug. 5, 1920, Navy Dept.)

Ensign (T) George J. Schoonover, (S.C.), U.S.N., was tried by G.C.M. on April 16, 1920, on board the U.S.S. Galveston and found guilty of absence from station and duty without leave. The court therefore sentenced him to be restricted to his ship or station for three months, and to lose $25 per month of his pay for twelve months. The Acting Secretary of the Navy on July 12 approved the proceedings, findings and sentence, but in view of the recommendation of the Bureau of Navigation reduced the loss of pay adjudged to the loss of $25 per month for a period of six months. (C.M.O. 97, July 31, 1920, Navy Dept.)

Ensign Frederick V. Gordon, U.S.N.R.F., alias Frank V. Gordon, alias Frederick W. G. Von Seefeld, was tried by G.C.M. on May 20, 1920, at the Navy Yard, New York, N.Y., on the following charges: Charge—Scandalous conduct tending to the destruction of good morals. First Additional Charge—Scandalous conduct tending to the destruction of good morals. Second Additional Charge—Scandalous conduct tending to the destruction of good morals. The court found the accused guilty of the charge and the second additional charge, not guilty of the first-additional charge. He was sentenced to dismissal and to be imprisoned. The Bureau of Navigation recommended approval of the proceedings, findings and sentence, but in view of the length of time the accused has been confined under arrest recommended that the period of confinement be reduced to twelve years. The President approved the sentence as mitigated. (C.M.O. 107, Aug. 6, 1920, Navy Dept.)

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARDS.

G.O. 46, July 27, 1920, War Dept.

Announces the following awards of Distinguished Service Crosses and Medals.

I.—Awards of Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action at places named:

1st Lieut. William Penn Lewis, jr., Co. F, 115th Inf., 29th Div., Verdun, France, Oct. 16, 1918.
Sergeant Grover C. O'Kelley, Co. G, 6th Regiment, U.S.M.C., 2d Div., Bois de Belleau, France, on June 8, 1918.

Col. Russell C. Langdon, 127th Inf., 32d Div., near Fismes, France, Aug. 5, 1918. After a patrol had reported to him that a bridge crossing of the Vesle could not be located due to heavy enemy machine gun and rifle fire, Colonel Langdon personally led a patrol through an area covered by enemy shell and machine gun fire, to the Vesle River, and selected a suitable spot for the building of a bridge, and gave instructions for the selection of material for construction.

Capt. Arthur Ben Cornwell, 18th Inf., 1st Div., near Exermont, France, Oct. 4, 1918. When his battalion commander was missing Captain Cornwell, then first lieutenant, assumed command of the 2d Battalion, and personally led it in the attack on Hill 240, which was strongly defended by the enemy, who, by their machine gun fire, inflicted heavy casualties upon the attacking troops. The position was taken and the units on both flanks, previously held up by the fire from this position, were enabled to continue their advance.

Sergeant Hercules E. Korgis, Co. L, 23d Inf., 2d Div., near Mont Blanc, Oct. 3 to 9, 1918, and near Letanne, France, Nov. 5, 1918.

Sergeant Leighton McCormick, Battery B, 7th Field Art., 1st Div., near Servilliers, France, May 5, 1918.

Aldo Aymonino, colonel, Italian army, chief of group of Allied Missions in Italy.

Award of Distinguished Service Medal to U.S. Officers.

Hanson E. Ely, major general, U.S.A. He commanded, with skill and marked ability, a regiment in trench operations north of Toul, west of Montdidier, and during the attack at Cantigny. Later, as a brigade commander during the Aisne-Marne and St. Mihiel offensives and in the attack on the strong enemy position of Mont Blanc Ridge; and as a division commander during the latter phase of the Meuse-Argonne offensive, he demonstrated rare qualities of leadership.

The citation on page 3 of G.O. No. 12, W.D., 1919, relating to Major Gen. Hanson E. Ely, is rescinded.

George Alfred Lynch, lieutenant colonel, Infantry, U.S.A. As a member of the training section, he was chiefly responsible for the revision of the Infantry Drill Regulations. In this important task he displayed a broad grasp of the tactical lessons of the war and showed sound judgment in adapting their principles to American needs, capabilities and characteristics, thereby rendering services of signal worth to the A.E.F.

The citation on page 13 of G.O. No. 89, W.D., 1919, relating to Col. George A. Lynch, Engineer Corps, is rescinded.

John Millikin, captain, Cav., then lieutenant colonel, U.S.A. As executive officer and assistant director of the Army General Staff College, at Langres, he rendered conspicuous services. Later, as chief of the Military Police Corps Division of the Provost Marshal General's Department, A.E.F., by his ability, untiring zeal and sound judgment he aided in a material way in producing an efficient organization. He has rendered services of great value to the A.E.F.

CANDIDATES FOR WEST POINT.

The following candidates have been designated in the week ending Oct. 6 for the Military Academy entrance examination to be held beginning on March 1, 1921, with a view to admission to the Academy on July 1, 1921: Colorado, 1st Dist., Robert P. Clark, 2d alt., Denver. Iowa, 6th Dist., George W. M. Dudley, Sigourney. Minnesota, 9th Dist., John H. Duckstad, Fertile.

WEST POINT.

West Point, N.Y., Oct. 7, 1920.

The first officers' hop of the season was held on Friday evening at Cullum Hall, with a large attendance of officers and ladies of the post. The members of the new detail were welcomed and the guests received by General MacArthur and Mrs. Arthur MacArthur. Supper was served at the officers' mess and a charming home talent program delighted everybody. Mrs. Bonilla and her cousin, Miss McKenna, and Captain Hibbs sang. Mrs. Guion played the piano, and Captain Considine gave a monologue. A quartet of stringed music also played. On Monday afternoon the corps was reviewed by Gen. Marie Emile Fayolle, of the French army, and party, who spent a few hours at the post. The distinguished soldier was received with a salute of seventeen guns. He came to the United States for the purpose of attending the second annual convention of the American Legion held in Cleveland last week.

Before the hop on Friday the class of 1913 had a dinner at the officers' mess, among those present being Capt. and Mrs. Dorst, Brewster, Crittenden, T. K. Brown, Ross, Greene, Peale, King, Newcomer, Keyes, Spencer, Thurman, Considine, Van Volkenburg and Captain Newgarden. Major and Mrs. Lewis Brown entertained at dinner on Tuesday, when their guests were Col. and Mrs. Robinson, Timberlake, Reynolds, Danford and Captains Rafferty and Potter.

Major and Mrs. Purdon gave a dinner at the hotel on Tuesday to celebrate Major Purdon's birthday. The guests were Majors and Mrs. Morrison, MacMillan, Rice, Avery and Devers. Mrs. Spence gave a tea on Thursday afternoon or her guest, Mrs. Rufus J. Trimble, of Houston, Texas. Tea was poured by Mrs. T. K. Brown and Mrs. Surles served ices. The hostess was assisted by Miss Anderson, Haddock, Guyer, Mitchell, Miss Hayes and Woolsey. Miss Fieberger spent several days last week as the guest of Miss Heroy, at Stamford. Col. and Mrs. Reynolds had dinner on Friday for Lieut. and Mrs. Gauthier, Majors Card and Kenner and Miss Minard.

Col. and Mrs. Danford were guests of Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan at luncheon on Tuesday. Col. and Mrs. Timberlake had dinner before the cadet hop on Saturday for the Misses Margaret Hertford, Peggy Jones and Marian Woolsey, and Cadets Olmsted, Stout, Hartford and Timberlake. Mrs. Prichard had tea on Thursday for Mrs. Woodhull, of San Antonio, Texas, who is soon to return home after spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Crittenden. Among the guests were Mrs. Reynolds, Timberlake, Danford, Lewis Brown, Crittenden, Dawley, Hobbs and McWane. Mrs. Danford spent several days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Van Alstyne at Kinderhook.

A number of West point people motored to Taxedo on Saturday to attend the open-air performance of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" at the country place of Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt. Among them were Col. and Mrs. Carter, Majors and Mrs. Surles and Purdon and Captains Rafferty and Harris. Mrs. Cleveland Garrison, of Washington, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Householder. Major Card has returned to the post after an absence of several weeks. Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Whitman, of New York, and their two little sons were guests of Col. and Mrs. Reynolds for the week-end. Dr. Whitman was formerly in the Medical Corps.

Mrs. William Upson was the week-end guest of his uncle and cousin, Colonel Fieberger and Miss Fieberger. Mrs. Newcomer gave a pretty bridge party on Tuesday afternoon for her cousin, Miss Culbertson, of Lewistown, Pa., and for Miss Fieberger, Mrs. MacMillan, Bonesteel, Devers, Dorst, Gage, Youngs, Thurman, Greene, Prichard and Bonfils. Prizes were won by Mrs. Bonesteel, Prichard and Greene. Mrs. Mettler and her mother, Mrs. Williams, and Miss Woolsey came in for tea, which was poured by Mrs. Dorst. Mrs. Devers serving ices. Mrs. Rufus J. Trimble, who has been the guest of Mrs. Spence, left on Tuesday for her home at Houston, Texas. Mrs. Westlake, who has spent the summer with her daughter, Mrs. O'Hara, is to leave in a few days for her home at Minneapolis. The small son of Lieut. and Mrs. Gauthier was christened on Saturday by Rev. Father Murdock, of Holy Trinity Chapel. The little boy, Philippe Jean Camille Gauthier, was sponsored by Mr. Louis Vauthier and Miss Minard.

Grace O'Hara delighted her small friends with a birthday party on Tuesday afternoon. Those who helped celebrate her fourth anniversary were the Misses Anne Lee Brown, Beverly Brown, Frances Devers, Peggy Avery, Betty Butcher, Isabel Waldbull, Beatrice Daly, Janet Danford, Rosemary Newman, Louise MacMillan, Dolores Azenale, Rebecca Newcomer, Helen Wilson, Betty Gage, Betty Youngs, Masters Louis Rice, Day Surles, Brooks Wilson, Sidney and Ted Bingham and Laddie O'Hara. Mrs. O'Hara was assisted by Mrs. Danford, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Brooks, Mrs. Surles and Mrs. Newman. There will be an officers' tea-dance every Saturday afternoon in Memorial Hall immediately after the athletic contests, or from 4 until 6 p.m. if there are no athletics. The Spaulding cup has been won by the Cavalry Detachment baseball team.

The Army football season was opened on Oct. 2 with that rare gridiron event a "double-header," the cadets playing teams from Union College, of Schenectady, N.Y., and from Marshall College, of Huntington, W.Va. Both games resulted in victories for the Army, the scores being 35 to 0 in the Union game and 38 to 0 in the Marshall contest. The eleven selected to meet Union was composed of first string men, with the veterans of the 1919 team, Breidster, Greene and Wilhide, playing in the same positions as in the Army-Navy game of Nov. 29, 1919. Union held the Army scoreless in the opening period, but after that the cadets had everything their own way, the scores for the remaining three periods being 14, 14 and 7, respectively. Of the new men on the team, French, who played on the Rutgers eleven last year, did the most effective work. He accounted for twenty-four of the Army's points, running one punt back through the whole Union team for a touchdown, the play being thirty-eight yards. He also made two fifty-yard runs for touchdowns. A few attempts were made at airline plays by the Army, only one of which was completed. The Army line-up for this game was: White, r.e.; Davidson, r.t.; Breidster, r.g.; Greene, center; Clark, l.g.; L. J. Storck, l.t.; D. G. Storck, l.e.; Wilhide, q.b.; Ebersole, r.h.; Richards, l.h.; French, f.b. Touchdowns: French (4), Wilhide. Goals from touchdowns: Breidster (5). Substitutions: Stewart for Clark.

The eleven that faced Marshall was made up completely of second line cadets. They tried several forward passes, few of which were completed. Butler, who was put in as substitute for Warren at left half after the first period, was the outstanding member of the team in this game. The Army line-up was: Reeder, r.e.; Pitzer, r.t.; Goodman, r.g.; Strohecker, center; Mulligan, l.g.; Triplett, l.t.; Doyle, l.e.; Lawrence, q.b.; Bennett, r.h.; Warren, l.h.; Dodd, f.b. The score by period was 14, 6, 0, 0. Touchdowns: Butler 6 (4), Warren, Bennett. Goals from touchdowns: Mulligan (2).

Abbott, wife of Commander Abbott, aid to Rear Admiral Scaler, Superintendent of the Academy, and daughter, who spent the summer at Jamestown, R.I., have closed their cottage there and returned here. Commander Abbott, who also spent his month's leave at Jamestown, returned to the Academy two weeks ago. Lieut. and Mrs. C. R. Crutcher and children motored here from New London, Conn., to visit Mrs. Crutcher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Redmond.

The Ship's Inn, a popular naval resort, reopens to-morrow for the season with Miss Wiley manager for Mr. W. O. Stevens and Mrs. Oliphant, wife of Major Oliphant, U.S.A. Miss Julia Dowd will assist Miss Wiley. Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Wickham have occupied the new residence they have bought on Maryland avenue. Mrs. Wickham's mother, Mrs. Miller, and sister, Miss Jane Miller, are with them.

By a score of 14 to 7, North Carolina State defeated the midshipmen in the latter's opening game on Saturday. North Carolina had not only a heavier and stronger team, but one which was faster and capable of playing a more varied game than the midshipmen. Three-fourths of the forward pass plays attempted by them were successful, and on several occasions they made long runs around the Navy's end, particularly on the left side of the line. The visitors scored, first, after ten minutes of play, on a forward pass from Faucette to Johnson. They scored again, using the same play, after five minutes of the second half. Koehler, who has been ill, was succeeded by Noyes from the New York Military Academy, who did the best work for the Navy from that point. In fact, the best showing for the local team was made by first-year men. Late in the second half the midshipmen scored, Noyes carrying the ball over after a series of line plunges and several successful short passes, from Noyes to Swart. A wonderful punt by Park dashed the Navy's hopes, finally. Late in the last quarter the midshipmen carried the ball to North Carolina's fifteen-yard line, but lost it on a fumble. Park booted the ball over the heads of the Navy backs, and they did not recover it short of their own fifteen-yard line.

In order to adjust all details in connection with the return of the racing shells used by the midshipmen in the Olympic games at Antwerp Comdr. Joseph R. Morrison, who had charge of the rowing party during the trip abroad and who returned from Europe a few days ago, has been temporarily attached to Fort Bliss, Texas, Oct. 2, 1920.

Colonel Langhorne entertained at dinner on Sept. 22. The guests were Col. and Mrs. White, Col. and Mrs. Symmonds, Mrs. E. M. Leary and others. Colonel Lewis entertained a number of friends at dinner at Welcome Inn, Ysleta, on Sunday. A son was born to Lieut. and Mrs. Waldron, 7th Cav., on Sept. 21 at this post. One of the most interesting affairs of the week was the shower given by Mrs. Wetmore and Mrs. Goodwin in honor of Miss Katherine Symmonds, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Symmonds, 7th Cav. An enormous basket held the gifts for Miss Symmonds. When the string was pulled the bottom fell out, displaying many lovely things useful for the college girl. Refreshments carrying out the red and white motif were served after the games. The guests included the matrons and maids of the 7th Cavalry. Miss Symmonds left for Washington, D.C., on Wednesday.

The 10th Cavalry polo team has arrived to compete with teams of the El Paso district. On Wednesday the 82d F.A. team played the Remount team and won by 14-4. This is the second of a series of games to be played at Fort Bliss to determine the championship team. Col. Henry Newbold entertained on Thursday with a dinner in honor of Capt. and Mrs. A. M. Harper, who transferred from the 5th to the 82d F.A. The guests were Col. and Mrs. Eastman, Capt. and Mrs. Harper, Capt. and Mrs. White, Colonel Langhorne, Mrs. Peck, Mrs. Leary, Lieut. J. E. Fye and his mother, Mrs. Harriet Fye. The third game of the tournament was played Sunday between the 7th and the 82d F.A. The score was 10-1 in favor of the 7th Cavalry.

Major John Arner Robinson, captain of the 10th Cavalry polo team, and members of the team were guests at a dinner dance given on Saturday last by Col. Jack Lewis, 8th Cav. The invited guests were Major Robinson, Capt. Leo Effenhann, Scotten, Glass and Lieutenant Healy, and Mrs. Margaret Rowley, Mrs. W. J. Peck, Miss Olive Davis, Miss Virginia Bean, Mrs. R. D. Weyerbacher, Mrs. Joseph Haaga, Mrs. O. P. Lomas and Col. Jack Lewis. Major Robinson is being extensively entertained during his visit here. He is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Rowley. On Wednesday evening Mrs. R. D. Weyerbacher gave a dinner for Major Robinson and his mother, Mrs. W. J. Peck, Capt. Leo Effenhann and C. W. Graves were among the guests. Mrs. Rowley entertained with an informal dinner on Friday evening at Welcome Inn, Ysleta, for her son, Mrs. R. D. Weyerbacher, Mrs. Joseph Haaga, Major Robinson, Captain Effenhann and Col. Jack Lewis.

The dinner dance given by the married officers of the Air service for the bachelor officers of the Service on Wednesday was informal and altogether delightful. Place cards containing comic rhymes appropriate to each guest caused much merriment. Capt. L. A. Walton was toastmaster. Lieut. U. L. Bouquet

SAN DIEGO AND NEARBY BASES.

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 2, 1920.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. V. D. Dixon and Miss Josephine Dixon have arrived for the winter and have taken apartments at the Balboa. While on maneuver grounds south of this port the U. S. Bailey crashed into the U. S. Swasey, during smoke screen practice last Thursday, the impact curling back the prow of the Bailey for about fifteen feet. The Swasey was only slightly damaged. The Bailey will be taken to the Mare Island Yard for repairs. Col. and Mrs. F. M. Hinkle, of Fort Rosecrans, were hosts at a beach supper recently, their guests including Major and Mrs. Frank Drake, Captain Sullivan, Mrs. G. E. A. Reinburg, Miss Janette Smith, Lieutenant Davis, Mrs. Wiley and Messrs. Crawford and J. W. Nicoll.

Capt. and Mrs. J. H. Tomb entertained last Saturday with a dancing party at the Officers' Club at the Naval Air Station on North Island. About 400 guests attended. Mrs. J. N. McTiguan has arrived from the East and will remain here while Lieutenant McTiguan is on this station. Between May 16 and July 31 the pilots of the 9th Aero Squadron, of Rockwell Field, North Island, who have been engaged in aerial forestry patrol operations in this state, covered a total flight of over 6,247,091 square miles of timber lands, with a total of 1,995 hours left. They located and reported 464 fires during the season. The units were based at Sacramento, Fresno, Red Bluff, Calif., and Medford and Eugene, Ore.

Mrs. Walter A. Smead has returned to Hotel del Coronado after having been a patient in a hospital at San Francisco for several weeks. Major and Mrs. J. B. Corbly and sons are making a visit at Coronado. Major Corbly is on leave from San Antonio. Capt. and Mrs. Taylor Evans have taken a house at 720 B avenue, Coronado, while Captain Evans is here with the Pacific Fleet.

Comdr. and Mrs. Ellis Lando have had an arrival in their home. A son, Robert Ellis Lando, on Saturday, Rear Admiral Roger Welles spoke at the luncheon of the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday and at the luncheon of the San Diego Ad Club on Wednesday. He told the business men about the enlarged Navy operations at this port and what they mean to the city. Capt. G. A. Williams, U.S.M.C., who has been spending a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Williams, in East San Diego, has returned to his station in San Domingo.

The Reserve Destroyers' baseball team defeated the 31st Division last Saturday by a score of 14 to 0. In a game against the Golden Hill team the Aroostook team won, 6-4. In a sixteen-event program at the "Y" service plunge on the harbor front last Saturday a number of contests were won by men from the U. S. S. Salem, the U. S. S. Melville and the Naval Air Station.

FORT SNELLING.

Fort Snelling, Minn., Oct. 2, 1920.

Capt. and Mrs. A. K. Kupfer entertained on Friday at a buffet supper for twenty-four guests, later taking them to the dance at the hostess house. Captain Kupfer is to leave tomorrow for Camp Upton, N.Y., sailing later for Panama. Mrs. Kupfer and her mother, Mrs. E. C. Hunt, will remain here for a week before leaving for Captain Kupfer's new station. The first formal dance of the fall season was given on Friday evening by the officers and ladies of the 49th Infantry. Many guests from Minneapolis and St. Paul motored out for the affair. Several informal dinners were given before the dance. Mrs. Girard Sturtevant was hostess on Tuesday afternoon for the Afternoon Bridge Club. Mrs. Rockwell and her daughter, Mrs. Stephens, who were guests of Mrs. P. H. Mullay, have returned to their home in Chicago. Miss Oriana Jenkins, of Minneapolis, Minn., is the guest of Major and Mrs. B. W. Field while en route to Ann Arbor, Mich.

Capt. and Mrs. Edward G. Sherburne have arrived here from Washington, D.C. Their many friends in St. Paul and Minneapolis are delighted at their return to this garrison after an absence of four years. They were stationed here before the World War with the 36th Infantry. Captain Sherburne is on duty at the University of Minnesota. Mrs. P. H. Mullay, wife of Colonel Mullay, left on Tuesday for Washington Lake, Wash., where the Colonel is stationed. Chaplain and Mrs. C. L. Miller entertained to-day at a prettily appointed children's party in honor of their son Malcolm's second birthday. Twenty-six little folks of the post attended.

Lieut. and Mrs. O. T. Alexander, of Great Falls, Mont., are guests of Mrs. Alexander's sister, Mrs. Ambrose Whaley, at St. Paul. Lieut. and Mrs. Alexander recently returned from Siberia and the Orient. Col. and Mrs. Archibald O. Powell and son James, of Washington, D.C., who are motoring to Seattle, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Du Sane, 1424 14th avenue, St. Paul. Major and Mrs. George Harris, who are now in Atlanta, Ga., were to leave to-day for their new station at Camp Travis, Texas. Later they are to come here to visit Mrs. Harris's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saffick.

Lieut. Dana O. Schmah, of Camp Funston, Kas., arrived to-day and is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Schmah. Mr. Schmah is Secretary of State of Minnesota. The wedding of Miss Edythe M. Hills, of Minneapolis, and Lieutenant Schmah is to take place on Oct. 9 at the home of the bride's parents. Major and Mrs. W. G. Marchison are to leave next week for their new station at Fort Leavenworth, Kas.

STATE FORCES.

Recruiting some of the organizations for the Massachusetts National Guard has been attended with such poor results that Adjutant General Stevens has issued orders closing the state armories at Newton, Attleboro and Milford. The companies occupying the above mentioned armories have been shifted to other armories for the completion of their personnel and the buildings thus vacated will be used for storage of military equipment. The Newton unit will henceforth make its headquarters at the Commonwealth Armory, where more satisfactory progress is being made in securing men for the new organization of state troops.

NEW YORK.

The New York State Court of Claims has awarded $5,000 to Andrew Lewis, of New York, for the death of his son, Julius, a former member of the 21st Company, 9th Coast Artillery of the National Guard. Young Lewis died of injuries received in an accident while hoisting camp equipment from the balcony of the regiment's armory on West Fourteenth street. The court held that as he was in the service of the state the award was due his estate. The announcement of the award was made on Sept. 1, 1920, at Albany.

The armory of the 65th Regiment of Field Artillery, New York Guard of Buffalo, is open on Sundays to enlisted men from 9 to 11:30 o'clock a.m. and from 2 to 6 o'clock p.m. All members of the regiment must have a membership card for admittance to the armory, which is not transferable, and which must be produced at the door when asked for. There are bowling alleys, pool room, library, baths, gymnasium and rifle range for the benefit of members. Drills in the armory commenced on Sept. 13, and Colonel Hobble, commanding the 65th, arranged an instructive program. Specialists receive instruction in instruments, machine guns, automatic rifles, motors and tractors.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

The Answers Department is intended for the information of all readers of the paper. We do not answer questions as to personal standing in examinations or individual prospects of appointment or call to duty. Inquiries are so numerous and so varied in character, and in so many cases require time for special research, that we are unable to respond to the request for a personal reply to letters. Inquiries will be answered in the paper as soon as possible after their receipt. Questions must be accompanied by name and address of inquirer.

RESERVE OFFICER.—The pay of an emergency officer appointed to a commission in the Regular Army commences with the date of his acceptance of the commission. He can be honorably discharged at once as an emergency, to accept an appointment in the Regular Army. An applicant for a commission must fill out a blank form of acceptance furnished within forty-eight hours after the receipt of notification of his appointment.

A. S. B.—(1) When did the 2d Cavalry arrive in the P.I. on their last tour of duty there? (2) When did the 6th Cavalry arrive in China for the Boxer uprising? Answer: (1) 2d Cavalry Hqs., B, C, D, F, G, H, I, K, L and M, were in the Philippines from December, 1900, to June, 1912; Troops A and E, 2d Cav., in the Philippines from February, 1910, to June, 1912. (2) Hqs., A, B, C, D, I, K, L and M, 2d Cav., arrived in China July 3, 1900.

J.W.—You had better state your case to the Department of Finance, Washington, D.C., through the channel.

C. P. J.—There is some mistake in your question sent to us, as you could not have been dishonorably discharged without trial. If tried and sentenced to Disciplinary Barracks, and later restored to duty, your time served previously to dishonorable discharge will count towards retirement.

TRAVEL PAY.—An officer of the Army on discharge from Service is entitled to travel pay at the rate of four cents a mile, according to act of March 2, 1901 (31 Statute 902). See Par. 1597 (Manual for Q.M.C.).

C. M. asks: (1) Are first sergeants entitled to quarters under the act of May 18, 1901? (2) If quarters are not available cannot first sergeant put in claim for commutation of quarters, heat and light like other sergeants of that same grade (Grade 2)? (3) First sergeants are entitled to one extra ration for one room; is the room with troops in barracks considered the room that he draws the ration for, or is it the one in Par. 11? Answer: (1) Under decision of Comptroller, May 27, 1920 (page 26, Compt., Dec. 962), it has been held that first sergeants are entitled to commutation of quarters under Sec. 2, Act of May 18, 1901, which relates to dependent commutation. (2) Yes, if he has dependents. (3) There is no connection between ration and quarters, as first sergeants are entitled to the additional ration regardless whether or not they draw commutation of quarters.

A.D.—You are not entitled to a bonus of $90 at this time, but upon your honorable discharge, however, after your present three-years' enlistment expires, you will receive under the present law an enlistment allowance equal to three times the monthly pay of a soldier of the seventh grade.

H. W. S.—Under the amended National Defense act, a soldier who enlists or re-enlists for a period of three years will, upon his honorable discharge, receive an enlistment allowance equal to three times the monthly pay of a soldier of the seventh grade. This new law took effect July 1, 1920.

W. G.—Write to The A.G.O. of the Army through the channel for the information you desire as to the sailing dates and arrivals of certain Army transports.

F.M.—The 9th U.S. Infantry was in Cuba in 1898 as follows: Hqs. and A, B, C, D, E, F, G and H, June 14 to Aug. 14; Philippines and China—Hqs., A, F, G, L, 9th Infantry, March 24, 1899, to June 20, 1902. C, D, E, H and K, 9th Infantry, March 28, 1899, to June 20, 1902. I, 9th Infantry, from March 24, 1899, to June 13, 1902. B, 9th Infantry, from March 28, 1899, to Oct. 31, 1905. The 9th Inf., except B, was in Philippines from May 2, 1905, to Aug. 13, 1907. Hqs. and A, B, C, D, E, F, G and H, 9th Infantry, in Philippines from April 5, 1910, to July 11, 1912, and I, K, L and M, 9th Infantry, from April 5, 1910, to Aug. 13, 1912.

CAVALRY asks: (1) When will promotions in Cavalry, Reg. Army, from first lieutenant to captain be made? (2) Lineal number of about the first ten, Sept. 1, physically qualified? (3) Many in this grade will be promoted, and from when will they rank? Answer: (1) As soon as the newly commissioned officers are placed on the promotion list, and appointments are completed, first lieutenants will then be promoted, but probably not before Jan. 1 next. (2) The lineal number of first ten cannot be given now or the number to be promoted, as it depends on appointment of emergency officers. The officers promoted will take rank from July 1, 1920.

W. W.—A, B, C and D, 1st Cavalry, were in Philippines from Aug. 7, 1900, to Sept. 17, 1903, and E, F, G and H, 1st Cavalry, were in Philippines from Aug. 16, 1902, to Oct. 10, 1903.

LETH-R-FUDE

(Leather Food)

for CLEANSING and PRESERVING SHOES, PUTTEES, LUGGAGE,
HARNESS AND SADDLERY

OFFICERS AND ENLISTED MEN—here's the only complete preparation for use on leather. Soaps merely cleanse, making it necessary to apply an oil or other softening agent after "washing." LETH-R-FUDE saves half the labor and produces double the result. Cleanses leather and, in addition, nourishes or feeds it with the necessary oils—neatsfoot and cod—which penetrate the substance of leather, leaving no grease on the surface—only a soft gloss finish. Containing only a very low moisture content, LETH-R-FUDE outlasts soap and is therefore more economical. Another advantage of LETH-R-FUDE: contains no free alkali to attack the natural oils in leather. Buy LETH-R-FUDE at your post exchange; or write direct to us, inclosing 65c for a full-size can, postage prepaid. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

"THE CADENCE SYSTEM of CLOSE ORDER DRILL"

By Lieutenant Colonel BERNARD LENTZ, General Staff

CADENCE is the life of close order drill. Without CADENCE, correct, exact, interesting and enjoyable close order drill is impossible.

This book teaches CADENCE; CADENCE in commands and CADENCE in execution.

A new popular song does not spread more rapidly among music lovers who enjoy and appreciate rhythm than this CADENCE system has spread in the many camps where it has been introduced.

The CADENCE system is in accord with Infantry Drill Regulations.

Every footstep in every close order movement is illustrated.

Every man becomes his own Drill Master. Read what well known experts have to say:

General David C. Shanks: "It made a wonderful improvement in the drill of the men at Kearny."

General E. A. Helmick: "It brings precision and snapness and unison more quickly than anything I have ever seen."

Colonel F. J. Morrow: "I consider this method of teaching close order drill a most valuable and efficient means of imparting to recruits a clear idea of what is wanted and of obtaining a high degree of precision."

General Peter E. Traub: "Any man who understands the psychological processes at work in education will be enthusiastic over this system of drill."

General Charles King: "Colonel Lentz and his CADENCE System of Close Order Drill will be acclaimed by every man who believes in the benefits of snap, style, and soldierly precision."

FORT RILEY.

Fort Riley, Kas., Oct. 2, 1920.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. R. E. Smyser celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary by a charming dinner on Tuesday. Their guests included Colonel Cameron, Col. and Mmes. Hawkins and Cavanaugh, Lieut. Col. and Mmes. Hayne, Novell, Lear, Bach, Sherburne, T. B. Taylor, Chapman, Richmond, Ralph Parker, Major Liniger and Capt. J. B. Thompson. There are fifty-two officers from West Point in the basic class instead of thirty-two, the number first expected, owing to many transfers into the Cavalry branch.

Work is being pushed in remodeling some temporary buildings into quarters for the new basic class. The Red Cross building in the center is being refitted to be used as an assembly and hop room.

Miss Margaret Scott has opened the children's school at Fort Riley. Masters Stanley Winn and Hamilton Hawkins left on Sept. 19 to attend school in the Ensign School in Minnesota. Col. and Mrs. Sweeney and Miss Francis Sweeney left on Saturday evening for their new station at Monterey, Calif. They will be greatly missed by their many friends at Fort Riley.

Major and Mrs. C. P. Stearns and daughter and infant son arrived in the post on Thursday. Major Stearns has assumed his duties as secretary of the Cavalry school. The 1st Cavalry school polo team went to Wichita on Sunday to play the Wichita and Colorado Springs teams, the players being Majors Cullum, Liniger and Swift and W. W. Irwin. Mrs. Cameron and her mother, Mrs. Clifford, Miss Margaret Cameron and Mrs. J. B. Thompson and two small daughters arrived on Saturday from Fisher's Island, where they spent the summer. Miss Josephine Wilson came over from Leavenworth on Saturday and was the week-end guest of Col. and Mrs. Cavanaugh.

Miss Nancy Hawkins gave a tea on Sunday afternoon for Miss Margaret Cameron, Mrs. George Wiltshire, who has just returned from Richmond, Va., where she spent the summer, poured tea. The guests included Miss Margaret Cameron, Katherine Winn, Josephine Wilson, Boesacker, Lieutenants Wharton, Unger, Winchester, Glover, Beyers, Sears, Whitehead, Hoge and Wofford.

Polo teams are to arrive here soon to participate in the Cavalry school polo tournament, to be held between Oct. 16 and 24. The team from Fort D. A. Russell consists of Lieut. N. E. Waldron, Major Henry A. Meyer, Lieut. W. A. Falck and Capt. G. E. Andrew, all 15th Cavalry. That from Fort Sill is composed of Majors Ralph McT. Pennell, Cortland Parker, John T. Kennedy, Capt. Freeman W. Bowley, and Major Walter S. Sturgill as substitute. Major Clifford R. Norton is captain of the team from Camp Pike, the other members of the team not yet being known. The Cheyenne Mountain Country Club of Colorado Springs, Colo., has entered a team, and there will be one from Junction City and Kansas City, Mo. The Cavalry school will enter three teams, one from the 2d Cavalry and the other two composed of instructor personnel. The team from the 2d Cavalry consists of Capt. Jack Thompson, Major Arthur W. Holderness and Lieut. Charles A. Horger and Capt. V. V. Taylor. The instructor personnel consists of the Sanfowers and the Blue Jays. The former includes Majors Grove Cullum, Clarence Liniger, Palmer Swift and W. W. Erwin. The Blue Jays is composed of Majors Guy W. Chipman, J. P. Alshire, Edgar W. Taulbee and Capt. Karl H. Gorman. Camp Funston has entered a team, but the players have not yet been selected.

FORT CROOK.

Fort Crook, Nebr., Sept. 26, 1920.

The arrival of several more officers for duty at 7th Corps Area headquarters has increased the staff to some extent. Capt. W. M. Robertson has reported for duty as assistant to the Inspector General. Major A. M. Graham, Q.M.C., reported on Sept. 20 as assistant to the area quartermaster and has taken quarters No. 11. Major O. H. Muller, Cav., has reported and is R.O.T.C. officer. Major C. B. Hodges, I.G.D., assistant to the inspector, arrived last week from the 6th Corps Area. He and his mother are now living in quarters No. 25. Capt. Hugh C. Gilchrist, Inf., has reported from Camp Funston and is acting post quartermaster. The Ak-Sar-Ben festival, which commenced on Sept. 13, has been drawing huge crowds to Omaha. The officers at corps headquarters have been guests of the festival committee at the races and other celebrations. Major Gen. and Mrs. Bundy occupied a box with Governor McKelvie, of Nebraska, on Sept. 14. Colonel Upton, chief of staff, Col. and Mrs. B. R. Wade and Col. and Mrs. Miller occupied another box.

Lieut. Col. Claude S. Fries, G.S., has reported and is busily engaged with the numerous phases of work connected with war plans and training. Mrs. Fries and children are with him. They have taken quarters No. 21. The Corps Headquarters Club and mess was organized on Sept. 20, taking over the 20th Infantry mess. On Tuesday the 20th Infantry held an informal going-away hop at the Service Club, which was attended by officers from corps headquarters and the 20th. An enjoyable evening was spent at the Service Club last Sunday. Chaplain Trett having arranged a farewell program for the boys of the 20th and their friends. The Wallace-Williams quartet rendered some very delightful and entertaining musical numbers. Chaplain Trett gave a short talk, followed by a prayer. A five-reel feature movie concluded the program. The swimming pool continues to be a popular place for members of the garrison during their recreational hours.

FORT SHERIDAN.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., Sept. 30, 1920.

For the last two years Fort Sheridan has served as a reconstruction hospital, approximately 5,000 wounded men from the A.E.F. having at one time or another been under treatment within its spacious and extended wards. Under the administration of the Medical Corps a large number of surgeons and nurses were required for reconstruction work and occupied quarters in the post. To-day but a small handful of patients remain and the large force of nurses and surgeons has been either discharged or transferred to other stations. Among those recently receiving orders for transfer are Col. and Mrs. W. N. Bispham, Med. Corps, who take station at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. Colonel Bispham relinquishes command of the post, and it is with much regret that his many friends at Fort Sheridan and vicinity say good-bye to him and Mrs. Bispham. A farewell hop was given in their honor on Friday, at which a handsome bar pin was presented to Mrs. Bispham as a token of the regard in which she is held by members of the garrison. On Oct. 1 headquarters of the newly created 6th Corps Area will take command and occupy the post. The offices will be located in the large brick barrack building fronting the parade ground. Extensive changes are now being made. Final disposition of the old hospital buildings covering the parade ground is still in abeyance. Among the officers of 6th Corps Area headquarters who have taken quarters are General Wood, Colonels McCain, Helmick, McCoy, Chitty, Devore, McCulloch, Baker, Hess; Lieutenant Colonels Cowan, Johnston, Patterson, Ball; Majors Saunders, Nelly, George and Peck. General Wood attended the American Legion Convention at Cleveland on Tuesday as guest of honor, together with General Fayolle, of the French army, and Admiral Grant, of the British navy. Brig. Gen. George Bell, commanding at Camp Grant, was a brief visitor at Corps headquarters on Monday. Col. F. M. Caldwell recently reported for duty in the Inspector General's Department.

FOURTH DIVISION NOTES.

Camp Lewis, Wash., Sept. 24, 1920.

Major Gen. Charles A. Muir, commanding Camp Lewis, and Mrs. Muir were guests of honor at a reception and ball on Thursday evening. Lieut. Col. and Mrs. L. L. Gregg entertained at dinner preceding the reception. Among those present were Col. and Mmes. Le Roy Eltinge, Otho W. B. Farr, Paul H. McCook, Col. R. B. Parrott and P. H. Mullan. The battle flags of the organizations of the 4th Division were prominent in the decorations of the reception hall. The review in honor of the governors of the Northwest, held on Saturday afternoon, was of unusual interest. Several airplanes flew over the marching troops and a photograph of the formation was taken from a large balloon. The big guns of one of the Artillery regiments were drawn up on one side of the parade grounds. General Muir and his staff inspected them after the review.

The Ladies of the Community Service, under the leadership of Mrs. W. W. Seymour and Mrs. C. M. Riddell, will hold an informal reception for the ladies of the camp on Wednesday evening at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club in Tacoma. More than 170 invitations have been sent out. Lieut. Col. William S. Mapes and Lieut. Arcadi Gluckman are due to leave about Oct. 1 on a hunting expedition to the Olympia Mountains. The tennis courts have been well patronized during the past week and many close contests have resulted. Among the leading players were Colonels Mullaney and Parrott, Major Stiness and Lieutenants Barnett, Mallory and Saul.

Volley ball has been popular with members of the 39th Infantry mess. The following "existed" after the elimination contests: Majors Stiness and Cole, Captains Eddy, Cahill, Bonny and Bell and Lieutenants Stepard, Hunt, Ferguson and Williams. Capt. Alpha Brumage, 77th F.A., a former Middle West football star, is coaching the gridiron experts of the camp. A squad of about forty appeared at the try-out on Wednesday. Among the most likely football stars are Captain Federick, 59th F.A., formerly on Worcester College team; Lieut. Schrader, 4th Engrs., West Point; Lieut. Hahn, 4th Engrs., former West Point quarterback; Lieut. Ryan, 47th Inf., former Tufts College quarterback; Lieut. Rogers, 17th F.A., Texas A. and M.; Lieut. McNaught, Div. Hqs., Mass. Aggies; Capt. Grow, Base Hosp., Johns Hopkins College; Sergt. Farmer, 11th M.G. Batln., Michigan Aggies.

Camp Lewis, Wash., Sept. 26, 1920.

Major Gen. Charles H. Muir, commanding officer here, spoke before the Seattle Chamber of Commerce on Friday concerning military aspects on the West Coast and the colonization of dry lands of the Northwest as a support for new lines of defense. Brig. Gen. George B. Duncan arrived during the week and has taken command of the 7th Infantry, composed of the 39th and 47th Regiments. Lieut. Col. Paul H. McCook, commanding the 39th Infantry, has been detailed to the Infantry school at Camp Benning. Capt. M. S. Eddy, 39th Inf., left on Thursday and Major Henry S. Rogers, adjutant of the 7th Infantry Brigade, has returned to duty from the hospital after a minor operation. The Camp Lewis Gun Club was reorganized Thursday evening at a meeting in the officers' club. A hunting lodge will be maintained at Nisqually Lake for members. Lieut. Col. A. J. Harris was elected president, Major Napoleon W. Riley manager, and Captain Jones secretary. Major Jason M. Walling has arrived here for station, and will have charge of the inspector's office.

The division football team is practising regularly and will be in shape to begin schedule games soon. Various organizations of the camp are now coming forward with strong teams and close competition within the camp is expected. Owing to the quarantine of horses and ponies, following the movement of the division to Camp Lewis, it has been impossible to continue polo practice recently, but it is expected the game will be revived when the weather permits.

SEVENTH DIVISION.

Camp Funston, Kas., Sept. 27, 1920.

A detachment of four officers and fifty men left here by truck last Thursday for Kansas City, Mo. The detachment is in command of Lieut. C. D. Brown, 8th F.A., and its objective is a tour of Northern Missouri, from Kansas City to St. Louis, in the combined interests of Army publicity and the good roads movement. The personnel of the detachment included a band, a ball team and several public speakers. The trucks were decorated with many colored recruiting signs advertising Camp Funston and various arms of the Service, and, in addition with the slogan of the Good Roads Federation, which includes an admonition to "Lift Kansas and Missouri out of the mud." Members of the detachment were confident of an enjoyable trip with other field conditions and expect to make many friends for the Army along their route. The recruiting detachment of the 80th F.A., which has been exhibiting in Kansas City, and the Kansas Free Fair, in Topeka, returned to camp by marching, and spent the week-end in Camp Funston before leaving for the fair at Abilene on Monday.

Commendation for officers and men of the Provisional Battalion, which has just returned from duty at Denver, Colo., has been received by its commanding officer, Lieut. Col. F. B. De Funiak, Jr., from Col. C. G. Ballou, who commanded the U.S. troops in Denver. According to Colonel Ballou, the officers and men of the battalion displayed attention to duty, accompanied by fairness, patience, forbearance and good judgment, which won the unstinted commendation of the people of Denver without regard to their personal bias as to the merits of the controversy between the street car employers and employees. The model farm of the E. and R. school has been busy all summer, even though the schools were closed. When schools open next week the farmer students will see the results of their summer industry. Fort Crook, Neb., Sept. 29, 1920.

Eleven officers and 139 enlisted men of the 20th Infantry left Fort Crook on Sept. 26. A number of friends from Omaha were at the Fort Crook station to see them off. Company H, 49th Infantry, arrived on Sept. 23 from Fort Snelling for duty here, replacing the 3d Battalion of the 20th Infantry. Capt. Mark W. Clark is in command.

Major John E. Gould has reported as assistant to the surgeon. Lieut. Col. R. K. Cravens reported on Sept. 23 for duty as finance officer, 7th Corps Area. Lieut. Col. Fred V. S. Chamberlain reported the same day for duty as officer in charge of militia affairs. He was accompanied by Mrs. Chamberlain and two children.

Major Gen. Omar Bundy delivered a strong speech favoring the National Guard at the Bet Theta Pi fraternity meeting at the University Club, Omaha, on Sept. 23. The General is a member of the fraternity, and a staunch supporter of the National Guard. Col. Amos W. Kimball, Q.M.C., reported on Sept. 27 for duty as Corps Area Quartermaster, relieving Lieut. Col. Clifford Game, Q.M.C., who goes to Camp Grant.

FORT LEAVENWORTH.

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 27, 1920.

Mrs. J. Hanson was hostess at a progressive luncheon on Thursday, given at the Green Tea Room, honoring Mrs. H. P. Burgin, who has recently arrived with Colonel Burgin for station. The guests included Meses. C. H. Humphrey, Evan Humphrey, A. Moreno, W. K. Naylor, McNair, Worcester, Arnold, Brown, Watkins, George McD. Weeks, Houston, E. B. Fuller, C. M. Bundel, Cole, A. M. Ferguson, John Scott, Martindale, Jerome Pillow, Snyder, Smith, Miss Mary Fuller and Miss Field, of San Juan, Porto Rico. Col. and Mrs. Wright are entertaining Mrs. Wright's sister, Miss Gertrude Hyde, of Watertown, N.Y., and Miss Claremont Gushue, of New York city. Col. and Mrs. F. D. Webster are to leave on Saturday for Washington, D.C., where Colonel Webster has been ordered for temporary duty. Later they will be the guests of Mrs. Webster's aunt, Miss George, in Pittsburgh, Pa. They will be absent a fortnight. Mrs. Sam Fuller and children, of Mercedes, Texas, are guests of Mrs. Fuller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Goodjohn, in Leavenworth. They will be joined later by Captain Fuller.

Miss Field, of San Juan, Porto Rico, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. Moreno and Major Moreno, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Meses McArthur on Friday evening before the hop. Col. and Mrs. F. D. Webster have returned from Columbia, Mo., where they accompanied their daughters, the Meses Mary and Anne Webster, to Stephens College. W. H. Dukes, formerly lieutenant colonel on the staff of General Pershing, has been commissioned a captain in the Regular Army and been assigned to the 28th Infantry, with station at Camp Dix, N.J. Captain Dukes was a sergeant major at this post and at the Service School for a number of years. Miss Jean Darrach, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Thomas Darrach, left on Sunday for Washington, D.C., where she will resume her studies at Holton Arms.

Mrs. D. D. Lytle, of Leavenworth, who has been touring in Europe for the past three months, is visiting Italy and the battlefields of France in company with Col. and Mrs. John West. Colonel West is assistant military attaché at Paris, and conducted one of the large Congressional parties and also the graduating class of West Point on the same tour. Mrs. Howard Clark has been the guest of Lieut. and Mrs. Paul Goode at Camp Benning, Ga., en route to Fort Leavenworth. Capt. and Mrs. Perkins will occupy the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Putney in Leavenworth during the winter.

Sixty-two military prisoners were brought here in a special car from Fort Jay, N.Y., and placed in the Disciplinary Barracks. They were in charge of Capt. L. I. Samuelson and a party of guards. Capt. E. L. Naiden, instructor in aviation at the Army Service Schools, left on Sunday morning at 7:25 o'clock in an Army plane, bucking a strong head wind, landed at Tulsa, Okla., and arrived at Fort Sill at 1:05 p.m. On the return trip the start was made at 2:35 p.m., and Tulsa reached at 4:15. Leaving Tulsa at 4:45 the plane arrived at Fort Leavenworth at 6:45 o'clock. The fastest train makes the trip one way in nineteen hours. Captain Naiden gave an interesting talk before the Rotary Club in Leavenworth on Tuesday on "Aviation Possibilities." He described the Air Service and speculated on the future of aviation.

Major and Mrs. Aristides Moreno entertained with a charming informal tea Sunday afternoon at their quarters on Grant avenue, honoring their sister, Miss Field, of San Juan, Porto Rico. Col. G. W. Stuart, formerly stationed at Fort Leavenworth, who has been inspector-instructor of Infantry in the reorganized Ohio National Guard at Columbus, Ohio, for more than a year, has been ordered by the War Department to take charge of the 3d Corps organization, with headquarters in Baltimore. Mrs. Stuart, who is a charming and clever literary woman, has been assisting Col. Ralph Cole in the preparation of the official history of the 37th Division. Mrs. Charles Barth, formerly of Fort Leavenworth, who is now in Coblenz, Germany, writes interesting letters to friends here of her experiences there.

Major Lanning Parsons, retired, of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, has arrived in Leavenworth to take up his duties at the Leavenworth High School as professor of military science and tactics. This is not Major Parsons' first visit here. In 1901-03 he was a captain of Cavalry, stationed at Fort Leavenworth. Major Parsons graduated from West Point in 1896. He was retired as major in 1919. Word was received here on Saturday of the death of Mrs. James Taylor in New York city. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Willis Uline, wife of Colonel Uline, stationed at Camp Custer, Mich. There seems to be little hope of opening the old Rock Island bridge at Fort Leavenworth to free traffic in the near future. Army engineers estimate that it will require at least $250,000 to make the bridge fit for traffic.

Three De Havilland planes took the air on Monday afternoon north of the Federal prison in a demonstration flight for student officers of the staff class. They were piloted by Lieuts. W. T. Agee, Davis and Kenneth Walker. From the wing of one of the planes Sgt. Encl Chambers made a parachute jump while at a height of 5,000 feet. On Sept. 21 a salute of eleven guns was given in honor of Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commandant of the post and the General Service Schools. In the morning the line class called on General Drum and in the afternoon the staff class came to offer their congratulations on his promotion. In the evening the faculty of the Service Schools, Col. Malvern Hill Barnum, commandant of the Disciplinary Barracks, and his staff and the staff of Fort Leavenworth called at the General's quarters to congratulate him on his promotion. Colonel Barnum proposed a toast to the newly made general, to which General Drum responded in a happy manner. He then proposed two toasts, the first to Colonel Peron, as the representative of the French Government at the Service Schools, drinking to the health of the French nation, who he said in co-ordinating with the American Government made victory in the World War possible. The second toast was to the success of the Leavenworth Schools, which helped to materially, indirectly win the war.

BUILDING PROJECTS AT FORT LEAVENWORTH.

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 29, 1920.

The next building project to be undertaken at the Disciplinary Barracks will be the erection of a building for the housing of prison guards. It will accommodate 650 men. The apartment building to be used as officers' quarters for those detailed at the Disciplinary Barracks, which is being erected near the public school building, is to be completed and ready for occupancy Dec. 1. The building will have twelve apartments. The building is modern in every detail and one of the best to be erected at the fort in recent years. Brig. Gen. H. A. Drum has received instructions from the War Department to make immediate estimates and plans for the construction of additional quarters, school buildings and other equipment necessary for the enlargement of the Service Schools. At present there are 150 student officers at the school, with a school staff and instructors numbering forty-five, and about thirty officers engaged in post administration work. The War Department recently announced that it is its definite plan to increase the number of officers for the year 1921 at Fort Leavenworth to thirty for the post personnel, seventy school staff and instructors, with 300 officer students, while for the year 1922 and thereafter it is estimated the officer personnel will be approximately 600, divided into student classes of 450, school staff and instructors 115, and post personnel 35. When it is considered that of the 600 officers who will be in attendance at the schools in 1922 practically all of them will be of the grade of major or higher, and are married, it means that officers' quarters or housing facilities will have to be provided for a maximum officer population of 2,400, including their families. In order to do this General Drum has recommended that the present Engineer and Artillery barracks and the old hospital building be immediately remodeled into officers' apartments with the $600,000 appropriation made by the last Congress and still available. In order to take care of enlisted men who are now occupying these barracks it is recommended that several of the brick Artillery stables be remodeled into barracks. With the changing of these two sets of barracks, together with the old hospital, it will make apartments for 106 officers' families, leaving 208 additional officers' quarters to take care of the 600 officers detailed to the post.

To accommodate these 208 families General Drum has recommended the construction of a number of sets of three-story apartment buildings, for which new appropriations will have to be asked of Congress in December and be made immediately available in order to get the construction completed during the year 1921. The quarters for the increased number of non-commissioned officers will be enlarged to ten sets of quarters, to be erected in 1921 and ten more sets in 1922. The number of riding horses will have to be increased from 215 to 500, and in 1922, 700 animals will have to be provided for. The construction of a gymnasium with every provision for exercise and athletic activities of the students is also recommended, and an addition to the general mess building. Another recommendation is the enlargement of the public school building. The present seating capacity of 127 children is now being enlarged and in 1922 will be doubled. An increase is asked in the number of field clerks, stenographers, typists and translators incident to the increase in the schools.

It is understood that in addition to the $600,000 which was provided by the last Congress the cost of the new construction recommended for the enlargement of the Service Schools will run from $500,000 to $2,000,000. The officers at the War Department who have charge of the plans for the development of the Service Schools, now that the Army Reorganization act has become a law and the large increase made in the officer personnel of the Army necessitating putting the increased number of officers through the Leavenworth schools for training, believe that it is better to immediately make preparations for handling the increased number of students, and that while the amount required for the new construction is large, it is better to meet it now and have the plant and equipment ready in time.

It is believed here that the War Department has decided that the Fort Leavenworth reservation and its appurtenances will be required for the General Service Schools, the Disciplinary Barracks and the Motor Transport repair shop institutions, and that from now on there will be very little space there for taking care of organizations of line troops not essential to these institutions. It is believed, however, that the signal cantonment along Grant avenue during the war will be preserved for the use of such troops or organizations as may be detailed at Fort Leavenworth during the period that all the facilities are required for the use of the Service Schools.

Confirming the statement made by General Drum for the plans for the increase of the schools, Congressman D. R. Anthony, Jr., received a letter from Secretary of War Baker last week stating that the increases would be made, and adding, "The War Department regards the General Service Schools at Fort Leavenworth as one of its most important and valued institutions for the training and efficiency of the new Army, and desires to complete the necessary plant as soon as possible."

PUGET SOUND NAVY YARD.

Puget Sound, Wash., Sept. 27, 1920.

Rear Admiral W. R. Shoemaker, of the U.S.S. Seattle, has been joined by Mrs. Shoemaker and daughters, who arrived from San Francisco. They are staying at the Hotel Wolfram, Bremerton. The Admiral was host at dinner on board his ship on Friday. After dinner the guests attended the bi-monthly dance given by the officers of the ships here. The ladies who received were Meses. R. W. Wuest, W. W. Bradley and R. J. Castaneda.

Col. and Mrs. T. C. Treadwell entertained informally at dinner for Capt. Cecil Barker, U.S.M.C., of the U.S.S. Seattle, and Mrs. Barker. Mrs. Barker and child left on Saturday for San Pedro, Calif., where they will remain while the U.S.S. Texas is in Southern waters. The Texas, in command of Capt. Frank H. Schofield, is to leave the navy yard on Oct. 1 for San Pedro for maneuvers and target practice. The Texas has been at the yard for several months. Mrs. Schofield is already at San Pedro, where she will be until the Texas leaves Southern California.

Mrs. R. P. Scudder entertained with a children's party on Saturday afternoon, in celebration of her daughter Nancy's eighth birthday. The little guests included Bobby Smith, Stewart Barber, Doris Glanzer, Billy Smith, Anita Tarrant, Billy Church, Frederica Barber, Sue Bradley, Thelma Rocky, Florence Ritchest, Grace Detweiler, Charlotte Sisten, Bill Ritchest, Nat Sisten and Nancy Scudder. Mrs. Albert Church entertained with a bridge tea in compliment to Mrs. Emil Thies and Miss Jane Klink. Mrs. William Tarrant and Mrs. Ralph T. Hanson assisted at the tea table. Comdr. and Mrs. E. B. Armstrong are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on Sept. 16.

Comdr. and Mrs. Albert T. Church were dinner guests of Comdr. H. L. Brown and Mrs. Brown on Wednesday evening on the U.S.S. Texas. Mrs. Maud Turner Gordon, who has been spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. White, wife of Comdr. Robert A. White, left on Saturday for her home in New York. Comdr. W. W. Webster, who has been on duty at the yard for about three years, will be relieved early in November by Comdr. C. L. Brand, Ensign E. Mullan, of the U.S.S. Charleston, is spending a thirty-two days' leave visiting relatives in Baltimore and other Eastern cities.

Mrs. Harriet W. Brown entertained with a delightfully appointed dinner for Lieut. Comdr. L. H. Lacy, Comdrs. W. W. Webster, Henry W. Jensen and W. V. Bush, Mrs. Emil Thies, Mrs. V. Cottman and Meses Jane Klink and Katherine Thies. The U.S.S. Proteo, one of the largest ammunition ships afloat, in command of Comdr. John S. Graham, has left the navy yard for Hampton Roads. Commander Graham was recently the guest of honor at the weekly luncheon given by the Bremerton Chamber of Commerce.

MARE ISLAND.

Mare Island, Calif., Sept. 21, 1920.

The coming departure of Capt. and Mrs. Henry M. Gleason for the East, where the Captain is to enter civilian life, is causing much genuine regret. Captain Gleason has been hull division officer here for the last seven years, and he and Mrs. Gleason have come to be looked upon as a part of the station. Better inducements in civil life, however, have led him to accept a position at Waterbury, Conn., with the same company that Gleason will leave for their new home on the 23d. Last Monday night the hull division, some 1,500 strong, gave him a farewell banquet at the yard cafeteria. One of the most elaborate affairs ever held there. One feature of the decorations was an enlarged photograph of Captain Gleason, surrounded with electric light. On this a searchlight was thrown, while all other lights were dimmed, during his farewell speech. On the 16th the Vallejo Chamber of Commerce gave a large banquet for him in Vallejo, while on the following evening the hull division officers had him as their guest at a dinner in Benicia. To-night the hull division foremen are to give a farewell dinner. Among the private affairs in honor of Capt. and Mrs. Gleason was the dinner given last Tuesday by Capt. and Mrs. E. L. Beach. Those present included Capt. and Mrs. Gleason, Madame Gleason, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kerrick, Capt. and Mrs. Charles Conard, Comdr. and Mrs. L. W. Cox, Major and Mrs. Underwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Downing. Comdr. and Mrs. L. W. Cox gave a dinner on Thursday for Capt. and Mrs. Gleason. Other guests were Capt. and Mrs. Hugo W. Osterhaus, Mr. and Miss Downing, Lieut. Comdrs. and Meses. Walter S. Sharp and L. W. Johnson. Major and Mrs. Underwood also entertained for them at their quarters at the barracks, others present being Capt. and Mrs. Osterhaus, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Sharp and Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Johnson. Saturday night a farewell hop was given for them at the artificers' school by the officers and ladies of the yard, preceding which Capt. and Mrs. Hugo W. Osterhaus entertained for them at dinner.

Lieut. and Mrs. E. A. Wroughton have arrived here and taken Capt. Harry George, retired, is connected with. Capt. and Mrs.

apartments at the Gernard, in Vallejo. Lieutenant Wroughton commands the mine sweeper Elder. Gen. and Mrs. Aleshire have arrived in San Francisco from Honolulu, and are at the Hotel Cecil. Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas Cullane and family left this week for San Diego, where they will make their home while the U.S.S. Aristotle, the Lieutenant's ship, is in that vicinity. Lieut. and Mrs. F. X. Maher, Mrs. Cullane's brother-in-law and sister, are also in San Diego at present.

Mrs. Harry George, who recently arrived from New York, is visiting her brother, W. W. Chapin, at the Stanford Court, in San Francisco. Last week she spent a few days here as the guest of Capt. and Mrs. J. M. Ellicott, who entertained at an informal card party for her. Those present included Mrs. George, Major and Mrs. Underwood, Capt. and Mrs. M. E. Reed, Mrs. T. J. Lee and Major Victor Morrison, who is visiting Major and Mrs. Underwood while en route to the Orient. Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kerrick have arrived here, the former reporting as senior aid to the commandant, Comdr. J. M. Poole, who left to join one of the ships of the Pacific Fleet as executive officer, Mrs. Poole going to live at Berkeley, Calif., temporarily. Miss Edwards, of New Jersey, a classmate of Miss Catherine Cox, left last week for the East after spending the summer here as her guest. Miss Cox is to leave for Vassar on Wednesday.

Comdr. and Mrs. W. B. Fogarty were hosts on Saturday night at a dinner in San Francisco for Mrs. Carter of Washington, D.C., who is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Patton Buchanan. Others present were Comdr. and Mrs. Wallace Berthoff, Capt. and Mrs. William Shea, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Norman Kirk, and Dr. Ernest Du Bray. Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Michels were hosts at the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, last week at a dinner for Col. and Mrs. John T. Wright. Mrs. Joseph L. Jayne entertained at a luncheon at Yerba Buena Naval Training Station last week for Mrs. Edson Adams, of Oakland, a cousin of Rear Admiral Jayne, who is to leave this week for the East. Others present: Mmes. R. P. Schwerin, Charles H. Hussey, John M. Ellicott, Robbins, W. R. Rush, Harry George, Selfridge, William Wheeler, Simons and McCormack. Mrs. Ellicott has been spending a few days in San Francisco as the guest of Mrs. A. S. McLemore, wife of Colonel McLemore, now in Honolulu.

Mrs. Charles H. Hussey and Capt. and Mrs. W. R. Rush are making their headquarters at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco. Captain Hussey is on duty with the Pacific Fleet. Lieutenant McMurdo, Mrs. McMurdo and their daughter are at the Keystone Hotel, San Francisco, for the late summer. Mrs. Schofield and Miss Margaret Schofield are planning to sail soon for Honolulu to join General Schofield. Capt. and Mrs. John M. Ellicott entertained last week at an informal buffet supper for Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Crowell, Mrs. Jack Monroe, Lieutenant Commander Rookes, Captain Brooks, U.S.M.C., Lieutenant Ladauman and the Misses Sophie and Callie Barros, Helene Stewart and Mary Randit.

The destroyers Trevor and Wasmuth were launched at the yard Wednesday, the former being sponsored by Mrs. Bess McMillan Trevor, widow of Lieut. Comdr. George A. Trevor, for whom the ship is named, and the Wasmuth by Miss Betty Bennett, daughter of Major and Mrs. Russell H. Davis. As soon as the vessels left the ways the keels were laid for the Perry and Decatur, the last of the sixteen destroyers authorized for construction at this yard during the war. The riveting gang for the former consisted of Comdr. Bryson Bruce, Lieut. Comdrs. H. S. Haislip, F. H. Kelley, J. F. Crowell, S. E. Dickinson and H. E. Saunders. Those who formed the riveting gang for the Wasmuth were Comdrs. H. G. Bowen and G. J. Claiborne, Lieut. Comdrs. R. L. Martin, E. E. Curtis, W. E. Baughman and P. G. Lauman. A reception at the recreation center followed.

FORT DOUGLAS.

Fort Douglas, Utah, Sept. 25, 1920.

Mrs. Abbott, wife of Capt. Stephen Abbott, and her small daughter, Helene, have been spending a few days in Salt Lake visiting friends, having motored in from the Abbott ranch near Duschene. They will go to Fort Logan, where Captain Abbott was stationed as military instructor at the Agricultural College, to spend a week with friends before returning. Capt. and Mrs. Samuel M. Parker, who have been in Salt Lake since last spring, and their two boys left last week for Pullman, Wash., Captain Parker's new station. They were entertained at numerous social affairs during their stay. Capt. and Mrs. C. D. Lang and Mrs. Lang's mother and younger sisters, Mrs. E. A. Wall and the Misses Olive and Enid, have returned from a delightful trip through Yellowstone National Park, having motored from Salt Lake.

Capt. and Mrs. Russell Peter Hartle are in Salt Lake for a visit of a few weeks after spending the summer at San Diego, where Captain Hartle was on duty. Miss Doane Smoot entertained at a delightful dinner party at the Country Club in honor of her brother, Roland N. Smoot and his friends, Miss C. D. Badger, C. H. Swenson, T. R. Kelly and F. J. Watkins, who were spending their furloughs in Salt Lake. About a hundred young people enjoyed the dance, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Smoot and Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Y. Cannon assisting the young hostess in entertaining. Lieut. Col. Allen C. Knowles, formerly a commander of Infantry with the A.E.F., has arrived to assume the duties of head of the R.O.T.C. of the state. He comes from Los Angeles, where he has been in the same line of work.

Mrs. Ira C. Behrend, wife of Captain Behrend, who is in Salt Lake visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fred Wey, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given on Friday by Mrs. Elliott Kimball. Capt. and Mrs. Behrend are now stationed at Sacramento, Calif. Capt. T. M. Wilson and R. B. Whitney, commanding the East and West Side high schools, respectively, have arrived and taken up their duties. Capt. and Mrs. Frank W. Moore are preparing to leave Salt Lake, where they have made their home since Captain Moore left the Army, he having received notice of his reappointment as a captain in the Engineer Corps.

Major Jesse A. Ladd, formerly of the 35th Infantry, has been transferred to the 21st and placed in command at Fort Douglas in place of Major O. S. Wood, who has been transferred to the University of Missouri as instructor of military tactics. Major W. W. Gordon, inspector-instructor of Cavalry, National Guard, has returned from Basin, Wyo., where he attended the summer camp of the Wyoming National Guard. Dr. George W. Crile, professor of surgery in the Western Reserve University, was a recent visitor to the city, and spoke before the local medical society. Dr. Crile headed the first base hospital unit sent to France from this country, and was later commissioned a colonel in the Medical Department, serving in that capacity until quite recently.

Col. E. V. Smith, of the Presidio of San Francisco, inspector-instructor for the 6th Division, was in Salt Lake recently on a trip of inspection. He is visiting the states of the Division, and is to go to Portland, Seattle, Spokane and elsewhere after leaving here. Miss Jane Wells, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Bryant Wells, who was in Salt Lake for the wedding of her cousin, Miss Maye Ritter, has returned to her home in Washington, D.C. Col. and Mrs. C. C. Smith, formerly stationed here, have been spending some time on the Pacific coast, and recently passed through on their way back to Fort Leavenworth. Lieut. W. J. Walker, U.S.N., of the Navy recruiting station in Salt Lake, recently returned from a trip through Montana, and reports that a new auxiliary recruiting station will be opened shortly at Glasgow, Mont.

Mrs. Lee, wife of Major Alva Lee, and her small son, John Marshall Lee, have returned to Salt Lake after spending the summer in California. Col. James Albert Howell, of the Judge Advocate General's Department, Washington, D.C., is in his home town, Ogden, for a thirty-day leave. He expects to be released from duty in his department about the last of the year. Capt. C. C. Knight, Field Art., reported to Major M. G. Randol, instructor of the reserve officers' training corps of the University of Utah, last week as instructor in military science and tactics. He replaced Lieut. H. B. Dawson, who left recently for Fort Sill, Okla. Friends of Lieut. Col. William C. Webb were glad to learn recently of his promotion to the grade in the Regular Army. He is to be stationed at Camp Lewis. Mrs. Webb and the children are leaving shortly to join him there.

Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, while on a visit to the city recently, was met by comrades of the American Legion and shown many courtesies during his stay. Lieut. R. Radcliffe and Jesse D. Hunter and Capt. M. S. Young, all National Guard officers of Utah, are among the twelve officers now training at Fort Sill, Okla. Adj. Gen. Fred Jorgenson has forwarded a request to the War Department asking that California be designated as the place for the next encampment of the state and Federal troops, and that February be selected as the time. Mrs. George Van Studdiford is in Salt Lake visiting her mother, Mrs. Leslie W. Snow. Lieutenant Van Studdiford has been transferred from Fort Crook, Neb., to Texas. After a short stay here Mrs. Van Studdiford will join him in his new station. Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman and Miss Genevieve Hoffman have returned from a visit with Col. and Mrs. T. R. Harker at Fort Dix, and also Col. and Mrs. John H. Hess, in Chicago. The marriage of Miss Virginia Gibson, daughter of A. B. Gibson, of Salt Lake, and Capt. R. C. Mallonee, of the U.S. Coast Artillery Corps, took place on Sept. 11 in Tacoma, where the bride was visiting friends. She was a student last year at Mills College, Calif. Capt. and Mrs. Mallonee are to sail shortly for the Philippines.

CORREGIDOR NOTES.

Fort Mills, Corregidor, P.I., Aug. 1, 1920.

Major Gen. F. J. Kernan and party have just returned from an inspection trip to China. Stops were made at Chefoo, Tsingtao and Tsingwantao, with a week in Peking and a few days in Tientsin. Those from Corregidor who made the trip were Major and Mrs. Steger, Capt. and Mrs. Ervin, J. P. Smith and Bundy. Miss Katharine Kernan and her roommate at Vassar, Miss Hanna, were guests of Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Smith on Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Hanna was the guest of Mrs. Ervin. Major and Mrs. Oade and Capt. and Mrs. Malvin arrived from San Francisco on the steamship Great Northern.

Miss M. P. Steger and Miss I. E. Steger arrived on the steamship Teyo Maru to visit Major and Mrs. Steger. Lieutenant Col. and Mrs. Wilson, the Infantry garrison guest of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Sillman's table the guests of honor were Mrs. Hanna, Miss Hanna and Miss Kernan, the other guests being Col. and Mrs. R. P. Davis, Capt. and Mrs. Ervin, Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Smith, Major and Mrs. Steger, Colonel Johnston, Capt. and Mrs. Bundy, Lieutenant Manning and Captains Humbert and Hodgson. There were many tables. Among other guests noted were Col. and Mrs. Wilson, Major and Mrs. Ervin, Capt. and Mrs. Pinney, Capt. and Mrs. Bishop, Major and Mrs. Wright, Capt. and Mrs. Dodson, Capt. and Mrs. Maynard, Miss Dent, Miss Cook, Capt. and Mrs. Pruett, Lieut. and Mrs. Smock, Capt. and Mrs. Alley, Lieut. and Mrs. Greer, Lieut. and Mrs. Bennett, Captains Pettigrew, Malvin, Martin, Lewis, Grey and Bowen, and Lieutenants Richter, Patrick, Lawrence, Smith, MacIntyre, Yates and Overman.

Mrs. R. P. Davis gave a luncheon and dance at their quarters in honor of Miss Kernan. Those present were Mrs. Hanna and Miss Hanna, Col. and Mrs. Sillman, Colonel Johnston, Capt. and Mrs. Bundy, Capt. and Mrs. Smith, Major and Mrs. Steger, Capt. and Mrs. Ervin, Miss Lois Waldron, Captain Humbert, Lieutenant Manning, Captain Hodgson, Lieutenants Patrick and Richter. On Saturday afternoon the Congressional party, who arrived on the steamship Great Northern on a tour of the Orient, came to Corregidor. They were met by Colonel Davis and staff and were shown about the island.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Scott of Manila were luncheon guests of Major and Mrs. Waldron on Sunday. Major and Mrs. Waldron and Miss Lois Waldron have gone on a trip to Japan. Lieut. and Mrs. Mayer have returned from a trip to the Southern Islands. Capt. and Mrs. Dodson gave a dinner at their quarters for Col. and Mrs. Tilton and Capt. and Mrs. Maynard, Bishop and Pruett. Capt. and Mrs. Bishop, from Fort McKinley, were the honor guests at a tea given on Saturday by Lieutenant Bonham. Mrs. H. T. Edwards poured. Among the guests were Lieuts. and Mmes. Greer, Bennett, Franklin and Quinn, Capt. and Mrs. Pinney and Lieutenant Edwards.

Fort Mills, Corregidor, P.I., Aug. 20, 1920.

Mrs. Little, of Fort McKinley, has been the guest of Mrs. S. A. Hamilton. Mrs. Peirce and Miss Katharine Kernan spent several days at Corregidor as the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Ervin. Major and Mrs. Steger gave a very attractive dinner at their quarters for their house guests, Misses Steger, of Washington, D.C., and for Major and Mrs. Tilton, Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Smith and Captains Spock and Hodgson. Later they attended the hop at the Nipa Club.

Mrs. Ervin gave a dinner at the Nipa Club before the hop for Mrs. Peirce and Miss Kernan. The other guests were Capt. and Mrs. Dodson, Lieut. and Mrs. Hazeltine, Mr. Maynard, Captains Humbert, Hamilton and Grey and Lieutenant Manning. Capt. and Mrs. Pruett's dinner guests were Lieut. and Mrs.

Mayer, Miss Thompson, and Captains Martin, Scott and Griso. Capt. and Mrs. Bishop gave a dinner Sunday at the Topside Club. Their guests were Major and Mrs. Steger, Miss Mary Steger and Miss Ida Steger, Major and Mrs. Chunn, Capt. and Mrs. Pruett, Colonel Johnston and Captain Scott. Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Smith gave a luncheon for Mrs. Peirce and Miss Kernan on Friday. Mrs. Ervin, Captains Humbert and Hodgson and Lieutenant Manning were the other guests.

Mrs. Wertz was hostess at an enjoyable luncheon on Wednesday for the Misses Steger, Mrs. Tenny, Mrs. Chunn and Mrs. Steger. Major and Mrs. Moreno had as their dinner guests at the Topside Club on Friday Capt. and Mrs. Malvera, Capt. and Mrs. Brown and Lieut. and Mrs. Smock. At the club on Monday Captain Martin gave a dinner for Major and Mrs. Edwards, Lieut. and Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Steger.

The Tuesday tea-dance at the Nipa Club was attended among others by Major and Mrs. Pyle, Capt. and Miss Dent, Lieut. and Mmes. Smock, Baer and Nichols, Miss Lawson, Miss Cotton, Major Shock, Captain Scott, and Lieutenants Dixon, Overman, Braden, Smith, Compton, Caperton and McIntyre. The Middle-side Bridge Club met at the Nipa Club on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Bishop and Lieutenant Bennett had high scores. The 9th Cavalry gave "The Follies of 1920" at the Topside Club on two successive nights.

Lieutenants Patrick and Richter were hosts at a dinner at the Army and Navy Club in Manila on Sunday evening. The guests were Capt. and Mmes. Ervin, Maynard, Peirce, Miss Case, Miss Katharine Kernan, Captain Humbert. Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Smith spent the week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Spofford. Capt. and Mrs. P. C. Hamilton have moved back to Corregidor from Manila. The transport Warren left for China this week with the 4th Infantry team, of which Captain Dent is the manager. Other passengers were Miss Dent, Lieutenant Donegan and Mr. Flanagan. Lieutenants Patrick and Richter gave a luncheon at their bachelor quarters for Mrs. Peirce, Miss Katharine Kernan, Mrs. Ervin, Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Smith, Captains Grey and Lewis.

Camp Stotsenburg, P.I., Aug. 23, 1920.

Baseball was the principal feature at Camp Stotsenburg last week. The 4th Philippine Infantry, from Corregidor, played the 9th Cavalry team on Saturday afternoon, the score being 2-0 in favor of the Cavalry. Several officers and ladies from Manila and Corregidor came up for the game, among them Capt. Weiborn Dent, manager of the Infantry team, and his sister, Miss Katherine Dent; Miss Harris, of Manila, and Lieutenant Carroll, aid to General Kernan. After the game a big banquet was held at the clubhouse and was largely attended. Many people from Camp Stotsenburg motored to Manila on Sunday to see the game played by the same teams. This game was particularly interesting, as the outcome decided which team should tour China and play ball there. The result was 5-2 in favor of the Infantry. Among those present from this post were Col. John W. Heard, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. R. B. Going, Capt. and Mrs. J. N. Marx, Lieut. Col. W. H. Faine, Capt. C. T. Phillips, jr., Lieut. Col. I. B. March, Capt. C. E. Sims, Lieutenants Walcott, Page, Hayes and Captain Hollister.

A number of enlisted men from each organization on this post are being given a trip to China as a reward of good conduct. An officer is in charge of each detachment, Capt. Alexander Johnson going with that from the 9th Cavalry, being accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and their two little boys and Mrs. Johnson's sister, Miss Mix. Lieut. Arthur B. Clarke was in command of the men from the 1st Philippine Field Artillery. Mrs. Clarke went also. Lieut. I. C. Eaker had charge of the detachment from the Air Service. Capt. and Mrs. John O. Lackey gave a beautifully appointed dinner on Friday. Their guests were Capt. and Mrs. John A. Crane and Clifford M. Tuteur, Capt. Frederic W. Whitney and Lieut. Charles A. Easterbrook, of Los Baños. Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hartman also gave an enjoyable dinner the same evening for Capt. and Mrs. Philip H. Sherwood and Dr. and Mrs. Martin F. Du Fresno. Capt. and Mrs. C. E. Sims entertained Dr. and Mrs. Du Fresno at dinner last week.

Capt. and Mrs. José Perez-Brown were entertained at dinner on Monday. Their guests were Capt. and Mrs. C. E. Sims, Mr. Ray Locke McDonald, Mrs. Washburn, Capt. Thomas G. M. Oliphant and Lieut. Charles A. Horne. Mrs. James M. Crane, of Manila, was the guest of Capt. and Mrs. John A. Crane for several days last week. Capt. and Mrs. Crane entertained for their guest on Monday at dinner, others present being Capt. Charles T. Phillips, jr., Robert C. Candee and Lieutenant Waddell. Capt. and Mrs. Philip H. Sherwood spent the week-end at Corregidor as guests of Capt. and Mrs. Robert G. Ervin. Dr. and Mrs. Martin Du Fresno were also away over the last week-end as the guests of Major and Mrs. Joseph Tyler, at Fort McKinley. Major and Mrs. Tyler were formerly stationed at this post.

Capt. and Mrs. Clifford M. Tuteur are the guests of Mr. Charles McDonald at his attractive home in Manila. He entertained for them at dinner on Saturday, other guests being Capt. and Mrs. John Crane, of Camp Stotsenburg, Capt. and Mrs. James M. Crane and Messrs. Timmerman, Pierce and Randall. Lieut. Raymond S. Jett is rapidly recuperating from an operation for appendicitis and will shortly be about again. Capt. and Mrs. Bruce E. Brewer entertained delightfully at dinner on Friday evening, prior to the hop, for Capt. and Mrs. John O. Lackey, Major and Mrs. José Perez-Brown and Lieut. and Mrs. Frederic A. Ward. Mrs. Bruce E. Brewer entertained at bridge twice recently. On Monday her guests were Mmes. Lackey, Carroll and Perry, and on Thursday afternoon she entertained Mmes. Perry, John A. Crane and Carroll. Mr. Lynn Rowan, of Washington, D.C., who is spending a short time in Manila, also passed the week-end at Camp Stotsenburg as the guest of Capt. and Mrs. Joseph N. Marx.

Fort Crook, Neb., Sept. 29, 1920.

Eleven officers and 139 enlisted men of the 20th Infantry left Fort Crook on Sept. 26. A number of friends from Omaha were at the Fort Crook station to see them off. Company II, 49th Infantry, arrived on Sept. 22 from Fort Snelling for duty here, replacing the 3d Battalion of the 20th Infantry. Capt. Mark W. Clark is in command.

Major John E. Gould has reported as assistant to the surgeon. Lieut. Col. R. K. Cravens reported on Sept. 22 for duty as finance officer, 7th Corps Area. Lieut. Col. Fred V. S. Chamberlain reported the same day for duty as officer in charge of militia affairs. He was accompanied by Mrs. Chamberlain and two children.

Major Gen. Omar Bundy delivered a strong speech favoring the National Guard at the Bet Theta Pi fraternity meeting at the University Club, Omaha, on Sept. 23. The General is a member of the fraternity, and a staunch supporter of the National Guard. Col. Amos W. Kimball, Q.M.C., reported on Sept. 27 for duty as Corps Area Quartermaster, relieving Lieut. Col. Clifford Game, Q.M.C., who goes to Camp Grant.

FORT LEAVENWORTH.

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 27, 1920.

Mrs. J. Hanson was hostess at a progressive luncheon on Thursday, given at the Green Tea Room, honoring Mrs. H. P. Burgin, who has recently arrived with Colonel Burgin for station. The guests included Meses. C. H. Humphrey, Evan Humphrey, A. Moreno, W. K. Naylor, McNair, Worcester, Arnold, Brown, Watkins, George McD. Weeks, Houston, E. B. Fuller, C. M. Bundel, Cole, A. M. Ferguson, John Scott, Martindale, Jerome Pillow, Snyder, Smith, Miss Mary Fuller and Miss Field, of San Juan, Porto Rico. Col. and Mrs. Wright are entertaining Mrs. Wright's sister, Miss Gertrude Hyde, of Watertown, N.Y., and Miss Claremont Gushes, of New York city. Col. and Mrs. F. D. Webster are to leave on Saturday for Washington, D.C., where Colonel Webster has been ordered for temporary duty. Later they will be the guests of Mrs. Webster's aunt, Miss George, in Pittsburgh, Pa. They will be absent a fortnight. Mrs. Sam Fuller and children, of Mercedes, Texas, are guests of Mrs. Fuller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Goodjohn, in Leavenworth. They will be joined later by Captain Fuller.

Miss Field, of San Juan, Porto Rico, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. Moreno and Major Moreno, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Meses McArthur on Friday evening before the hop. Col. and Mrs. F. D. Webster have returned from Columbia, Mo., where they accompanied their daughters, the Meses Mary and Anne Webster, to Stephens College. W. H. Dukes, formerly lieutenant colonel on the staff of General Pershing, has been commissioned a captain in the Regular Army and been assigned to the 28th Infantry, with station at Camp Dix, N.J. Captain Dukes was a sergeant major at this post and at the Service School for a number of years. Miss Jean Darrah, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Thomas Darrah, left on Sunday for Washington, D.C., where she will resume her studies at Holton Arms.

Mrs. D. D. Lytle, of Leavenworth, who has been touring in Europe for the past three months, is visiting Italy and the battlefields of France in company with Col. and Mrs. John West. Colonel West is assistant military attaché at Paris, and conducted one of the large Congressional parties and also the graduating class of West Point on the same tour. Mrs. Howard Clark has been the guest of Lieut. and Mrs. Paul Goode at Camp Benning, Ga., en route to Fort Leavenworth. Capt. and Mrs. Perkins will occupy the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Putney in Leavenworth during the winter. Sixty-two military prisoners were brought here in a special car from Fort Jay, N.Y., and placed in the Disciplinary Barracks. They were in charge of Capt. L. I. Samuelson and a party of guards. Capt. E. L. Naiden, instructor in aviation at the Army Service Schools, left on Sunday morning at 7:25 o'clock in an Army plane, bucking a strong head wind, landed at Tulsa, Okla., and arrived at Fort Sill at 1:05 p.m. On the return trip the start was made at 2:35 p.m., and Tulsa reached at 4:15. Leaving Tulsa at 4:45 the plane arrived at Fort Leavenworth at 6:45 o'clock. The fastest train makes the trip one way in nineteen hours. Captain Naiden gave an interesting talk before the Rotary Club in Leavenworth on Tuesday on "Aviation Possibilities." He described the Air Service and speculated on the future of aviation.

Major and Mrs. Aristides Moreno entertained with a charming informal tea Sunday afternoon at their quarters on Grant avenue, honoring their sister, Miss Field, of San Juan, Porto Rico. Col. G. W. Stuart, formerly stationed at Fort Leavenworth, who has been inspector-instructor of Infantry in the reorganized Ohio National Guard at Columbus, Ohio, for more than a year, has been ordered by the War Department to take charge of the 3d Corps organization, with headquarters in Baltimore. Mrs. Stuart, who is a charming and clever literary woman, has been assisting Col. Ralph Cole in the preparation of the official history of the 37th Division. Mrs. Charles Barth, formerly of Fort Leavenworth, who is now in Coblenz, Germany, writes interesting letters to friends here of her experiences there.

Major Lanning Parsons, retired, of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, has arrived in Leavenworth to take up his duties at the Leavenworth High School as professor of military science and tactics. This is not Major Parsons's first visit here. In 1901-02 he was a captain of Cavalry, stationed at Fort Leavenworth. Major Parsons graduated from West Point in 1898. He was retired as major in 1919. Word was received here on Saturday of the death of Mrs. James Taylor in New York city. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Willis Uline, wife of Colonel Uline, stationed at Camp Custer, Mich. There seems to be little hope of opening the old Rock Island bridge at Fort Leavenworth to free traffic in the near future. Army engineers estimate that it will require at least $250,000 to make the bridge fit for traffic.

Three De Havilland planes took the air on Monday afternoon north of the Federal prison in a demonstration flight for student officers of the staff class. They were piloted by Lieuts. W. T. Agee, Davis and Kenneth Walker. From the wing of one of the planes Sgt. Encl Chambers made a parachute jump while at a height of 5,000 feet. On Sept. 21 a salute of eleven guns was given in honor of Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commandant of the post and the General Service Schools. In the morning the line class called on General Drum and in the afternoon the staff class came to offer their congratulations on his promotion. In the evening the faculty of the Service Schools, Col. Malvern-Hill Barum, commandant of the Disciplinary Barracks, and his staff and the staff of Fort Leavenworth called at the General's quarters to congratulate him on his promotion. Colonel Barum proposed a toast to the newly made general, to which General Drum responded in a happy manner. He then proposed two toasts, the first to Colonel Peron, as the representative of the French Government at the Service Schools, drinking to the health of the French nation, who he said in co-ordinating with the American Government made victory in the World War possible. The second toast was to the success of the Leavenworth Schools, which helped to materially, indirectly win the war.

BUILDING PROJECTS AT FORT LEAVENWORTH.

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 29, 1920.

The next building project to be undertaken at the Disciplinary Barracks will be the erection of a building for the housing of prison guards. It will accommodate 650 men. The apartment building to be used as officers' quarters for those detailed at the Disciplinary Barracks, which is being erected near the public school building, is to be completed and ready for occupancy Dec. 1. The building will have twelve apartments. The building is modern in every detail and one of the best to be erected at the fort in recent years. Brig. Gen. H. A. Drum has received instructions from the War Department to make immediate estimates and plans for the construction of additional quarters, school buildings and other equipment necessary for the enlargement of the Service Schools. At present there are 150 student officers at the school, with a school staff and instructors numbering forty-five, and about thirty officers engaged in post administration work. The War Department recently announced that it is its definite plan to increase the number of officers for the year 1921 at Fort Leavenworth to thirty for the post personnel, seventy school staff and instructors, with 300 officer students, while for the year 1922 and thereafter it is estimated the officer personnel will be approximately 600, divided into student classes of 450, school staff and instructors 115, and post personnel 35. When it is considered that of the 600 officers who will be in attendance at the schools in 1922 practically all of them will be of the grade of major or higher, and are married, it means that officers' quarters or housing facilities will have to be provided for a maximum officer population of 2,400, including their families. In order to do this General Drum has recommended that the present Engineers and Artillery barracks and the old hospital building be immediately remodeled into officers' apartments with the $600,000 appropriation made by the last Congress and still available. In order to take care of enlisted men who are now occupying these barracks it is recommended that several of the brick Artillery stables be remodeled into barracks. With the changing of these two sets of barracks, together with the old hospital, it will make apartments for 106 officers' families, leaving 208 additional officers' quarters to take care of the 600 officers detailed to the post.

To accommodate these 208 families General Drum has recommended the construction of a number of sets of three-story apartment buildings, for which new appropriations will have to be asked of Congress in December and be made immediately available in order to get the construction completed during the year 1921. The quarters for the increased number of non-commissioned officers will be enlarged to ten sets of quarters, to be erected in 1921 and ten more sets in 1922. The number of riding horses will have to be increased from 215 to 500, and in 1922, 700 animals will have to be provided for. The construction of a gymnasium with every provision for exercise and athletic activities of the students is also recommended, and an addition to the general mess building. Another recommendation is the enlargement of the public school building. The present seating capacity of 127 children is now being enlarged and in 1922 will be doubled. An increase is asked in the number of field clerks, stenographers, typists and translators incident to the increase in the schools.

It is understood that in addition to the $600,000 which was provided by the last Congress the cost of the new construction recommended for the enlargement of the Service Schools will run from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000. The officers at the War Department who have charge of the plans for the development of the Service Schools, now that the Army Reorganization act has become a law and the large increase made in the officer personnel of the Army necessitating putting the increased number of officers through the Leavenworth schools for training, believe that it is better to immediately make preparations for handling the increased number of students, and that while the amount required for the new construction is large, it is better to meet it now and have the plant and equipment ready in time.

It is believed here that the War Department has decided that the Fort Leavenworth reservation and its appurtenances will be required for the General Service Schools, the Disciplinary Barracks and the Motor Transport repair shop institutions, and that from now on there will be very little space there for taking care of organizations of line troops not essential to these institutions. It is believed, however, that the signal cantonments erected along Grant avenue during the war will be preserved for the use of such troops or organizations as may be detailed at Fort Leavenworth during the period that all the facilities are required for the use of the Service Schools.

Confirming the statement made by General Drum for the plans for the increase of the schools, Congressman D. R. Anthony, jr., received a letter from Secretary of War Baker last week stating that the increases would be made, and adding, "The War Department regards the General Service Schools at Fort Leavenworth as one of its most important and valued institutions for the training and efficiency of the new Army, and desires to complete the necessary plant as soon as possible."

PUGET SOUND NAVY YARD.

Puget Sound, Wash., Sept. 27, 1920.

Rear Admiral W. R. Shoemaker, of the U.S.S. Seattle, has been joined by Mrs. Shoemaker and daughters, who arrived from San Francisco. They are staying at the Hotel Wolfram, Bremerton. The Admiral was host at dinner on board his ship on Friday. After dinner the guests attended the bi-monthly dance given by the officers of the ships here. The ladies who received were Meses. R. W. Wuest, W. W. Bradley and R. J. Carstarphan.

Col. and Mrs. T. C. Treadwell entertained informally at dinner for Capt. Cecil Baker, U.S.M.C., of the U.S.S. Seattle, and Mrs. Baker. Mrs. Baker and child left on Saturday for San Pedro, where they will remain while the U.S.S. Seattle is in Southern waters. The Texas, in command of Capt. Frank H. Schofield, is to leave the navy yard on Oct. 1 for San Pedro for maneuvers and target practice. The Texas has been at the yard for several months. Mrs. Schofield is already at San Pedro, where she will be until the Texas leaves Southern California.

Mrs. R. P. Scudder entertained with a children's party on Saturday afternoon, in celebration of her daughter Nancy's eighth birthday. The little guests included Bobby Smith, Stacie Barber, Doris Glenszer, Billy Smith, Anita Tarran, Billy Church, Frederica Barber, Sue Bradley, Thelma Rocky, Florence Ritchstein, Grace Deiweller, Charlotte Sisten, Bill Ritchstein, Nat Siston and Nancy Scudder. Mrs. Albert Church entertained with a bridge tea in compliment to Mrs. Emil Theiss and Miss Jane Klink. Mrs. William Tarrant and Mrs. Ralph T. Hanson assisted at the tea table. Comdr. and Mrs. E. B. Armstrong are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on Sept. 16.

Comdr. and Mrs. Albert T. Church were dinner guests of Comdr. H. L. Brown and Mrs. Brown on Wednesday evening on the U.S.S. Texas. Mrs. Maud Turner Gordon, who has been spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. White, wife of Comdr. Robert A. White, left on Saturday for her home in New York. Comdr. W. W. Webster, who has been on duty at the yard for about three years, will be relieved early in November by Comdr. C. L. Brand. Ensign E. Mullan, of the U.S.S. Charleston, is spending a thirty-two days' leave visiting relatives in Baltimore and other Eastern cities.

Mrs. Harriet W. Brown entertained with a delightfully appointed dinner for Lieut. Comdr. L. H. Lacy, Comdr. W. W. Webster, Henry W. Jensen and W. W. Bush, Mrs. Emil Theiss, Mrs. V. L. Cottman and Meses Jane Klink and Katherine Theiss. The U.S.S. Pyro, one of the largest ammunition ships afloat, in command of Comdr. John S. Graham, has left the navy yard for Hampton Roads. Commander Graham was recently the guest of honor at the weekly luncheon given by the Bremerton Chamber of Commerce.

MARE ISLAND.

Mare Island, Calif., Sept. 21, 1920.

The coming departure of Capt. and Mrs. Henry M. Gleason for the East, where the Captain is to enter civilian life, is causing much genuine regret. Captain Gleason has been hull division officer here for the last seven years, and he and Mrs. Gleason have come to be looked upon as a part of the station. Better inducements in civil life, however, have led him to accept a position at Waterbury, Conn., with the same company that Gleason will leave for their new home on the 23d. Last Monday night the hull division, some 1,500 strong, gave him a farewell banquet at the yard cafeteria, one of the most elaborate affairs ever held there. One feature of the decorations was an enlarged photograph of Captain Gleason, surrounded with electric light. On this a searchlight was thrown, while all other lights were dimmed, during his farewell speech. On the 16th the Vallejo Chamber of Commerce gave a large banquet for him in Vallejo, while on the following evening the hull division officers had him as their guest at a dinner in Benicia. To-night the hull division foremen are to give a farewell dinner. Among the private affairs in honor of Capt. and Mrs. Gleason was the dinner given last Tuesday by Capt. and Mrs. E. L. Beach. Those present included Capt. and Mrs. Gleason, Madame Gleason, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Charles S. Korrick, Capt. and Mrs. Charles Conard, Comdr. and Mrs. L. W. Cox, Major and Mrs. Underwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Downing. Comdr. and Mrs. L. W. Cox gave a dinner on Thursday for Capt. and Mrs. Gleason. Other guests were Capt. and Mrs. Hugo W. Osterhaus, Mr. and Mrs. Downing, Lieut. Comdr. and Meses. Walter S. Sharp and L. W. Johnson. Major and Mrs. Underwood also entertained for them at their quarters at the barracks, others present being Capt. and Mrs. Osterhaus, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Sharp and Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Johnson. Saturday night a farewell hop was given for them at the artificers' school by the officers and ladies of the yard, preceding which Capt. and Mrs. Hugo W. Osterhaus entertained for them at dinner.

On Saturday afternoon the Congressional party, who arrived on the steamship Great Northern on a tour of the Orient, came to Corregidor. They were met by Colonel Davis and staff and were shown about the island.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Scott, of Manila, were luncheon guests of Major and Mrs. Waldron on Sunday. Major and Mrs. Waldron and Miss Lois Waldron have gone on a trip to Japan. Lieut. and Mrs. Mayer have returned from a trip to the Southern Islands. Capt. and Mrs. Dodson gave a dinner at their quarters for Col. and Mrs. Tilton and Capt. and Mrs. Greer, and Bishop and Pruett. Capt. and Mrs. Bishop, from Fort McKinley, were the honor guests at a tea given on Saturday by Lieutenant Bonham. Mrs. H. T. Edwards poured. Among the guests were Lieuts. and Mmes. Greer, Bennett, Franklin and Quinn, Capt. and Mrs. Pinney and Lieutenant Edwards.

Fort Mills, Corregidor, P.I., Aug. 20, 1920.

Mrs. Little, of Fort McKinley, has been the guest of Mrs. S. A. Hamilton. Mrs. Peirce and Miss Katharine Kernan spent several days at Corregidor as the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Ervin. Major and Mrs. Steger gave a very attractive dinner at their quarters for their house guests, Misses Steger, of Washington, D.C., and for Major and Mrs. Tilton, Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Smith and Captains Spock and Hodgson. Later they attended the hop at the Nipa Club.

Mrs. Ervin gave a dinner at the Nipa Club before the hop for Mrs. Peirce and Miss Kernan. The other guests were Capt. and Mrs. Dodson, Lieut. and Mrs. Hagelstein, Mrs. Maynard, Captains Humbert, Hamilton and Grey and Lieutenant Manning. Capt. and Mrs. Pruett's dinner guests were Lieut. and Mrs.

Other passengers were Miss Dent, Lieut. and Mrs. Donagan and Mr. Flanagan. Lieutenants Patrick and Richter gave a luncheon at their bachelor quarters for Mrs. Peirce, Miss Katharine Kernan, Mrs. Ervin, Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Smith, Captains Grey and Lewis.

Camp Stotsenburg, P.I., Aug. 23, 1920.

Baseball was the principal feature at Camp Stotsenburg last week. The 4th Philippine Infantry, from Corregidor, played the 9th Cavalry team on Saturday afternoon, the score being 2-0 in favor of the Cavalry. Several officers and ladies from Manila and Corregidor came up for the game, among them Capt. Welborn Dent, manager of the Infantry team, and his sister, Miss Katherine Dent; Miss Harris, of Manila, and Lieutenant Carroll, aid to General Kernan. After the game a thé dansant was held at the clubhouse and was largely attended. Many people from Camp Stotsenburg motored to Manila on Sunday to see the game played by the same teams. This game was particularly interesting, as the outcome decided which team should tour China and play ball there. The result was 5-2 in favor of the Infantry. Among those present from this post were Col. John W. Heard, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. R. B. Going, Capt. and Mrs. J. N. Marx, Lieut. Col. W. H. Paine, Capt. C. T. Phillips, jr., Lieut. Col. I. B. March, Capt. C. E. Sims, Lieutenants Walcott, Page, Hayes and Captain Hollister.

A number of enlisted men from each organization on this post are being given a trip to China as a reward of good conduct. An officer is in charge of each detachment. Capt. Alexander Johnson going with that from the 9th Cavalry, being accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and their two little boys and Mrs. Johnson's sister, Miss Mix. Lieut. Arthur B. Clarke was in command of the men from the 1st Philippine Field Artillery. Mrs. Clarke went also. Lieut. I. O. Eaker had charge of the detachment from the Air Service. Capt. and Mrs. John O. Lackey gave a beautifully appointed dinner on Friday. Their guests were Capt. and Mrs. John A. Crane and Clifford M. Tuteur, Capt. Frederic W. Whitney and Lieut. Charles A. Easterbrook, of Los Baños. Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hartman also gave an enjoyable dinner the same evening for Capt. and Mrs. Philip H. Sherwood and Dr. and Mrs. Martin F. Du Frenne. Capt. and Mrs. C. E. Sims entertained Dr. and Mrs. Du Frenne at dinner last week.

Capt. and Mrs. José Perez-Brown entertained at dinner on Monday. Their guests were Capt. and Mrs. C. E. Sims, Mrs. Ray Locke McDonald, Mrs. Washburn, Capt. Thomas G. M. Oliphant and Lieut. Charles A. Horne. Mrs. James M. Crane, of Manila, was the guest of Capt. and Mrs. John A. Crane for several days last week. Capt. and Mrs. Crane entertained for their guest on Monday at dinner, and others present being Capt. Charles T. Phillips, jr., Robert O. Candee and Lieutenant Waddell. Capt. and Mrs. Philip H. Sherwood spent the week-end at Corregidor as guests of Capt. and Mrs. Robert G. Ervin. Dr. and Mrs. Martin Du Frenne were also away over the last week-end as the guests of Major and Mrs. Joseph Tyler, at Fort McKinley. Major and Mrs. Tyler were formerly stationed at this post.

Capt. and Mrs. Clifford M. Tuteur are the guests of Mr. Charles McDonald at his attractive home in Manila. He entertained for them at dinner on Saturday, other guests being Capt. and Mrs. John Crane, of Camp Stotsenburg, Capt. and Mrs. James M. Crane and Messrs. Timmerman, Pierce and Ransom. Lieut. Raymond S. Jett is rapidly recuperating from an operation for appendicitis and will shortly be about again. Capt. and Mrs. Bruce E. Brewer entertained delightfully at dinner on Friday evening, prior to the hop, for Capt. and Mrs. John O. Lackey, Major and Mrs. José Perez-Brown and Lieut. and Mrs. Frederic A. Ward. Mrs. Bruce E. Brewer entertained at bridge twice recently. On Monday her guests were Mmes. Lackey, Carroll and Perry, and on Thursday afternoon she entertained Mmes. Perry, John A. Crane and Carroll. Mr. Lynn Rowan, of Washington, D.C., who is spending a short time in Manila, also passed the week-end at Camp Stotsenburg as the guest of Capt. and Mrs. Joseph N. Marx.
